28 ("EUSTICE"), and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, were

1 members and associates of an organization engaged in, among other 2 things, murder, conspiracy to commit murder, attempted murder, 3 conspiracy to traffic in narcotics, narcotics-trafficking,
4 robbery, extortion, money laundering, and witness intimidation.
5 At all relevant times, this organization, known as the "Mongols" 6 Biker gang, operated in the Central District of California and 7 elsewhere. The Mongols gang, including its leadership, 8 membership, and associates, constituted an "enterprise," as 9 defined by Title 18, United States Code, Section 1961(4), that 10 is, a group of individuals associated in fact. The enterprise 11 engaged in, and its activities affected, interstate and foreign 12 commerce. The enterprise constituted an ongoing organization 13 whose members functioned as a continuing unit for a common 14 purpose of achieving the objectives of the enterprise.

15 BACKGROUND OF THE MONGOLS GANG

16 2. The Mongols enterprise identifies itself as an "outlaw" 17 motorcycle gang. Its members identify themselves with patches, 18 tattoos and insignia, identifying their connection to the Mongols 19 and status within the organization. Specifically, Mongols will 20 frequently wear leather vests with the "patched" image of a 21 Mongol motorcycle rider and the name of the member's regional 22 "chapter" sewn on the vests. Many also display the designation
23 of "1%," which is a statement used to distinguish Mongols members 24 from the "99%" of motorcycle club members who are legitimate and 25 law-abiding. Mongols define themselves as within the "1%" who 26 are not legitimate and do not adhere to the law or the rights of 27 others. Members may also display the "MFFM" patch or tattoo to 28 identify themselves as "Mongols Forever Forever Mongols."

1 Females may be permitted to wear a jacket that bears a "Property 2 of" patch and identifying the Mongol member to whom they are 3 attached.

4 3. The Mongols gang is a nationwide organization and has 5 made efforts to expand internationally. The gang is believed to 6 have approximately 500 to 600 members. Approximately 400 of 7 those are believed to be located in Southern California. The 8 Mongols membership includes members or former members of a large 9 number of Los Angeles County street gangs, including "the 10 Avenues," "18th Street," San Gabriel Valley, South Side 11 Montebello, Lott Stoner, Maravilla and Varrío Nuevo street gangs.
12 The Mongols organization is comprised of approximately sixty-13 eight identified "chapters." The "chapters" are located in 14 different geographical regions, although most are located within 15 the Central District of California. The Mongols also have 16 chapters in other parts of California, as well as in Oklahoma, 17 Florida, Nevada, Oregon, Maryland, Virginia, Indiana, New York, 18 Utah, Washington, Montana, Arizona, Colorado, Mexico and Canada.

19 4. The leadership and governing body of the Mongols is its 20 "Mother Chapter." The "Mother Chapter" exercises authority over 21 the actions of individual Mongols members and the regional 22 chapters. Mongols pay money into the "Mother Chapter" in the 23 form of fees, dues and "taxes." Those funds are used, in part, 24 to fund and promote the organization and pay for the legal 25 expenses of Mongols members when they are prosecuted for 26 committing crimes on behalf of the organization. The "Mother 27 Chapter" collects and reviews all membership applications and 28 fees for membership, resolves disputes within the organization,

1 and issues incentives, such as tattoos and Mongols patches that 2 honor Mongols members for committing acts of violence on behalf 3 of the Mongols, incurring physical injury on behalf of the 4 Mongols, or performing specific sexual acts at Mongols events.

5         5. The "Mother Chapter" is comprised of the Mongols
6 "national officers." It has been comprised of defendants 7 CAVAZOS, R. CAVAZOS, JR., H. GONZALEZ, ROSELI, NIEVES, TINOCO and 8 MUNZ, with defendant RODRIGUEZ frequently present. Chapter 9 officers may be invited to present issues to the Mother Chapter 10 for decision. However, they are not permitted to share in the 11 deliberations of the Mother Chapter, and the Mother Chapter's 12 decisions are binding on the regional chapters. Lower-ranking 13 members and prospective Mongols members frequently are required 14 to patrol and provide armed security against the presence of law
15 enforcement and rival gang members outside the Mother Chapter 16 meetings. Those present at Mother Chapter meetings are heavily 17 armed, and the Mongols Mother Chapter maintains an arsenal of 18 firearms, including assault rifles, shotguns and semi-automatic 19 handguns, as well as bullet-proof vests and knives, at the Mother 20 Chapter residence in West Covina, California.

21         6. The Mongols maintain an established structure and 22 leadership. The Mongols maintain a written "constitution" and 23 "by-laws" of the organization, which set forth the rules of 24 membership and a code of conduct for the organization, as well as 25 penalties for non-compliance with the rules of the organization.

26         7. Below the national leadership and "Mother Chapter," 27 regional Mongols chapters are directed by chapter "presidents"
28 and chapter officers. These officers include the chapter's

1 "president," "vice-president," "secretary/treasurer," and its 2 "sergeant-at-arms," who is required to maintain the weapons and 3 firearms for the chapter. The sergeant-at-arms may also be 4 required to maintain records of membership applications and 5 oversees the evaluation of prospective members by private 6 investigators.

7 8. Mongols crimes typically include acts of violence, 8 ranging from battery to murder, drug-trafficking offenses, money 9 laundering, weapons-trafficking, extortion and, very frequently, 10 hate crimes directed against African-American persons who might 11 come into contact with the Mongols. Members also frequently 12 conduct robberies, steal motorcycles, and engage in the theft of 13 credit card account information as a means to obtain funds for 14 themselves and the organization. Members often commit their 15 crimes and acts of violence with the conviction that they cannot 16 be prosecuted because they believe victims and witnesses are 17 afraid to testify against them or to cooperate with law
18 enforcement for fear of retaliation by the larger Mongols 19 organization. Mongols frequently use the reputation of the 20 criminal enterprise, especially its history of large-scale 21 violence and riots, as a means to threaten and intimidate the 22 victims and witnesses to their crimes and protect Mongols from 23 prosecution by local law enforcement.

24 9. The Mongols gang is actively engaged in drug-25 trafficking, especially the distribution of methamphetamine and 26 cocaine. Mongols members commonly ingest methamphetamine and 27 cocaine at Mongols events. More than this, however, Mongols 28 members and leaders frequently engage in the distribution of

1 narcotic drugs, especially methamphetamine and cocaine, as a 2 source of income, both within the organization and to outside 3 customers and associates. Proceeds from drug-trafficking are 4 then owed to the Mongols leadership and "Mother Chapter" and 5 collected in the form of "dues" and membership fees. Large-scale 6 drug traffickers within the organization are often "taxed" at a 7 higher rate within the organization, and their membership in and 8 payments to the larger Mongols organization are used as a means 9 to protect them from the same types of penalties and "taxes" that 10 would ordinarily be claimed by rival street gangs and Mexican 11 Mafia (aka "La Eme") representatives in the areas controlled by 12 those rival gangs. Mongols members also are authorized to call 13 on other Mongols and Mongols leadership to enforce the collection 14 of proceeds owed from their narcotics customers.

15 10. The Mongols organization is typically in conflict with 16 the Mexican Mafia and local street gangs, specifically over the 17 control of narcotics-trafficking in and around Los Angeles, 18 California. Many Mongols members are former members of Los 19 Angeles-based street gangs and maintain their connections to 20 those gangs, particularly with regard to the distribution of 21 narcotics and firearms. Those members often claim immunity from 22 the collection of "taxes" by Mexican Mafia representatives as a 23 result of their Mongols membership. This conflict creates 24 tension between the Mongols and the established authority of the 25 Mexican Mafia over drug trafficking. Mongols leaders have 26 periodically attempted to negotiate a resolution over their 27 disputes with the Mexican Mafia over the control of drug 28 trafficking in particular territories by paying Mexican Mafia

1 representatives in exchange for their recognition of the Mongols'
2 right to traffic narcotics in Southern California.

3 11. Mongols gang members also enforce the authority of the 4 Mongols by directing attacks against rival motorcycle gangs, such 5 as the "Hells Angels," the "Outlaws" and the "Sons of Silence," 6 as well as members of the general public who might defy or 7 unwittingly come into contact with the Mongols in a way that 8 might be deemed "disrespectful" to the organization. Persons in 9 conflict with, or who might be perceived to have shown disrespect 10 to, Mongols may be beaten severely or even killed by being kicked 11 repeatedly with steel-toed boots, stabbed or shot. The 12 organization also directs attacks against law enforcement 13 officers and witnesses who would be willing to cooperate with law 14 enforcement for the prosecution of the crimes committed by 15 members of the Mongols, and the organization frequently pays for 16 the legal representation of members who commit crimes, such as 17 assaults and murders, on behalf of the Mongols. The Mongols gang 18 ordinarily is vigilant to the presence or arrival of rival gang 19 members, and will frequently travel to areas claimed by rival 20 gangs in order to provoke a confrontation with them. Mongols are 21 likely to identify such persons and threaten to beat or kill them 22 if they do not surrender indicia (such as red and white colored 23 t-shirts, patches, jackets or sports jerseys bearing the number 24 "81") identifying support for a rival gang. The Mongols 25 organization is also racist and hostile to the presence of 26 African-Americans in bars or clubs where Mongols are present, or 27 African-Americans in the presence of females associated with the 28 Mongols or Mongols members.

1           12. The Mongols frequently exhibit their membership or 2 association with the gang by wearing gang vests, shirts, hats, 3 jewelry, and tattoos displaying the identified images of the 4 Mongols gang. The most prominent image is that of a Mongol 5 motorcycle rider, or a human head with a queue, facial hair and 6 sunglasses. Members also typically display a patch that 7 identifies the regional "chapter" to which the member belongs, 8 such as Cypress Park, Hollywood, Whittier and other regional 9 areas. Mongols "officers" also will frequently bear patches that 10 indicate that they are officers in the enterprise. Mongols also 11 are encouraged and expected to engage in sex acts at Mongols 12 functions or when pre-arranged "wing parties" are held. They 13 then are rewarded with different-colored wings patches. The 14 different colors of the patches identify specific sex acts 15 performed by the member in front of the organization, such as 16 green wings to represent sex with a woman who has a venereal 17 disease and purple wings to represent sex with a woman who is 18 dead. Additionally, the "Mother Chapter" members will reward
19 members who have distinguished themselves within the organization 20 by presenting them with specific patches or authorizing them to 21 bear a Mongols "full-patch" tattoo. The Mongols "Mother Chapter" 22 may award a specific Mongols member a "skull and crossbones" or 23 "Respect Few Fear None" patch to those members who have committed 24 murder or engaged acts of violence on behalf of the Mongols.

25           13. Mongols frequently refer to one another as "brothers"
26 and the organization as a "brotherhood." Leaders of the Mongols 27 gang recruit and initiate new members into the organization 28 through a structured application, vetting and probationary

1 process that is directed through the "Mother Chapter" in West 2 Covina, California. Potential members must be sponsored by 3 existing members and demonstrate their obedience and loyalty to 4 the Mongols organization. They are then required to complete a 5 written application, which is reviewed and researched by private 6 investigators, and they may be subject to a polygraph examination 7 by the Mongols if they are suspected to be a member of law 8 enforcement or an informant to law enforcement. The focus of the 9 investigation conducted before an individual may become a member 10 of the Mongols is to establish the potential member's willingness 11 to commit crimes on behalf of the organization and to preclude 12 the membership of individuals with any connection to law 13 enforcement or who might expose the crimes of the organization to 14 law enforcement. Once he has passed the process, the potential 15 member may be accepted as a prospective member, or "Prospect."
16 He is given a vest and patches, which identify him as a Mongols 17 "Prospect." The prospect is then assigned to perform duties for 18 the Mongols members, including providing armed security, storing 19 weapons and narcotics, and transporting Mongols leaders, for a 20 probationary period. The membership applications and decisions 21 are maintained, reviewed and determined by the Mother Chapter in 22 West Covina, California.

23 14. The Mongols maintain a ready supply of firearms, 24 including handguns, shotguns, automatic assault rifles, and 25 machine-guns, in order to enforce the authority of the gang.
26 Such weapons often are stolen or unregistered so that the use of 27 the weapons cannot be readily connected to the gang member who 28 either used the weapon or maintained it. Weapons often are

1 discarded or destroyed after an incident. Therefore, gang 2 leaders frequently need to maintain a source of supply for 3 additional unregistered or non-traceable firearms. The Mongols 4 leadership also controls the activities of its members and 5 enforces its authority and internal discipline by killing, 6 attempting to kill, conspiring to kill, assaulting, and 7 threatening its own members or others who would present a threat
8 to the Organization or its leadership. A member who is "out bad" 9 may be required to forfeit his property, especially his 10 motorcycle, and is subject to attack by active Mongols members.

11 15. Females commonly are addressed derisively in the 12 organization. Female associates typically are labeled as the 13 "property of" the Mongol member to whom they are connected, and 14 they are frequently expected to carry narcotics and firearms for 15 the member.

16 PURPOSES OF THE ENTERPRISE

17 16. The purposes of the Mongols criminal enterprise, 18 including its members and associates, include, but are not 19 limited to, the following:

20 a. Enriching members of the Mongols gang through,
