INTRODUCTION

FEDERALLY LICENSED FIREARMS COLLECTORS

ATF is responsible for enforcing the provisions of the GCA and its subsequent amendments. A significant part of the GCA concerns the licensing and recordkeeping requirements pertaining to the manufacture, importation, distribution, and sale of firearms. A collector of Curios or Relics may obtain a collector's license under the GCA (see 18 U.S.C. Chapter 44 and the regulations issued thereunder in 27 CFR Part 478). The privileges conferred by this license extend only to transactions involving weapons classified as curio or relic firearms. In transactions involving firearms not classified as Curios or Relics, the licensed collector has the same status as a nonlicensee. A person need not be federally licensed to collect Curios or Relics. Generally, persons must be licensed in order to lawfully receive Curios or Relics from outside their State of residence.

The principal advantage of a Collector's License, therefore, is that a collector can acquire Curios or Relics in interstate commerce. Although a licensed collector may acquire and dispose of Curios or Relics at any location, dispositions to nonlicensees must generally be made to residents of the same State in which the collector is licensed. Further, A LICENSED COLLECTOR IS NOT AUTHORIZED TO ENGAGE IN BUSINESS AS A DEALER IN ANY FIREARMS, INCLUDING CURIOS OR RELICS. A FEDERAL FIREARMS DEALER'S LICENSE IS REQUIRED FOR THIS ACTIVITY. The term "engaged in business" as applied to a dealer in firearms refers, in part, to a person who devotes time, attention, and labor to engaging in such activity as a regular course of trade or business with the principal objective of livelihood and profit. Therefore, any person intending to "engage in the business" of selling firearms, including firearms defined by ATF as Curios or Relics, must first obtain a dealer's license. For example, if a collector acquires Curios or Relics for the purpose of sale rather than to enhance a collection, the collector would have to be licensed as a dealer in firearms under the GCA. The sole intent and purpose of the collector's license is to enable a firearms collector to obtain curio or relic firearms from outside his or her State of residence.

In order to obtain a collector's license, applicants need to prepare and submit ATF Form 7CR, Application for License (Collector of Curios or Relics), with the appropriate fee, $30 for 3 years, and in accordance with the instructions on the form. This form may be obtained from the Firearms and Explosives Licensing Center in Atlanta, Georgia, (404) 679-5040 or from your local ATF office.

WHAT ARE CURIOS OR RELICS?

As set out in the regulations (27 CFR 478.11), Curios or Relics include firearms which are of special interest to collectors by reason of some quality other than is associated with firearms intended for sporting use or as offensive or defensive weapons. To be recognized as Curios or Relics, firearms must fall within one of the following categories:

- 1) Firearms which were manufactured at least 50 years prior to the current date, but not including replicas thereof;
- 2) Firearms which are certified by the curator of a municipal, State, or Federal museum which exhibits firearms to be Curios or Relics of museum interest; and
- 3) Any other firearms which derive a substantial part of their monetary value from the fact that they are novel, rare, bizarre, or because of their association with some historical figure, period, or event. Proof of qualification of a particular firearm under this category may be established by evidence of present value and evidence that like firearms are not available except as collector's items, or that the value of like firearms available in ordinary commercial channels is substantially less.

At the election of the licensed collector, the annual inspection permitted by this paragraph shall be performed at the ATF office responsible for conducting such inspection in the closest proximity to the collector's premises.

If an ATF officer seizes such records or documents, copies shall be provided the licensee within a reasonable time.

§ 478.25a Responses to requests for information. Each licensee shall respond immediately to, and in no event later than 24 hours after the receipt of, a request by an ATF officer at the National Tracing Center for information contained in the records required to be kept by this part for determining the disposition of one or more firearms in the course of a bona fide criminal investigation. - (b) Shall not apply to the transportation or receipt of a rifle or shotgun obtained from a licensed manufacturer, licensed importer, licensed dealer, or licensed collector in a State other than the transferee's State of residence in an over-the-counter transaction at the licensee's premises obtained in conformity with the provisions of § 478.96(c), and
- (c) Shall not apply to the transportation or receipt of a firearm obtained in conformity with the provisions of §§ 478.30 and 478.97.

§ 478.29a Acquisition of firearms by nonresidents. No person, other than a licensed importer, licensed manufacturer, licensed dealer, or licensed collector, who does not reside in any State shall receive any firearms unless such receipt is for lawful sporting purposes.

§ 478.31 Delivery by common or contract carrier. (a) No person shall knowingly deliver or cause to be delivered to any common or contract carrier for transportation or shipment in interstate or foreign commerce to any person other than a licensed importer, licensed manufacturer, licensed dealer, or licensed collector, any package or other container in which there is any firearm or ammunition without written notice to the carrier that such firearm or ammunition is being transported or shipped:

Provided, That any passenger who owns or legally possesses a firearm or ammunition being transported aboard any common or contract carrier for movement with the passenger in interstate or foreign commerce may deliver said firearm or ammunition into the custody of the pilot, captain, conductor or operator of such common or contract carrier for the duration of that trip without violating any provision of this part.

(b) No common or contract carrier shall require or cause any label, tag, or other written notice to be placed on the outside of any package, luggage, or other container indicating that such package, luggage, or other container contains a firearm.

(c) No common or contract carrier shall transport or deliver in interstate or foreign commerce any firearm or ammunition with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that the shipment, transportation, or receipt thereof would be in violation of any provision of this part:

Provided, however, That the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply in respect to the transportation of firearms or ammunition in in-bond shipment under Customs laws and regulation.

(d) No common or contract carrier shall knowingly deliver in interstate or foreign commerce any firearm without obtaining written acknowledgement of receipt from the recipient of the package or other container in which there is a firearm: Provided, That this paragraph shall not apply with respect to the return of a firearm to a passenger who places firearms in the carrier's custody for the duration of the trip.

§ 478.39a Reporting theft or loss of firearms. Each licensee shall report the theft or loss of a firearm from the licensee's inventory (including any firearm which has been transferred from the licensee's inventory to a personal collection and held as a personal firearm for at least 1 year), or from the collection of a licensed collector, within 48 hours after the theft or loss is discovered. Licensees shall report thefts or losses by telephoning 1-800-800-3855 (nationwide toll-free number) and by preparing ATF Form 3310.11, Federal Firearms Licensee Theft/Loss Report², in accordance with the instructions on the form. The original of the report shall be forwarded to the office specified thereon, and Copy 1 shall be retained by the licensee as part of the licensee's permanent records. Theft or loss of any firearm shall also be reported to the appropriate local authorities.

§ 478.41 General. (c) Each person seeking the privileges of a collector licensed under this part shall file an application, with the required fee (see § 478.42), with ATF in accordance with the instructions on the form (see § 478.44), and pursuant to § 478.47, receive from the Chief, National Licensing Center, the license covering the collection of curios and relics. A separate license may be obtained for each collection premises, and such license shall, subject to the provisions of the Act and other applicable provisions of law, entitle the licensee to transport, ship, receive, and acquire curios and relics in interstate or foreign commerce, and to make disposition of curios and relics in interstate or foreign commerce, to any other person licensed under provisions of this part, for the period stated on the license.

(d) The collector license provided by this part shall apply only to transactions related to a collector's activity in acquiring, holding, or disposing of curios and relics. A collector's license does not authorize the collector to engage in a business required to be licensed under the Act or this part. Therefore, if the acquisitions and dispositions of curios and relics by a collector bring the collector within the definition of a manufacturer, importer, or dealer under this part, he shall qualify as such.

§ 478.44 Original license. (b) Any person who desires to obtain a license as a collector under the Act and this part, or who has not timely submitted an application for renewal of the previous license issued under this part, shall file an application, ATF Form 7CR (Curios and Relics), with ATF in accordance with the instructions on the form.  - (iv) The applicant has completed and sent or delivered ATF F 5300.36 (Notification of Intent to Apply for a Federal Firearms License) to the chief law enforcement officer of the locality in which the premises are located, which indicates that the applicant intends to apply for a Federal firearms license. For purposes of this paragraph, the “chief law enforcement officer” is the chief of police, the sheriff, or an equivalent officer.

(c) The Chief, National Licensing Center, shall approve or the Director of Industry Operations shall deny an application for license within the 60-day period beginning on the date the properly executed application was received: Provided, That when an applicant for license renewal is a person who is, pursuant to the provisions of § 478.78, § 478.143, or § 478.144, conducting business or collecting activity under a previously issued license, action regarding the application will be held in abeyance pending the completion of the proceedings against applicant’s existing license or license application, final determination of the applicant’s criminal case, or final action by the Director on an application for relief submitted pursuant to § 478.144, as the case may be.

A separate license must be obtained for each location at which a firearms or ammunition business or activity requiring a license under this part is conducted except:

The holder of such a license is not by reason of the rights and privileges granted by that license immune from punishment for operating a firearm or ammunition business or activity in violation of the provisions of any State or other law. The report shall be prepared on Form 3310.4, Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Pistols and Revolvers⁶. Not later than the close of business on the day that the multiple sale or other disposition occurs, the licensee shall forward two copies of Form 3310.4 to the ATF office specified thereon and one copy to the State police or to the local law enforcement agency in which the sale or other disposition took place. Where the State or local law enforcement officials have notified the licensee that a particular official has been designated to receive Forms 3310.4, the licensee shall forward such forms to that designated official. The licensee shall retain one copy of Form 3310.4 and attach it to the firearms transaction record,⁷ Form 4473, executed upon delivery of the pistols or revolvers.

§ 478.129 Record Retention (e) Records of dealers and collectors under the Act. The records prepared by licensed dealers and licensed collectors under the Act of the sale or other disposition of firearms and the corresponding record of receipt of such firearms shall be retained through December 15, 1988, after which records of transactions over 20 years of age may be discarded.

§ 478.147 Return of firearm. A person not otherwise prohibited by Federal, State, or local law may ship a firearm to a licensed importer, licensed manufacturer, or licensed dealer for any lawful purpose, and, notwithstanding any other provision of this part, the licensed manufacturer, licensed importer, or licensed dealer may return in interstate or foreign commerce to that person the firearm or a replacement firearm of the same kind and type. (See § 478.124(a) for requirements of a Form 4473 prior to return.) A person not otherwise prohibited by Federal, State, or local law may ship a firearm curio or relic to a licensed collector for any lawful purpose, and, notwithstanding any other provision of this part, the licensed collector may return in interstate or foreign commerce to the person the firearm curio or relic.

CURIOS OR RELICS AND COLLECTOR'S ITEMS: DEFINITIONS AND DETERMINATIONS

27 CFR § 479.24 Destructive device determination. The Director shall determine, in accordance with 26 U.S.C. 5845(f), whether a device is excluded from the definition of a destructive device. A person who desires to obtain a determination under that provision of law for any device which he believes is not likely to be used as a weapon shall submit a written request, in triplicate, for a ruling thereon to the Director. Each such request shall be executed under the penalties of perjury and contain a complete and accurate description of the device, the name and address of the manufacturer or importer thereof, the purpose of and use for which it is intended, and such photographs, diagrams, or drawings as may be necessary to enable the Director to make his determination. The Director may require the submission to him of a sample of such device for examination and evaluation. If the submission of such device is impracticable, the person requesting the ruling shall so advise the Director and designate the place where the device will be available for examination and evaluation.

27 CFR § 479.25 Collector's items. The Director shall determine, in accordance with 26 U.S.C. 5845(a), whether a firearm or device, which although originally designed as a weapon, is by reason of the date of its manufacture, value, design, and other characteristics primarily a collector's item and is not likely to be used as a weapon. A person who desires to obtain a determination under that provision of law shall follow the procedures prescribed in 27 CFR § 479.24 relating to destructive device determinations, and shall include information as to date of manufacture, value, design and other characteristics which would sustain a finding that the firearm or device is primarily a collector's item and is not likely to be used as a weapon.

27 CFR § 478.26 Curio and relic determination. Any person who desires to obtain a determination whether a particular firearm is a curio or relic shall submit a written request, in duplicate, for a ruling thereon to the Director. Each such request shall be executed under the penalties of perjury and shall contain a complete and accurate description of the firearm, and such photographs, diagrams, or drawings as may be necessary to enable the Director to make a determination. The Director may require the submission of the firearm for examination and evaluation. If the submission of the firearm is impractical, the person requesting the determination shall so advise the Director and designate the place where the firearm will be available for examination and evaluation.

COLLECTORS WANTING A DETERMINATION

Collectors desiring to obtain a determination as to whether a particular firearm qualifies for classification as a curio or relic in accordance with 27 CFR 478.11 and 478.26 or a collector's item in accordance with § 479.25 and § 479.24 should submit a written request for a ruling. The letter should include:

- 1) A complete physical description of the item;
- 2) Reasons the collector believes the item merits the classification; and
- 3) Data concerning the history of the item, including production figures, if available, and market value.

As stated in the regulations, submission of the firearm may be required prior to a determination being made. Please submit your request to:

IMPORTATION RESTRICTIONS

Licensed collectors may lawfully import curio or relic firearms other than surplus military firearms, nonsporting firearms, and NFA weapons. [A surplus military firearm is defined as one that belonged to a regular or irregular military force at any time. Alteration of the firearm does not change its status. Therefore, a sporting firearm with a surplus military frame or receiver is a surplus military firearm, because a frame or receiver is classified as a firearm as described in 18 U.S.C. § 921(a)(3).] Surplus military firearms are generally prohibited from importation under 18 U.S.C. § 925(d)(3). However, 18 U.S.C. § 925(e) authorizes licensed importers (FFL type 08 or 11) to import surplus military rifles, shotguns, and handguns classified as Curios or Relics; provided that such handguns are generally recognized as particularly suitable for or readily adaptable to sporting purposes. Nonsporting handguns are those pistols and revolvers that do not meet size and safety prerequisites, or that do not accrue a qualifying score on ATF Form 4590, "Factoring Criteria for Weapons." Surplus military firearms classified as Curios or Relics must be in their original military configuration to qualify for importation.

NFA weapons are those "firearms" defined in § 5845(a) of the National Firearms Act (26 U.S.C. Chapter 53). These include machineguns, silencers, shotguns having a barrel less than 18 inches in length, rifles having a barrel less than 16 inches in length, smooth bore handguns, disguised weapons, certain firearms having a bore greater than one-half inch in diameter, destructive devices (e.g., bombs, grenades, and mines), and certain other firearms. A licensed collector may not import NFA firearms.

Firearms may only be imported pursuant to a Form 6 issued by ATF. Collectors having questions concerning the importability of specific curio or relic firearms should contact:

THE FIREARMS CURIOS OR RELICS LIST

THIS LIST IS COMPOSED OF FOUR MAJOR SECTIONS:

SECTION I. Ammunition Classified as Curios or Relics: Ammunition is no longer classified as “Curios or Relics” since the Congress in 1986 removed the interstate controls over ammunition under the GCA. We have continued the listing of 1972-1986 ammunition determinations as a service to those who rely on this list as a means of evaluation.

SECTION II. Firearms Classified as Curios or Relics Under 18 U.S.C. Chapter 44: Licensed collectors may acquire, hold, or dispose of these firearms as Curios or Relics. However, they are still "firearms" as defined in 18 U.S.C. 921(a)(3) and are, therefore, subject to all Chapter 44 controls. Generally, this category includes commemorative firearms, pistols, revolvers, rifles, and shotguns.

SECTION III. Weapons Removed From the National Firearms Act as Collectors' Items and Classified as “Curios or Relics” Under 18 U.S.C. Chapter 44: Weapons in this section are excluded entirely from the provisions of the National Firearms Act (NFA), 26 U.S.C. Chapter 53. Thus, approval from ATF to transfer these weapons is not required. They need not be registered in the National Firearms Registration and Transfer Record, and there is no transfer tax liability. However, these weapons are still "firearms" under Chapter 44, and remain subject to regulation under Part 478. Licensed collectors may receive these weapons in both intrastate and interstate commerce, and may transfer them intrastate, to both licensees and nonlicensees, and interstate, to licensed collectors and other licensees. While transfer may be made interstate to another licensee, they cannot be shipped interstate to a nonlicensee.

NOTE: Certain antique firearms are discussed and listed in Section IIIA.

SECTION IV. National Firearms Act Weapons Classified as “Curios or Relics” Under 18 U.S.C. Chapter 44: These weapons (e.g., machineguns) are firearms within the scope of the National Firearms Act (NFA), 26 U.S.C. Chapter 53, and are subject to all NFA Act provisions. Accordingly, these weapons cannot be lawfully transferred or received unless they are registered in the National Firearms Registration and Transfer Record at Bureau Headquarters. Once the registration requirements have been met, transfer may be made either intrastate or interstate to licensed collectors on ATF Form 4, "Application For Tax Paid Transfer and Registration of a Firearm." In each instance, first the appropriate transfer tax must be paid; ATF may then approve the transfer application. The application to transfer must be accompanied by an individual transferee's fingerprints and photograph as prescribed on the form. The form also requires a law enforcement official's certification, which must be completed.

Unserviceable weapons are still subject to the provisions of the National Firearms Act, except that they may be transferred free of transfer tax on ATF Form 5, "Application For Tax Exempt Transfer and Registration of a Firearm." As defined in 18 U.S.C. 5845(h) a firearm is unserviceable if it “is incapable of discharging a shot ... [and] of being readily restored to a firing condition.” Questions concerning the lawfulness of transactions in these weapons should be directed to:

What modifications can be made on C&R firearms without changing their C&R classification?

The definition for curio or relic (“C & R”) firearms found in 27 C.F.R. § 478.11 does not specifically state that a firearm must be in its original condition to be classified as a C&R firearm. However, ATF Ruling 85-10, which discusses the importation of military C&R firearms, notes that they must be in original configuration and adds that a receiver is not a C&R item. Combining this ruling and the definition of C&R firearms, the Firearms Technology Branch (FTB) has concluded that a firearm must be in its original condition to be considered a C&R weapon.

It is also the opinion of FTB, however, that a minor change such as the addition of scope mounts, non-original sights, or sling swivels would not remove a firearm from its original condition. Moreover, we have determined that replacing particular firearms parts with new parts that are made to the original design would also be acceptable—for example, replacing a cracked M1 Grand stock with a new wooden stock of the same design, but replacing the original firearm stock with a plastic stock would change its classification as a C&R item.

What is a firearm curio or relic?

Firearm Curios or Relics include firearms which have special value to collectors because they possess some qualities not ordinarily associated with firearms intended for sporting use or as offensive or defensive weapons. To be recognized as Curios or Relics, firearms must fall within one of the following categories:

- 1) Have been manufactured at least 50 years prior to the current date, but not including replicas thereof; or
- 2) Be certified by the curator of a municipal, State, or Federal museum which exhibits firearms to be Curios or Relics of museum interest; or
- 3) Derive a substantial part of their monetary value from the fact that they are novel, rare, bizarre, or from the fact of their association with some historical figure, period, or event.

[27 CFR 478.11]

Is there a specific license that permits a collector to acquire firearms in interstate commerce?

Yes. The person may obtain a collector’s license; however, this license applies only to transactions in curio or relic firearms. The principal advantage of a collector’s license is that a licensed collector can acquire Curios or Relics in interstate commerce.

[27 CFR 478.41(c), (d), 478.50(b) and 478.93]

How does one get a collector’s license?

Submit ATF Form 7CR, Application for License (Collector of Curios or Relics), with the appropriate fee in accordance with the instructions on the form. These forms may be obtained from the Firearms and Explosives Licensing Center in Atlanta, Georgia, your local ATF office, or downloaded from ATF’s Internet site (www.atf.gov).

[27 CFR 478.41(c)]

Does a collector’s license afford any privileges to the licensee with respect to acquiring or disposing of firearms other than Curios or Relics in interstate or foreign commerce?

No. A licensed collector has the same status under the Gun Control Act (GCA) as a nonlicensee except for transactions in curio or relic firearms.

[27 CFR 478.93]

Does the Federal firearms law require licensed collectors to comply with State laws and local published ordinances which are relevant to the enforcement of the GCA?

Yes. It is unlawful for any licensed collector to sell or deliver any firearm or ammunition to any person if the person's purchase or possession would be in violation of any State law or local published ordinance applicable at the place of sale or delivery.

[18 U.S.C. 922(b)(2), 27 C.F.R. 478.99(b)(2)]

Does a license as a collector of curio or relic firearms authorize the collector to engage in the business of dealing in Curios or Relics?

No. A collector's license only enables the collector to transport, ship, receive, and acquire curios and relics in interstate or foreign commerce, and to make disposition of curios and relics in interstate or foreign commerce, to any other licensee, for the period stated on the license. A collector's license does not authorize the collector to engage in a business required to be licensed under the Act. Therefore, if the acquisitions and dispositions of curios and relics by a collector brings the collector within the definition of a manufacturer, importer, or dealer, he shall qualify as such. A dealer's license must be obtained to engage in the business of dealing in any firearms, including Curios or Relics.

What does "engaged in the business" mean?

The term "engaged in the business," as applicable to a firearms dealer, is defined as a person who devotes time, attention, and labor to dealing in firearms as a regular course of trade or business with the principal objective of livelihood and profit through the repetitive purchase and resale of firearms, but such term shall not include a person who makes occasional sales, exchanges, or purchases of firearms for the enhancement of a personal collection or for a hobby, or who sells all or part of his personal collection of firearms.

[27 CFR 478.11]

Are licensed collectors transfers of curio or relic firearms subject to the Brady law, including the provision for making background checks on transferees?

No. Transfers of curio or relic firearms by licensed collectors are not subject to the requirements of the Brady law. It is, however, unlawful to transfer a firearm to any person knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that such person is a felon or is within any other category of persons prohibited from receiving or possessing firearms.

[18 U.S.C. 922 (d), 27 CFR 478.32 (d), 18 U.S.C. 922(t)]

Is the transfer of a firearm by a licensed dealer to a licensed collector subject to the Brady law?

The Brady law does not apply to the transfer of a curio or relic firearm to a licensed collector, but a licensed collector who acquires a firearm other than a curio or relic from a licensee would be treated like a nonlicensee, and the transfer would be subject to Brady requirements.

Are licensed collectors required to execute ATF Form 4473 for transactions in curio or relic firearms?

No. Licensed collectors are only required to keep a "bound book" record.

[27 CFR 478.125(f)]

Are licensed collectors required to comply with the requirements that written notification be given to handgun transferees and signs be posted on juvenile handgun possession?

The requirement that written notification concerning juvenile handgun possession be given by licensees to a nonlicensee to whom a handgun is delivered applies to curio or relic handguns transferred by licensed collectors. Licensed collectors may lawfully dispose of curio or relic handguns away from their licensed premises. Therefore, the signposting requirement does not apply to licensed collectors since, in the case of collectors, a requirement to post signs at the licensed premises would serve no purpose because the premises is not a business premises open to the public.

[18 U.S.C. 922 (x), 27 CFR 478.103]

Can a licensed collector sell a curio or relic shotgun or rifle to a nonlicensed resident of another State?

Yes. A licensed collector is specifically authorized to sell a curio or relic shotgun or rifle to a nonlicensed resident of another State so long as 1) The purchaser meets with the licensee in person at the licensee's premises to accomplish the transfer, sale, and delivery of the rifle or shotgun; and 2) The sale, delivery, and receipt of the rifle or shotgun fully comply with the legal conditions of sale in both such States.

[27 CFR 478.96 (c)(1)]

Are licensed collectors required to turn in their acquisition/disposition records to ATF if their collector's license is not renewed or they discontinue their collecting activity?

No. The GCA requires the delivery of required records to the Government within 30 days after a firearm "business" is discontinued. A license as a collector of Curios or Relics does not authorize any business with respect to firearms. This is in contrast to firearm importers, manufacturers, and dealers who are licensed to engage in a firearms business. Therefore, the records required to be kept by licensed collectors under the law and regulations are not business records and are not required to be turned in to ATF when collectors' licenses are not renewed or collecting activity under such licenses is discontinued.

[18 U.S.C. 923(g)(4), 27 CFR 478.127]

May a licensed collector obtain NFA firearms in interstate commerce?

Only if the firearms are classified as Curios or Relics, are registered in the National Firearms Registration and Transfer Record, and are transferred in accordance with the provisions of the NFA.

May semiautomatic assault weapons, which have been classified as Curios or Relics, be imported?

Not unless they are being imported for sale to a government agency or law enforcement officer employed by such agency for official use. Because ATF will not approve an importation that would place the importer in violation of the law, ATF would not authorize the importation of semiautomatic assault weapons, even if classified as Curios or Relics, unless the importer provided evidence that the weapons were being imported for sale to a governmental entity or other exempt purchaser.
