Exhibit 1a: Total Firearms Manufactured (2013 – 2024)

Source: ATF's Annual Firearms Manufacturing and Exportation Report (AFMER).

AFMER collects data from manufacturers for the firearms that were manufactured and distributed into commerce for the previous calendar year. Firearms manufactured and not yet distributed into commerce are not reported until the year they are distributed.

¹ Miscellaneous firearms are any firearms not specifically categorized in any of the firearms' categories defined on the ATF Form 5300.11 Annual Firearms Manufacturing and Exportation Report (Examples of miscellaneous firearms would include pistol grip firearms, starter guns, and firearm frames and receivers).

The AFMER report excludes production for the U.S. military, but includes firearms purchased by domestic law enforcement agencies. The report also includes firearms manufactured for export.

AFMER data is not published until one year after the close of the calendar year reporting period because the proprietary data furnished by filers is protected from immediate disclosure by the Trade Secrets Act. For example, calendar year 2023 data was due to ATF by April 1, 2024, but not published until January 2025.

Data for years prior to 2013 can be found in earlier editions of this report. <https://www.atf.gov/resource-center/data-statistics>.

¹ On May 26, 1994, the United States instituted a firearms imports embargo against China; however, sporting shotguns are exempt from the embargo.

² Imports of fewer than 1,000 per country.

Imports from Afghanistan, Belarus, Burma, China, Cuba, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Haiti, Iran, Iraq, Libya, Mongolia, North Korea, Russian Federation, Rwanda, Somalia, Sudan, Syria, Unita (Angola), and Vietnam may include surplus military curio and relic firearms that were manufactured in these countries prior to becoming proscribed or embargoed and had been outside those proscribed countries for the preceding five years prior to import. Imports may also include those that obtained a waiver from the U.S. State Department.

² Destructive device generally is defined as (a) any explosive, incendiary, or poison gas (1) bomb, (2) grenade, (3) rocket having a propellant charge of more than 4 ounces, (4) missile having an explosive or incendiary charge of more than one-quarter ounce, (5) mine, or (6) device similar to any of the devices described in the preceding paragraphs of this definition; (b) any type of weapon (other than a shotgun or a shotgun shell which the Director finds is generally recognized as particularly suitable for sporting purposes) by whatever name known which will, or which may be readily converted to, expel a projectile by the action of an explosive or other propellant, and which has any barrel with a bore of more than one-half inch in diameter; and (c) any combination of parts either designed or intended for use in converting any device into any destructive device described in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section and from which a destructive device may be readily assembled. The term shall not include any device which is neither designed nor redesigned for use as a weapon; any device, although originally designed for use as a weapon, which is redesigned for use as a signaling, pyrotechnic, line throwing, safety, or similar device; surplus ordnance sold, loaned, or given by the Secretary of the Army pursuant to the provisions of section 4684(2), 4685, or 4686 of title 10, United States Code; or any other device which the Director finds is not likely to be used as a weapon, is an antique, or is a rifle which the owner intends to use solely for sporting, recreational, or cultural purposes.

⁶ Short-barreled shotgun is defined as a shotgun having one or more barrels less than 18 inches in length, and any weapon made from a shotgun, whether by alteration, modification, or otherwise, if such weapon as modified has an overall length of less than 26 inches.
