I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

Hi,

I am an average lawful American. I feel if we were to start down this road for more gun control we will not be able to turn back. It is my belief we need to enforce the laws that are already in place. We have good gun control laws. Let's work together to to not let gun control get out our hand.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any “emergency” implementation as reported by the Washington Post: White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

- The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.*
- FFL” holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).*
- The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of “certain types of firearms” as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). “No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established.”*

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of “information collection” is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

Ms. Terrell,

The requirement of gun dealers to report the sale of semiautomatic firearms to the ATF serves no legitimate lawful purpose. It does not deter crimes committed with a firearm and does not affect criminals who acquire firearms from committing crimes. It's only purpose is to create a record of law abiding citizens who purchase firearms. The efforts of the ATF as well as other law enforcement agencies should be dedicated to the capture and prosecution of criminals. True punishment of criminals is the only real deterrent to those committing crimes in this country.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

When my son, now 34, was 5, he was at a neighbors playing. There was an older boy there that told him that a toy gun he had was real. My 5 year old got so scared he scaled a 5 ft block wall to run home. How can a 5 year old know how dangerous they are and we just look the other way.

Subject: Long gun sales reporting

Greetings,

Just got the news about the proposed new regulation to have the ATF follow-up on sales of more than one rifle at a time. I agree on the face it sounds good. I'm an avid target shooter, and even with a Physician's income I have never bought more than one at a time; But clearly this would only hinder law enforcement and not help keep us safe at all. Since less than 0.1 % of firearms recovered from felons crossing our borders originate in the U.S., and cartel members arrested here have confirmed that automatic weapons are purchased in Columbia, Nicaragua, and mostly Venezuela. As a sailor I can also confirm that an AK 47 could be had for ten dollars almost anywhere in South America the last time I had a yacht.

That being the case, it seems clear that the motive for this new regulation is something different than stated. Most likely a political stunt to try and look competent on the part of the Obama regime. I strongly urge you oppose this nonsense in favor of enforcing the laws we have that Mr. Obama refuses to enforce himself.

Best wishes

Ms, Terrell,

I am opposed to such a plan, to grant any emergency power to the ATF, to garner information on multiple sales or other disposition of certain rifles. Even GAO reports show that the vast majority of weapons used by the cartels are bought on the black market from other countries. Why I wonder does the ATF keep trying to in some fashion, to curtail this countries second amendment. Why I wonder don't they use their power in exposing the real power brokers of small arms trafficking in the world. Could it be that there wouldn't be any headlines to garner or political favors to pay back and justify their existence. The percentage of weapons moved from the US to Mexico is actually quite small, with the exception of stolen automatic weapons everything else is semi-auto at best. You know as anyone else who is accurately informed, knows they favor full automatic weapons and heavier types of ordinance and you just can't buy or sell them here without an extensive background check from your office, the FBI, and etc. I reiterate again I am opposed to any expansion of their powers emergency or other wise.

Thank You

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Hello Barbara,

As a citizen of Arizona, hunter and outdoors enthusiast, I am acutely aware of the border security issues. However, I am strongly against increased long gun sales reporting requirements in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. This type of reporting will not have any meaningful impact on the violence on our border. I understand that most of the guns used in boarder violence come from the Mexican military or are of a type not available to the average consumer in gun stores without class III controls. Please do not focus ATF's efforts on further restrictions to citizens gun rights.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

We would like to voice our extreme discontent and frustration with ATF's demands to change policy to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. I find this just another infringement on the 2nd Amendment and another step towards Federal control of our nation. I am a disabled Viet Nam veteran and a retired Treasury employee who is fully aware of the rights of citizens and do not appreciate this type of legislative action. It is our intent to vote out of office anyone who does support this action as well.

Subject: Tracking Long Guns in Border States

1. Fully automatic firearms predominate in Mexico. U.S. gun dealers don't sell these weapons to the public here, nor do they engage in illegal trafficking of such weapons, as you and the FBI would easily catch them performing the act, as the weapons appear in such great quantities in Mexico.
2. "Tracking" long guns in border states--or anywhere else--is, at present, an over-reach regulation attempt by BATF, in my view. If BATF had the legal authority to do that tracking, the organization would be doing it even now.
3. In brief, you are seeking to regulate "good folks" not criminals; "good folks" don't need to be regulated. Criminals, on the other hand, can't be regulated; otherwise, U.S. jails would not be so overflowing with them. By definition, criminals will break whatever law or regulation is put in place, including whatever laws or regulations the BATF may enforce.
4. One last bit here--if what you are ultimately seeking to do is to keep firearms from law-abiding citizens, then--for the most part--only criminals will have the firearms in home invasions, bank robberies, car-jackings, muggings, rapes, assaults, and drive-by shootings. In the end, that will mean more dead and wounded "good people" and more living criminals. Police investigate these crimes; they most often cannot intervene while these crimes are committed. They mostly end up drawing the chalk lines around the dead victims, usually not the criminals who are long gone.
5. Finally, why is it that mayors of large urban areas are allowed body guards, that governors are guarded by the state police, that the President is guarded by the Secret Service? Are ordinary citizens less worthy of protection than these who are guarded by the firearms of others? No, we are not; and we do not demand--nor could we have--bodyguards. We want only to retain our right to take on that guard duty ourselves for our own person and for other innocents around us. If you are eventually seeking to make me less protected than a police officer, a BATF officer, the President, the Vice-President, the Speaker of the House, a Justice of the Supreme Court, the Governor of Tennessee, or you (for that matter), then I simply want you to know that I am very much opposed to your activities that are pointed in that direction.
6. I respectfully request you reconsider your actions.

I am writing on behalf of the National Rifle Association of America, Inc. (NRA), to offer our comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine. Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

The reasons for that lack of authority are fully explained in the attached legal memorandum; but in short, the Congress has comprehensively defined what ATF may and may not require with respect to licensees' records. By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms. ATF seemed to understand that point when it responded in October to a recommendation for multiple long gun sales reporting by the Department of Justice Inspector General. ATF's comment on that recommendation was 1 Tel: (703) 267-1140 • www.nraila.org <• Fax: (703) 267-3973 that it would "explore the full range of options" but that such a requirement "may require a change to the Gun Control Act."¹ These reports will be requested through "demand letters"—a mechanism that for many years had been used only to conduct firearm traces, to obtain aggregate manufacturing statistics, or to obtain contact information for buyers of certain firearms later declared to be subject to the National Firearms Act. Even when ATF began to use demand letters to seek a broader range of firearm transaction records, one court upholding that program cautioned that the demand letter statute "is not a limitless delegation of authority" and "cannot be construed in an open-ended fashion."² The scope of the proposed collection suggests in itself that the proposal exceeds ATF's statutory authority. The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States.³ A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide.⁴ Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees.

That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales. The burden estimate in the proposal appears to assume that each licensee subject to a demand letter will respond once during the proposed duration of the program. Given the great variety in size and sales volume among the thousands of licensees in the border states, this seems unlikely. Even if the burden estimate in the proposal is correct, it is unclear how ATF could make effective use of the large number of reports that would be generated. Recent media reports suggest that ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases."⁵ If processing thousands of additional mandatory reports takes even more resources away from investigating these suspicious transactions, the proposed information collection may be more harmful than helpful. The NRA is well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the

Dear Barbara:

I am a member of the NRA. While the impetus to collect this information was not presented in detail, the concept and the current events all add up. While it is possible that there is some nefarious behavior leading to a small quantity of guns moving across the border into Mexico, and Mexico is surely a mess with the US as consumer fuel for most of it, you and I both know that if your organization is "heavy" enough, and those cartels certainly are "heavy" enough, you can buy those guns through a network of international gun broker/dealers and likely directly from foreign manufacturers' in quantity. In fact, those cartels can and do get (read that buy their way in) directly into Mexican military armories.

It would be reasonable to ask that the cascade of human failures that define the drug war not be translated into the incremental destruction of our free society. That data collection does harm long before it can be meaningfully applied to thwart any actual crime. I am 56. My childhood could not be relived today at any level. I am heartbroken about that and the direction the leadership of America has taken. I am watching the very reason for America's existence, something people far braver and finer than I died for, die by the inch. Those Revolutionary Father's graves are graves I actually visit with the hope that the power and definiteness of purpose that fueled those souls somehow reaches mine.

The ATF is faced with myriad impossible tasks, unenforceable laws and unrealistic expectations. The easy road, like spying on the law abiding public, is not where the ATF belongs and I am reasonably certain not where your heart is. Please do your best to define the reality of the circumstances and ask that those with more zeal than information allocate resources where they do good not harm.

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Please stop adding rules and regulations to gun sales and possession. Evil people do not care what the law says and will do what ever they are going to do. Rules create felons out of good people. I work in the public and talk with people at their homes. What I am hearing is that people are buying guns and stock piling ammunition because they fear the government. It is real and it will come to a head if the government does not stop this. No more rules, it is not working. More rules just means more criminals on paper. The word "felon" no longer means much to anyone. I live in the country and I can tell you without a doubt that 99% of the people I poll (young and old) would die before conforming to any more gun laws. No one has any respect for the law any more with the exception of the obvious. Please stop this before our kids have to fight our own government, that is where it is headed.

Subject: Long Gun Reporting

Good Morning,

I would ask that no steps be taken on initiating yet another burden on lawful American firearms purchasers. The "90%" figure being voiced by the Mexican government I believe is inaccurate and deliberately misleading so deflect the true reasons for the violence in that nation.

I have enclosed a link to Police One website which is an article from Stratfor that addresses the firearms issues in Mexico. One thing missing from all of the data is, of the guns turned over by Mexican authorities, how many were actually reported stolen in the United States before being recovered in Mexico? I request that you take a moment to review this article (one of many) as it debunks the assertions being made about American firearms being the majority of those being used in Mexican violence.

<http://www.policeone.com/international/articles/3325624-Mexicos-gun-supply-and-the-90-percent-myth/>

I believe truly securing the border with Mexico, enforcement of our current firearms laws will, and working closely with local law enforcement in the border areas fighting southbound smuggling will make a true impact on the actual small percentage of weapons purchased in the United States and smuggled into Mexico.

I have been in Law Enforcement since 1977 and I see the intelligence briefs about the border situation and where the firearms are actually coming from. The blame being laid on America's doorstep is not accurate and I would ask that the initiative currently being considered, be withdrawn.

Another regulation is not necessary, enforcement of existing regulation is.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Please OPPOSE the BATFE's proposal to report multiple sale of certain rifles

Please OPPOSE the “Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.”

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Hello Barbara Terrell,

Re: "December 17, 2010 Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

If the government simply assumes every person owns a gun or guns, then you don't need anyone to register their gun purchases.

If every person owned a gun, we would be a safer country, with less killings/murders and less robberies.

The reason so many people died in Arizona when the politician, "Gabby" was shot, is because only the shooter had a gun.

Thank you,

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

OK, let's try to reach for sanity here. The Mexican gangs are thoroughly well armed now, they are not breathlessly waiting for 2 deer hunting rifles to be smuggled in from the United States. I'm sure you are aware that 10 % of the Mexican Army deserts every year, taking their military, full-automatic weapons with them. And that these weapons often wind up in the hands of the gangs. These gangs need American hunting rifles like Canada needs snow in January. Let's get real please. Do not oppress dealers with endless, useless paperwork, and the same for American hunters and shooters. And please do not waste the time of the ATF personnel on these wild goose chases, they do in fact have legitimate work to do.

Sincerely, Jan Papra

Gun smuggling across our border by the Mexican drug cartels makes all of us complicit in the private wars that have murdered over 30,000 people in the past decade. It's time the U.S. got tougher about tracking sales of these military-style guns.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

Increased attention to these sales is a long-overdue measure. The purpose for which these bulk gun sales take place is very, very far from a "well-regulated militia" and they are shipped outside our borders as quickly as possible. But the destabilization that the guns are used to create and enforce, spills back over the border constantly. It's bad for everyone.

Thanks for reading my comments.

Re: Federal Register Notice of December 17, 2010 (Volume 75, Number 242, Page 79021), 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing as a private citizen to offer comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

I understand that the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. However, regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, the National Rifle Association (NRA) and other parties have argued convincingly that ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees. In addition, the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that might be better used for legitimate investigations.

The unfortunate drug-related violence in Mexico, involving wealthy drug cartels that are likely to have access to every imaginable type of firearm via international black markets, is no reason to increase reporting and surveillance on legitimate rifle purchases by U.S. citizens in their own country.

I respectfully submit that OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information.

Sincerely Yours,

Dear Ms Terrell,

Please see the enclosed letter from Chris Cox. As he speaks for me in regard to this issue. I am neither a legal scholar nor a brilliant orator, but I am a law abiding citizen of the United States and a voter. Please cease and desist in this action.

"To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing on behalf of the National Rifle Association of America, Inc. (NRA), to offer our comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

The reasons for that lack of authority are fully explained in the attached legal memorandum; but in short, the Congress has comprehensively defined what ATF may and may not require with respect to licensees' records. By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms. ATF seemed to understand that point when it responded in October to a recommendation for multiple long gun sales reporting by the Department of Justice Inspector General. ATF's comment on that recommendation was that it would "explore the full range of options" but that such a requirement "may require a change to the Gun Control Act."

These reports will be requested through "demand letters"—a mechanism that for many years had been used only to conduct firearm traces, to obtain aggregate manufacturing statistics, or to obtain contact information for buyers of certain firearms later declared to be subject to the National Firearms Act. Even when ATF began to use demand letters to seek a broader range of firearm transaction records, one court upholding that program cautioned that the demand letter statute "is not a limitless delegation of authority" and "cannot be construed in an open-ended fashion."²

The scope of the proposed collection suggests in itself that the proposal exceeds ATF's statutory authority. The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States.³ A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide.⁴

Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees.

That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales.

The burden estimate in the proposal appears to assume that each licensee subject to a demand letter will respond once during the proposed duration of the program. Given the great variety in size and sales volume among the thousands of licensees in the border states, this seems unlikely.

Even if the burden estimate in the proposal is correct, it is unclear how ATF could make effective use of the large number of reports that would be generated. Recent media reports suggest that ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases." If processing thousands of additional mandatory reports takes even more resources away from investigating these suspicious transactions, the proposed information collection may be more harmful than helpful.

The NRA is well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Please focus your bureau's time, effort and resources on protecting our nation's security from the outside, track down outside offenders, and prosecute those who pose a true threat to US stability. Dear Ms. Terrell,

With all due respect, circumventing the US Constitution by and administrative "end run" is unconscionable. If the ATF administratively starts registering guns in any states it has really over-stepped its authority.

Please consider my rights and try hard to protect them as much as we try to protect every other group in our country. Gun registration is not the problem, law enforcement is. If the Government agencies want to do something constructive on our borders allow our agents to take action where necessary and quit tying their hands at every turn, and in some cases even imprisoning them for doing their jobs.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing on behalf of the National Rifle Association of America, Inc. (NRA), to offer our comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

Barbara, appreciate your efforts to keep us safe, but BATF has no legal authority to collect long gun sales data. Per the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles." Dear Madam:

I am opposed to enacting this policy. More regulation that will likely be followed only by responsible and honest citizens will do little to stop violent and malicious criminals from acquiring weapons and using them. Meanwhile, scarce law enforcement resources will be squandered in this inefficient paper chase. Any additional resources should be directed to increasing a law enforcement presence on the border.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Subject: FR Doc. 2010-31761

Hello,

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Sincerely,
Mark Daigle

As a citizen of the United States, I understand the issues in Mexico regarding firearms, crime, and drugs. And, I understand the implications for the United States - especially our states that border Mexico.

I am against the above mentioned proposal. I can find no credible evidence or precedent that indicates this action will have any affect on the issues in Mexico regarding firearms, crime, and drugs. However, I can find credible evidence and precedent that the above mentioned proposal will consume law enforcement resources and will impose burdens on border state businesses and citizens.

In short, it will waste resources, impose burdens, and make no meaningful difference. Therefore, I conclude that it is not a good proposal.

Subject: Proposed Multiple Long Gun Reporting comments

Ms. Barbara Terrell,

Good morning. I'm writing to you in concern about the proposal laid out to require the reporting of the sale of multiple long guns in a 5 day period in certain border states, one of which I live in. I understand the fundamental idea behind this concept, wanting to generate data in order to investigate whether guns are purchased in the US and shipped to Mexico to fuel the drug war. Unfortunately, I fear that this proposal is flawed at a fundamental level and will not achieve the stated goal while being simultaneously detrimental to the cause.

One of the immediately apparent problems with this proposal is that many of the weapons used to arm drug runners, as seen in nearly all of the pictures and videos of captured munitions, are surplus military hardware to include machine guns and explosives not commercially available in US Domestic gun shops. Narcotics rings make their living transporting illicit narcotics across international borders, which means that these same organizations have the equipment, contacts, and expertise to bring in illegal arms from any number of places across the globe. Those arms acquired from the US will be of lower effectiveness and higher cost than other weaponry available to these organizations.

Further, the weapons captured from these organizations that do trace back to a US owner are often more than a decade old, which means that the preferred arms are illegal and already available on the black market. This seems to indicate that arms purchased at a US Gun Shop likely count for a tiny fraction of arms used by these narcotics organizations. If this proposal were to stop every single US weapon from landing in the hands of drug runners, it still would not have an appreciable effect on the combat effectiveness of these groups.

With these things considered, the proposal will have no impact on the distribution of arms available to the drug organizations. Therefore, the proposal's primary impact will be upon law abiding citizens and the law enforcement agencies involved. The BATFE and other involved law enforcement organizations will have a much higher burden placed upon them, diverting critical resources from the real goal of restricting the flow of drugs into the country. Law abiding FFLs will be forced to increase reporting and paperwork, which will add a much greater burden upon them as well as increasing the likelihood of errors entering into the records.

Private citizens would have to worry further about being investigated for perfectly legal activities. The father who wants to buy matched hunting rifles of himself and his son will now end up on a list, which will divert investigations from illicit activities.

This proposal also implicitly states that the current BATFE background investigation of gun owners is of little use. If this proposal's foundation is accurate, that drug runners are purchasing arms at US Gun Shops, then this demands that the background check performed on these sales is of no use. If this is the case, either the background check must be eliminated, which is a very bad idea, or the BATFE handling of background checks must be investigated, evaluated, and overseen by another organization, such as the FBI. So, either this proposal is inherently flawed and should be scrapped, or the BATFE is stating that their handling of the background check has been poorly handled and executed and is asking for outside help to fix critical problems in that process.

The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

As a life member of the NRA I'm well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers.

Therefore, OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Dear Ms. Terrell:

Comment and suggestions follow using the 'four points' guide in the Federal Register:

- Collection of such information is unnecessary, is certainly not an emergency, and is unlikely to have any practical utility because BATFE does not have the resources to properly and timely process the data. Further, it appears unlikely the BATFE has the authority to collect such information. The people targeted by this action are rarely, if ever, responsible for supplying enemies of the USA or others who would intentionally harm Americans. The targets of this "emergency" review are licensed dealers whom you already know. Energy should be directed at unlicensed traffickers and finding illegal suppliers.
- The Agency's estimate of the burden significantly underestimates the administration required both by the person targeted (an already known licensee) to complete the form and the BATFE resources required to process the completed forms and compiled data. What would be valuable is data from unlicensed dealers and illegal suppliers which, of course, will not be forthcoming because of this or any other review.
- Enhancement of the data is unnecessary because it is unnecessary to collect it in the first place
- Minimizing the burden in an ironic consideration because if there was no requirement there would be no burden.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

While I applaud your efforts to curb Mexican gun violence, restricting American freedoms is not the way to go about it. Putting the burden on law abiding gun store owners, American gun store owners, is not the way to go about it. In fact the REAL issue is stopping the Mexican military from giving AUTOMATIC weapons to cartels and terrorist organizations that is the first and only way to stop the violence. I believe your regulation is a anti 2nd amendment regulation in disguise and a way to get your foot in the door of law abiding gun owners and would be owners, shame on you.

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

I lived in the San Diego area for seven years during my military service. If I were employed by ATFE, I would want to be on record as "having done something" about Southern border violence and would prefer to interface with law-abiding U.S. citizens because they're not a threat.

It's obvious to anyone who can distinguish between a clip and a magazine, that "Bob's Sporting Goods" in Arizona is NOT where Mexicans criminals are buying machine guns. Drop it, close the border if necessary and let DEA do their job. ATFE is not able to stop black market imports of military weapons into Mexico. Don't waste resources harassing U.S. citizens and small business owners under false pretenses.

Mrs. Terrel, It seems to me that we Americans are steadily being drawn away from our constitutional rights. It seems to me that if you're in this country illegally you're OK, because the law-abiding Americans will pick up the tab for everything you need. We Americans will be scrutinized for everything and anything that has to do with illegals. I've seen in the news that we can't even protect our own private property any more than we have to sweat blood to pay for it. The illegals have the right to trespass. When do you think the American people will finally lose all our rights? I would like to know when I need to tell my children and grandchildren how we used to have a free country that our forefathers fought and died for, so we could have rights and freedom. It's a sad day, isn't it Mrs. Terrel? I don't think it's right, but what are my rights?

THANK YOU FOR YOUR RESPONSE TO MY CONCERNS, BUT YOU DID NOT ADDRESS THE SPIRIT OF MY LETTER. I WAS TRYING TO CONVEY THE IDEA THAT ANY REGISTRATION WOULD BE AN ADDITIONAL INFRINGEMENT OF MY SECOND AMENDMENT RIGHT. IT IS A FACT THAT MOST OF THE FIREARMS USED IN THE NARCO-WAR ARE NOT OF AMERICAN ORIGIN, ONLY THE ARMS THAT CAN BE TRACED. MOST DO NOT HAVE ANY TRACEABILITY. THIS FACT IS OBFUSCATED BY OMISSION IN THE MAINSTREAM MEDIA'S ANTI-GUN BIASED REPORTING.

BRUTAL ENFORCEMENT OF COMMON LAW, IN THE CASE OF VIOLENT CRIME, IS THE ONLY TRUE WAY TO MAINTAIN A CIVIL SOCIETY. THERE WILL ALWAYS BE THOSE WHO DO NOT BELONG IN A CIVIL SOCIETY, BUT WE CANNOT LET THE FEW RUIN IT FOR THE MANY. THE FEW ARE THE ONES WHO SHOULD PAY THE PRICE, NOT THE MANY. BASICALLY, USE GOOD OLD FASHIONED INVESTIGATIVE WORK TO SOLVE THE PROBLEM, NOT MORE AND MORE CONTROL OF THE LAW-ABIDING CITIZENSHIP. I UNDERSTAND THAT THIS MAKES ENFORCEMENT MORE DIFFICULT, BUT THAT IS THE PRICE OF LIVING IN A FREE COUNTRY. WE DO NOT LIVE IN A DICTATORSHIP YET. IF WE CONTINUE TO ERODE THE LIBERTIES AND FREEDOMS THAT OUR FOUNDING FATHERS SECURED FOR US, WE WILL ONE DAY WAKE UP LIVING IN TYRANNY.

THIS IS NO LAUGHING MATTER. PLEASE DO NOT DISCOUNT MY THOUGHTS AS THOSE FROM SOMEONE OUTSIDE THE MAINSTREAM. THIS IS A CENTER-RIGHT COUNTRY AND WE ARE WAKING UP TO THE REALITY OF WHAT HAS BEEN DONE TO US FOR THE LAST 100+ YEARS. A LINE IN THE SAND IS BEING DRAWN.

Thank you for your comment regarding the 60-day emergency notice of information collection relating to ATF Form 3310.12 (Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles), published in the Federal Register on December 17, 2010. The Federal Register and supplement form may be found at:

<http://www.atf.gov/regulations-rulings/rulemakings/general-notices.html>

The primary purpose of this program is to improve law enforcement's ability to identify firearms traffickers, to disrupt the criminal activity and to stop deadly violence plaguing the Southwest Border States and Mexico. The multiple sales reports will apply only to rifles that are semi-automatic, greater than .22 caliber, and have the ability to accept a detachable magazine. ATF intends to implement this program to require that Federal firearms licensees in the States of California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas complete the form for those transactions in which an individual purchases two or more of these rifles within five business days. We intend to evaluate the results at the end of a 1 year pilot period, at which time ATF may expand, narrow or discontinue the program.

As mentioned in the notice, if granted by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the emergency approval of the form is valid for 180 days. All comments received in response to the notice will be carefully considered and, if warranted, revisions to the form will be made.

WE HAVE GONE FROM A NATION OF FREE PEOPLE WITH A LIMITED GOVERNMENT, TO A PEOPLE WHERE THE GOVERNMENT INVADES AND CONTROLS NEARLY EVERY ASPECT OF OUR LIVES. WE ARE NO LONGER FREE. THIS IS NO LONGER ACCEPTABLE. INSTEAD OF TRYING TO CONTROL THE LAW ABIDING PEOPLE, PERHAPS YOU SHOULD FIGURE OUT A WAY TO ACTUALLY PROTECT US FROM THE REAL CRIMINALS AND TERRORISTS. I'M GOING OUT A, ANTI-PC LIMB HERE AND SUGGEST THAT PROFILING AND THREAT ASSESSMENT SHOULD BE SOME OF YOUR PRIMARY PREEMPTIVE TOOLS. PERHAPS, PEOPLE THAT DON'T OWN A FIREARM SHOULD BE TAXED, AND THE FEES SHOULD BE USED TO ASSIST LAW ABIDING PEOPLE IN ARMING THEMSELVES AND OBTAINING FIREARMS TRAINING.

WE HAVE THE LARGEST RESERVE FIGHTING FORCE IN THE WORLD BECAUSE OUR FOUNDING FATHERS FELT SO STRONGLY ABOUT A MAN'S RIGHT TO PROTECT HIMSELF. PLEASE CONSIDER THE FACT THAT OVER 60 MILLION LAW ABIDING GUN OWNERS DID NOT COMMIT A CRIME TODAY. IF EVERY CITIZEN WAS A CARRYING GUN OWNER, IMAGINE WHAT A POLITE SOCIETY WE WOULD HAVE. Instead of going after the Americans that have a right to buy and bear arms by the Second Amendment the government should be going after the drug cartel kingpins that are creating all the violence in those states such as California, Arizona and Texas. The ATF has no legal right to regulate and require these type of reporting records.

I and many other citizens that live in all parts of the United States object to the continued governmental overreach into the citizens private lives. Instead of punishing the law abiding citizens we should be going after the source of the issues. Please spend the scarce resources that law enforcement has where it will do the most good.

The ATF request of firearms dealers to report gun sales along the border with Mexico is illegal and burdensome for firearms dealers. It is particularly egregious as it will produce no positive results and only use law enforcement resources for no apparent gain.

This is a political move on behalf of the Obama administration to appease idiots like heavy campaign contributor George Soros and the Mexican President, who cannot even police his own country due to citizens inability to defend themselves against the runaway drug cartels.

Please abandon this policy immediately!!!

Subject: Law abiding citizens.

Dear Barbara,

Here we are again, the federal government's answer to crime and criminals is to restrict the rights and freedoms of law abiding citizens. Making alcohol illegal didn't stop alcoholism. It just increased the criminal element involved in its creation and distribution. Making marijuana illegal hasn't stopped its use in our society, it has only increased the criminal activity dealing with its production and delivery. If you remove guns from the law abiding citizens, only criminals will have guns and criminals will increase in numbers to deal in the gun void created just as it has in the illegalization of alcohol and marijuana. I don't condone the use of illegal drugs what so ever, but I am smart enough to recognize that making them illegal didn't work either! What else doesn't work is the destruction of the document that is the basis of this country. Destroying the Constitution little by little only makes it an irrelevant document. If part of it fails then it all fails. What could we do within the Constitution? We could easily patrol our borders, we could change and control our immigration rules, we could stop stomping upon the Constitution of the United States. Instead, we have left wing politics (socialists / communists) who want to take advantage of a real crisis to further their own political agenda. And as all left wing governments have done in the past (China, Russia, North Korea, Cuba, Nazi Germany) our government has waged a war against freedom of the people. I am not afraid of the neighbor that I don't know who owns a gun, but am very afraid of a government who wants to take away freedom from its citizens in the guise of their protection. Our country becomes weaker and, if this trend continues, we will rapidly become a third world nation speaking Chinese. Oh, you think that I am over reacting, am a crazy inbred hick, or just being silly... Look up your history, this is mechanism by which all of those other countries fell and cost their citizens their freedom. You only need to study the past to predict the future. I ask in the only way I know how, Please, stop being a party to the destruction of the once great nation. Stop trying to take away our freedoms, stop trying to destroy the second amendment. If not for my sake for your own. Government was created by the people and not the other way around.

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter. This unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

I am writing to you today to express my sincerest concerns regarding your agency's intention to require the reporting of sales on long guns in what appears to be four south western states. I fail to see how such onerous regulation, clearly beyond the capacity of your agency to manage, could have any reasonable effect except to create an enormous additional burden on your agency, gun dealers and honest law-abiding citizens.

I respectfully request that you study the problem for which this solution is intended to solve. I believe that after more careful study, you will agree that this is in fact no solution at all.

Very sincerely,

It appears to me (and I think any reasonable person) that a review of the relevant statutes that ATF does NOT have the authority to require the collection of this information. Congress has specifically delineated what information may and may not be collected.

While no one is in favor of violence in Mexico, it is more than foolish to assume that collection of this information will prevent an international cartel with access to weapons from around the world will be prevented from obtaining those weapons.

Subject: more gun registration? ATF long gun sales reporting??

Listen here bureaucrat; I don't need to be told I can not purchase a long gun without having it registered again with you ATF clerks. We "common folks" (US citizens) are sick and tired of you government folks telling us what we must do! How about the novel idea of you doing what the electorate demands, like closing the border, deporting illegals, enforcing the myriad of gun laws already on the books etc, (this may require you to put on a coat and leave the office to go outside (to get 'er dun ya know) and while you are at it, for a change ha, read up on the US Constitution! This is not a trite document to me! How about doing what we tell you to do! You forgot a long time ago that you work for us.

And how about just plain doing your job as we tell you, instead of you telling us! Many of us "working peasants" in the private sector with our college degrees, credentials, and businesses and jobs to attend to, are quite weary of the bird-brained government clerks badgering us, especially the know-nothing, do-nothing federal types. Just do your job and deport or jail the criminals; and leave the hell alone those of us who get up early in the morning to work! and pay the taxes!

I was raised on a farm; I hunted every fall after-school and learned that firearms are to be used for game and defense. I served in the US Army as an officer during the Vietnam era, which in my lifetime was one of the sickest examples of our US federal government clerks (bureaucracy/unions) in action. There still remain many like me out here believe it or not. Cease and desist with your weary plans, orders, and regulations already! Our government has become an incompetent, fat and quite inane curiosity now. Do you really expect us to have any confidence in your newly proposed 'regulatory initiatives'?

Your "comment period" is about asking for some sage advice from the folks in the field, 'ya know,' the feet on the ground, nose to the grindstone, street-smart, common sense types etc. This is the one "smart thing" in the entire proposal. Ask of those out here in the mid-america hinterlands who see things clearly and un-encumbered by your political bent. It might just help! if you care about it at all.

And let no one ever tread on me or my family.

Subject: Message for the BATFE

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Your Comments: " The primary purpose of this program is to improve law enforcement's ability to identify firearms traffickers, to disrupt the criminal activity and to stop deadly violence plaguing the Southwest Border States and Mexico."

Unfortunately, this program will do ABSOLUTELY NOTHING for ANY of these scenarios, as has been FULLY DEMONSTRATED already. This is nothing more than a desperate attempt of government control in a thin disguise.

Thank you for your comment regarding the 60-day emergency notice of information collection relating to ATF Form 3310.12 (Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles), published in the Federal Register on December 17, 2010. The Federal Register and supplement form may be found at: <http://www.atf.gov/regulations-rulings/rulemakings/general-notices.html>

The primary purpose of this program is to improve law enforcement's ability to identify firearms traffickers, to disrupt the criminal activity and to stop deadly violence plaguing the Southwest Border States and Mexico. The multiple sales reports will apply only to rifles that are semi-automatic, greater than .22 caliber, and have the ability to accept a detachable magazine. ATF intends to implement this program to require that Federal firearms licensees in the States of California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas complete the form for those transactions in which an individual purchases two or more of these rifles within five business days. We intend to evaluate the results at the end of a 1 year pilot period, at which time ATF may expand, narrow or discontinue the program.

As mentioned in the notice, if granted by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the emergency approval of the form is valid for 180 days. All comments received in response to the notice will be carefully considered and, if warranted, revisions to the form will be made.

Subject: BACK OFF !!!!!

I am writing to lodge my formal complaint against the ATF for their PREPOSTEROUS and unconstitutional OVER-REACH of powers and jurisdiction by requesting the "emergency" regulations in regards to multiple sales of semi-automatic rifles. This is an OUTRAGE, completely unconstitutional, as well as extremely deceptive and under-handed when Congress themselves already considered this completely useless and over-reaching idea, and VOTED AGAINST IT!!!! The ATF has NO RIGHT to go behind Congress's back and try to force through their own personal agenda and violate the rights guaranteed by the constitution. We KNOW what you are trying to do, regardless of how you want to try and disguise this or sugar coat it. Give up your communistic-regime mentality and either abide by the constitution of our country or please move to a country that already exists in the form that you prefer! Our country and all of our rights were Fought and died for, and we are NOT going to GIVE them up to the likes of corrupt and malicious organizations like the ATF. STAND DOWN!!!!

A Very concerned citizen

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

I disagree with this proposed regulation, and I understand it is prompted by the drug related violence in Mexico.

However, ATF already requires each and every buyer to complete form 4473, the ATF is then called to verify the buyer, the dealer then receives an authorization number to complete the sale/transfer.

ATF has 2 opportunities to ask questions: At the point of sale when the authorization number is requested and after the sale, because each dealer must hold the form 4473 for 20+ years. Instead of asking dealers to do extra work, simply use the tools you already have more efficiently.

There is no need for redundancy or additional reporting.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Barbara,

After reading your notice, I gathered that the purpose of the information collection was: "The information collection is needed to determine whether firearms, ammunition, and implements of war are eligible for importation into the United States. The information is used to secure authorization to import such articles."

Comments to points below are in red.

1. Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;

The collection of the information that you are targeting has little correlation with the purpose of the collection of information. The recording of sales transactions within the US, of domestic, as well as foreign built rifles, has little to do with the eligibility of the importation of such firearms. This information is not necessary, and only partially addresses the stated purpose of the request.

2. Evaluate the accuracy of the agencies estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

The scope of the information requested is in too large of a range to accurately address whether rifles sold are outside eligibility requirements of importation. The scope of the project is too large for its targeted purpose. Most of the data gathered would be useless. A better approach would be to assess the seized weapons in possession of law enforcement. To ensure accuracy, the data gathered would have to be grouped according to the violations in which the weapons were seized. For example, domestic violence, drug violations, weapons violations, etc. By targeting different society demographics, the agency would be able determine if, and where, importation violations are occurring.

3. Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected and;

Covered in paragraph above.

4. Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology, e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses.

I believe that the method of collection is appropriate.

I write to inform you of my opposition to the above mentioned proposal. I believe that the BATFE does not have the authority to effect the requirements put forth in the proposal. I have contacted my political representatives and informed them of my opinion. I would appreciate it if you could send me any documentation which you believe allows the BATFE to implement these proposed requirements.

Thanking you in advance, I remain, Sincerely,

Subject: Proposed ATF Long Gun reporting for Southwestern states

RE: Federal Register/Vol.75, No. 242/Friday, December 17, 2010/Notices P.79021

Please consider this my opposition to this proposal. I believe this to be an illegal extension of the ATF's power as well as an unnecessary, unneeded and selective prohibition of otherwise LEGAL activities. My only thought as to why this is being proposed for those states that border Mexico is the RIDICULOUS assertion that legal firearms sales in the US somehow propagate criminal activity in another country. I also believe it is one of many steps being taken by the Federal Government to find ways to circumvent our Second Amendment right to keep and bear arms.

Whether you personally support the right to keep and bear arms is of no consequence. Just as my beliefs regarding that right do not matter. What DOES matter is that the document that governs our country gives the citizens that right. As a government official, it is your duty to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States. Any actions you take or support that in any way, shape or form weaken that governing document is tantamount to treason and will only serve in the long run to weaken and eventually destroy these United States.

The question in High School American Government class, first day, was: Who or what governs our country? The answer is NOT the people, President, congress or anybody else. The answer is the Constitution, pure and simple. We are NOT a pure Democracy. We are a CONSTITUTIONAL REPUBLIC! You people in government service, feeding off the public teat, need to understand that and change your ways before our country is destroyed.

I hope you take this to heart. We seem to be at a crossroads in this great country. The wrong path will most likely lead to our destruction. The right path will put us back on the track that our Founding Fathers intended and we can become great once again. Thank you for the time it's taken to read my words.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

I strongly oppose ATF's attempt to increase reporting requirements of multiple long gun sales. This will reduce violence in Mexico just as much as taking away a fat person's spoon will make them loose weight.

Stop focusing on the inanimate object, and start focusing on the people committing the harmful act. Duh. Anyone with common sense knows that much.

Drug cartels are financed to the tune of the billions of dollars. They finance disposable submarines, tunnels between the two countries, and large shipments of weapons from rogue nations. Cartels have bribed Mexican officials at the highest levels to the tune of millions of dollars, and have taken effective control of entire cities in Mexico. To suggest that adding yet another layer of paperwork requirements to U.S. gun dealers will help to stem the violence is ludicrous.

The Second Amendment is not the cause of border, drug-related violence. And as violence increasingly occurs on our side of the border, Second Amendment rights become even more important for self-protection.

Dear Barbara,

This proposal is not likely to help investigate any legitimate crime as I have seen in law enforcement here locally most if not all of the criminals use stolen guns and there is no shortage of them. The paperwork required will no doubt tie up many countless hours of red tape to prevent legitimate citizens from protecting themselves. If we can fight a war 3000 miles from home surely we, with the ATF's help can stop criminals from crossing the border in the our back yard.

It is time for us to get real and realize the problem is not people owning guns legally and stop making those of us attempting to protect ourselves from being criminalized which is exactly what this proposed rule would do.

As has been proven The ATF has not been able to prove their case of weapons from the United States being used in Mexico's drug war to any great extent. This proposed requirement has no basis and is a hardship on legitimate purchasers and FFL holders.

I find it very disturbing that your agency has to harass law abiding citizens.

To give the ATF authority of which they are not authorized to have and initiate an unnecessary paperwork which will waste law enforcement's time, energy and resources is unconscionable. Statistics show that more layers of gun control ultimately give the 'bad guys' the edge and crime will increase. If anything is to be done empower law enforcement and the citizens to discourage and eliminate the 'bad guys' rather than burden them with unnecessary laws and paperwork.

Re: OMB Number 1140-NEW

February 10, 2011

Ms. Terrell,

I am opposed to the BATFE proposal, dated December 17, 2010 published as 'Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles' published in the Federal Register [OMB Number 1140-NEW].

The BATFE does not have the authority to request such information. Requiring the collection of this information will only add to already excessive paperwork load on firearms dealers and, if implemented, waste already strained enforcement resources that can be spent much more efficiently elsewhere.

I trust that I will receive an acknowledgment that this email in opposition to the above referenced proposal has been received and properly considered and counted.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

I have always wanted to see Mexico. I can't any longer plan for a vacation there. It's too frightening. I now have to change my dream vacation to....where? Canada?

I don't want to be in danger traveling in Mexico, and we have LONG KNOWN that the crazy laws that gun shows operate under are a huge problem not only in Mexico but in the US. Our southern states are even endangered by poor regulation in these gun shows. Now, I can't even feel safe in Iowa. DO SOMETHING!!!

I don't agree with the ATF proposing to require gun dealers to report sales of semi-automatic weapons.

The flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

Where is this flood of paperwork going to go and who is going to be checking it? I would guess that the only good thing would be to be able to trace a rifle after the crime takes place. We already have laws and procedures to do that. Do you think the illegal sale of firearms would be affected by this requirement? I don't. It would probably increase.

Please consider all the angles before trying to make this a requirement.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

By NOT taking action to curb threats and acts of gun violence, America shows disregard for lives that could be saved, crimes made easier. That's an unAmerican ethical & political stance.

What follows is a form letter of which you will receive many. I want to underscore that the ATF's proposal will provide another tool in combatting drug related violence in both the US and Mexico. Mayors Against Illegal Guns has been doing a great job of keeping up the campaign against illegal guns.

Why are gun dealers and sellers allowed to sell semi-automatic and automatic weapons without making even minimal background checks? without even getting the buyers' names and addresses? Why do we let people sell and buy guns used solely for killing other people not only with impunity but without even keeping records? And then these same people complain about these same guns being used by drug dealers (who cross the border illegally) against US citizens. It is past time to put a stop to this insanity.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Stop the slaughter, stop the predator gun dealers and their predator customers who only care about putting money in their pockets. Stop the war on drugs and prosecute the banks that profit from laundering dirty money. Provide decent, well paying jobs for the unemployed. It's about jobs for Americans not about wars that only profit predator corporations and corrupt bankers.

Mary Works (an Oregon voter visiting Arizona weighing in) Dear President Obama, The means are available with no new laws needing to be passed to take this very important step. The Border Wars are indecent, unnecessary, and have gone on far too long. The drug cartels do seem to operate very freely in this area (as all along our border with Mexico).

YES! Insist that gun dealers disclose to whom their guns are sold, and especially mass sales of high-powered weaponry. No one in the NRA lobby can ever convince me that any person needs an AK Assault rifle for any legitimate hunting purpose. There is big money involved here, and many ordinary people are dying violently.

Do this, please; buck the gun-lobby and do what you must know is the right thing, not the easy thing. You have two beautiful daughters and a beautiful wife to protect from the murderous conflicts based squarely on drugs and guns. Moreover, as President, you have the entire country to protect from such immoral and deadly activities such as those happening along our southern borders. Not just men, and not just participants in the gun and drug trade are dying needlessly, but innocent victims include men, women and, saddest of all, children are being murdered to line the pockets of their killers with gold. Please, with a stroke of a pen you have the power to make real changes here, the kind of positive changes you promised when we elected you as our leader into a brighter future. We are counting on you to do as you said. Tell us how to help you!

Thank you,

MW

There should be no reason not to support the ATF's proposal to require gun dealers along the U.S./Mexico border to report bulk sales of assault rifles. This requirement is not an infringement on our holy right to bear arms.

Let's please do what we can to enforce laws and stop the avalanche of murders attributable to the ongoing cartel wars.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

I am commenting on the silly idea of requiring sending reports to the BATFE regarding sales of semi-auto rifles as proposed in "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles" of December 17, 2010.

1. It is illegal. This is just another attempt by bureaucratic socialists to set a precedent for illegal gun registration. Just how stupid do you think American citizens are?
 2. It won't work. If a person with criminal intent knows he will be reported in CA, AZ, NM or TX, why wouldn't they just take a few more hours for their endeavor and go to NV, UT, CO, OK or LA. How stupid do you think the organized criminal class of Mexico is?
 3. It isn't necessary. The type of rifle preferred by this criminal class is full-auto. The reporting of semi-auto sales is unlikely to curb the illegal acquisition of their favorite weapons. The only stupid person I can think of with respect to this idea is the one who proposed the idea in the first place.
 4. There is a better Way. If the USA is a major source of weapons for the Mexican drug cartels (which is the current but false propaganda of gun control advocates), the best way to stop trans-border drug/gun trafficking is to take control of our borders.
 5. It is un-American. As a resident of AZ, a US citizen and veteran of the US Air Force, I resent being singled out as a potential criminal just because I admire the type of weapon the military trained me to use. Please grow up!

Sorry for the second email...the first was mishandled by my email provider's software and the message body was lost.

Please consider the government resources that will be wasted in recording and monitoring legal sales of semi-automatic rifles in southwestern border states. The best use of resources would be the investigation of actual criminal offenses rather than trying to administer a database of legal sales.

The whole emphasis on making persons jump through legal hoops seems to be lost on criminals who ignore laws or find ways to skirt them. Where lists are maintained, the main emphasis will be on the integrity of the list rather than on the issue that was to be address by the list.

Bureaucratic compliance and expanding database management is no substitute for prosecuting criminal activity.

Hello,

My name is Matt and I am a fully functioning law abiding citizen from Illinois. I am sure you will probably not read this, but in the chance that you do, here you go. I am a member of the NRA and the ISRA. I am not the most active member within these organizations but enough is enough. I felt compelled to respond to the proposed act requiring the report of long gun sales in the border states of Mexico. Do you really honestly believe that Mexico drug lords are getting the fully-automatic weapons from law abiding citizens? Really? This is what is one of the things that is wrong with this nation. We always treat the good citizens of the this country as if they are the criminals. At to what avail? Only result is that more legislation is created and the good hardworking people of this nation are forced to fight to keep their rights that have been supposedly guaranteed to them by our founding fore-fathers. It is a sad shame that our government is more focused on foreign policy instead of what is right in front of us all. Last time I checked I can't legally own a class III weapon and the majority of the population of this great nation can't either. Buying a shotgun from Wal-Mart in El Paso is not going to end up in the hands of a Mexican criminal unless he is here already ILLEGALLY in the first place and the buyer of the said gun! I can't stand watching the nightly news anymore because of the "idiocracy" our government is turning into. I fear for our children's future. We are literally becoming cattle. Does this act affect me directly...no, but I am just fed up. Our government needs to stop with these witch hunts and spend more resources on something more worthwhile, like education. Well I could write a novel but I am sure all of this is falling on deaf ears. Thank you in advance for your time.

Best Regards and God Bless,

Matt Affolter

Ms Terrell,
I would like to express my strong disagreement with the "Long Gun Sales Reporting" proposal. I find it disagreeable on many levels but will leave it to what has already been stated concerning this bad idea:

"The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations."

Thanks for your time,

p.s. It is an insult to the great majority of US citizens who are law abiding to be punished for what criminals have done or might do. I am beginning to think this, and many of the other Gun Control measures, has less to do with stopping crime and more to do with disarming America.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Ms. Terrell,

As gun owner and resident of the state of New Mexico, I am furious and disgusted that you want to track legal sales of long guns from licensed gun dealers and pawn shops in the Southwest. Your agency will be wasting resources on legal purchases. In case you are not aware, the Southwest is being overrun by the Mexican drug cartels. Not one of these people associated with the cartels are buying guns at licensed dealers. Your proposal will be nothing but oppressive by forcing law abiding gun owners to register and defeats the purpose of the ATFE. Your agency is supposed to be addressing illegal sales and transfers, not legal gun purchases.

You need to focus and work with the US Border Patrol to stop the flow of illegal weapons and explosives coming in from Mexico, not punishing honest people that want to exercise their Second Amendment rights.

Subject: Long Gun Sales Reporting comments

Aside from the fact that ATF lacks statutory authority to require and FFL to submit these proposed reports, the fact of the matter is that it is an exercise in futility. I believe the proposal is politically motivated to bolster the "90 percent" LIE. Having worked for an FFL at one time I have submitted numerous reports on multiple handgun sales. Some of them were on me! Most of them are never followed up on. I have personally cooperated with ATF on investigations and have a fair idea of how understaffed they are. The agents that work in this area drive 60-80 miles one way from their office to follow a lead, conduct an interview, collect evidence, etc. I don't imagine it is any better in the southwest. If they can't follow up on what they have now, how is adding this reporting requirement going to help?

I do not believe for a minute that the cartels in Mexico are getting large numbers of so-called "assault weapons" from the US civilian market. From what I have seen on the news, most of the seized weapons paraded in front of the media prove this is not the case. Grenade launchers, full-auto weapons, and the like are not coming from FFL's selling Title 1 guns, and since ATF registers and tracks class 3 weapons, these are highly accounted for and are clearly not the issue.

I have always, and will continue to support, and when asked assist the hard working agents of the ATF. I am not shining you on to say that I appreciate what you do. I believe in the Second Amendment, and have spent most of my adult life working in the defense of this nation. I also believe in pursuing criminals to the full extent of the law. This proposal puts an undue burden on law abiding citizens and legitimate businesses and fails to focus on the real problems, which are probably out of ATF jurisdiction anyway. (IE. Panama canal zone according to one report) I urge you to re-think this. Thank-you for considering my comments.

Good evening Mrs./Ms. Terrell,

In regards to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles." I just have a few comments. Gun registry is the first step down a dangerous path that leads to confiscation. History has shown that when guns are taken from the people the next step is their civil liberties and before you know it brutal dictatorship. While the fact that some guns from America are getting in to the hands of Mexican drug cartels the bigger issue here is the source of the problem. A more responsible US policy regarding drug use and possession in the United States would empty our jails of the thousands of non-violent offenders placed there for possession only. Decriminalization would also remove the root cause of all this violence. If drug cartels no longer have a market for their goods their cash flow soon dries up. If they have no money they have no power (and also more obviously no money with which to purchase guns). Straw purchases in the US are not the problem here, irresponsible and draconian drug laws are. Regardless gun reporting, tantamount to registration, because truthfully, will you ever destroy that information once you have it? Not likely. Gun registration is the first step down a slippery slope leading to a loss of liberties.

Thanks for your time and consideration...please do not implement this new proposal!

Sincerely,

Matthew Brind'Amour

Subject: Please OPPOSE the BATFE's proposal to report multiple sales of certain rifles

Sir /Madam,

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Sincerely,

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Stop this bureaucratic madness! There are far better way that precious law enforcement resources can be used rather than on this time wasting bureaucratic paper shuffle.

Let me debunk the myth that 90% of guns used by criminals in Mexico come from the US. In reality only a tiny fraction of this, and mostly handguns, actually come from the US. As a law abiding, tax paying, natural born US citizen, gun owner and hunter I a vitally concerned with these issues and the bureaucratic overreach by the ATF. And as one vitally concerned with the Federal government and upholding of the US Constitution I am active in keeping informed and writing my congressmen on these issues. Copies of this will be going to Sens. Linsey Graham and Jim Demint, as well as Rep. Trey Gowdy.

I offer an article by George Friedman of STRATFOR as my analysis:

By Scott Stewart

For several years now, STRATFOR has been closely watching developments in Mexico that relate to what we consider the three wars being waged there. Those three wars are the war between the various drug cartels, the war between the government and the cartels and the war being waged against citizens and businesses by criminals.

In addition to watching tactical developments of the cartel wars on the ground and studying the dynamics of the conflict among the various warring factions, we have also been paying close attention to the ways that both the Mexican and U.S. governments have reacted to these developments. Perhaps one of the most interesting aspects to watch has been the way in which the Mexican government has tried to deflect responsibility for the cartel wars away from itself and onto the United States. According to the Mexican government, the cartel wars are not a result of corruption in Mexico or of economic and societal dynamics that leave many Mexicans marginalized and desperate to find a way to make a living. Instead, the cartel wars are due to the insatiable American appetite for narcotics and the endless stream of guns that flows from the United States into Mexico and that results in Mexican violence.

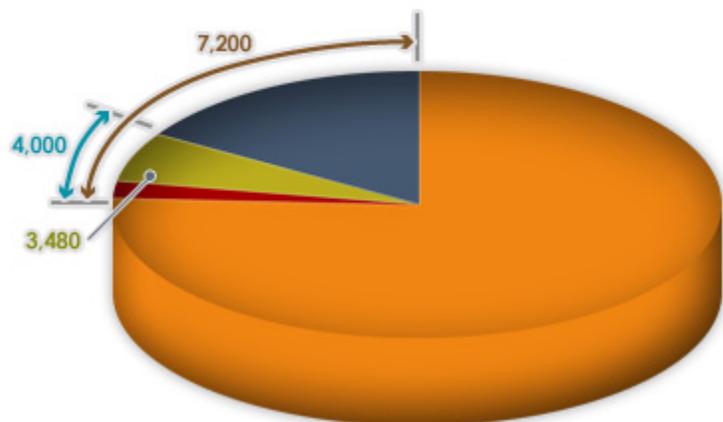

Interestingly, the part of this argument pertaining to guns has been adopted by many politicians and government officials in the United States in recent years. It has now become quite common to hear U.S. officials confidently assert that 90 percent of the weapons used by the Mexican drug cartels come from the United States. However, a close examination of the dynamics of the cartel wars in Mexico — and of how the oft-echoed 90 percent number was reached — clearly demonstrates that the number is more political rhetoric than empirical fact.

By the Numbers

As we discussed in a previous analysis, the 90 percent number was derived from a June 2009 U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) report to Congress on U.S. efforts to combat arms trafficking to Mexico (see external link).

According to the GAO report, some 30,000 firearms were seized from criminals by Mexican authorities in 2008. Of these 30,000 firearms, information pertaining to 7,200 of them (24 percent) was submitted to the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) for tracing. Of these 7,200 guns, only about 4,000 could be traced by the ATF, and of these 4,000, some 3,480 (87 percent) were shown to have come from the United States.

FIREARMS SEIZED IN MEXICO, 2008

30,000: TOTAL NUMBER OF FIREARMS SEIZED BY MEXICAN AUTHORITIES IN 2008

- Number of guns submitted to the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) by the Mexican government for tracing
- Number of guns successfully traced by the ATF
- Number of guns traced to the United States

Source: U.S. Government Accountability Office

Copyright STRATFOR 2011 www.STRATFOR.com

This means that the 87 percent figure relates to the number of weapons submitted by the Mexican government to the ATF that could be successfully traced and not from the total number of weapons seized by Mexican authorities or even from the total number of weapons submitted to the ATF for tracing. In fact, the 3,480 guns positively traced to the United States equals less than 12 percent of the total arms seized in Mexico in 2008 and less than 48 percent of all those submitted by the Mexican government to the ATF for tracing. This means that almost 90 percent of the guns seized in Mexico in 2008 were not traced back to the United States.

The remaining 22,800 firearms seized by Mexican authorities in 2008 were not traced for a variety of reasons. In addition to factors such as bureaucratic barriers and negligence, many of the weapons seized by Mexican authorities either do not bear serial numbers or have had their serial numbers altered or obliterated. It is also important to understand that the Mexican authorities simply don't bother to submit some classes of weapons to the ATF for tracing. Such weapons include firearms they identify as coming from their own military or police forces, or guns that they can trace back themselves as being sold through the Mexican Defense Department's Arms and Ammunition Marketing Division (UCAM). Likewise, they do not ask ATF to trace military ordnance from third countries like the South Korean fragmentation grenades commonly used in cartel attacks.

Of course, some or even many of the 22,800 firearms the Mexicans did not submit to ATF for tracing may have originated in the United States. But according to the figures presented by the GAO, there is no evidence to support the assertion that 90 percent of the guns used by the Mexican cartels come from the United States — especially when not even 50 percent of those that were submitted for tracing were ultimately found to be of U.S. origin.

This point leads us to consider the types of weapons being used by the Mexican cartels and where they come from.

Types and Sources of Guns

To gain an understanding of the dynamics of the gun flow inside Mexico, it helps if one divides the guns seized by Mexican authorities from criminals into three broad categories — which, incidentally, just happen to represent three different sources.

Type 1: Guns Legally Available in Mexico

The first category of weapons encountered in Mexico is weapons available legally for sale in Mexico through UCAM. These include handguns smaller than a .357 magnum such as .380 and .38 Special.

A large portion of this first type of guns used by criminals is purchased in Mexico, or stolen from their legitimate owners. While UCAM does have very strict regulations for civilians to purchase guns, criminals will use straw purchasers to obtain firearms from UCAM or obtain them from corrupt officials. Cartel hit men in Mexico commonly use .380 pistols equipped with sound suppressors in their assassinations. In many cases, these pistols are purchased in Mexico, the suppressors are locally manufactured and the guns are adapted to receive the suppressors by Mexican gunsmiths.

It must be noted, though, that because of the cost and hassle of purchasing guns in Mexico, many of the guns in this category are purchased in the United States and smuggled into the country. There are a lot of cheap guns available on the U.S. market, and they can be sold at a premium in Mexico. Indeed, guns in this category, such as .380 pistols and .22-caliber rifles and pistols, are among the guns most commonly traced back to the United States. Still, the numbers do not indicate that 90 percent of guns in this category come from the United States.

Additionally, most of the explosives the cartels have been using in improvised explosive devices (IEDs) in Mexico over the past year have used commercially available Tovex, so we consider these explosives to fall in this first category. Mexican IEDs are another area where the rhetoric has been interesting to analyze, but we will explore this topic another time.

Type 2: Guns Legally Available in the U.S. but Not in Mexico

Many popular handgun calibers, such as 9 mm, .45 and .40, are reserved for the military and police and are not available for sale to civilians in Mexico. These guns, which are legally sold and very popular in the United States, comprise our second category, which also includes .50-caliber rifles, semiautomatic versions of assault rifles like the AK-47 and M16 and the FN Five-Seven pistol.

When we consider this second type of guns, a large number of them encountered in Mexico are likely purchased in the United States. Indeed, the GAO report notes that many of the guns most commonly traced back to the United States fall into this category. There are also many .45-caliber and 9 mm semiautomatic pistols and .357 revolvers obtained from deserters from the Mexican military and police, purchased from corrupt Mexican authorities or even brought in from South America (guns made by manufacturers such as Taurus and Bersa). This category also includes semiautomatic variants of assault rifles and main battle rifles, which are often converted by Mexican gunsmiths to be capable of fully automatic fire.

One can buy these types of weapons on the international arms market, but one pays a premium for such guns and it is cheaper and easier to simply buy them in the United States or South America and smuggle them into Mexico. In fact, there is an entire cottage industry that has developed to smuggle such weapons, and not all the customers are cartel hit men. There are many Mexican citizens who own guns in calibers such as .45, 9 mm, .40 and .44 magnum for self-defense — even though such guns are illegal in Mexico.

Type 3: Guns Not Available for Civilian Purchase in Mexico or the U.S.

The third category of weapons encountered in Mexico is military grade ordnance not generally available for sale in the United States or Mexico. This category includes hand grenades, 40 mm grenades, rocket-propelled grenades, automatic assault rifles and main battle rifles and light machine guns.

This third type of weapon is fairly difficult and very expensive to obtain in the United States (especially in the large numbers in which the cartels are employing them). They are also dangerous to obtain in the United States due to heavy law-enforcement scrutiny. Therefore, most of the military ordnance used by the Mexican cartels comes from other sources, such as the international arms market (increasingly from China via the same networks that furnish precursor chemicals for narcotics manufacturing), or from corrupt elements in the Mexican military or even deserters who take their weapons with them. Besides, items such as South Korean fragmentation grenades and RPG-7s, often used by the cartels, simply are not in the U.S. arsenal. This means that very few of the weapons in this category come from the United States.

In recent years the cartels (especially their enforcer groups such as Los Zetas, Gente Nueva and La Linea) have been increasingly using military weaponry instead of sporting arms. A close examination of the arms seized from the enforcer groups and their training camps clearly demonstrates this trend toward military ordnance, including many weapons not readily available in the United States. Some of these seizures have included M60 machine guns and hundreds of 40 mm grenades obtained from the military arsenals of countries like Guatemala.

But Guatemala is not the only source of such weapons. Latin America is awash in weapons that were shipped there over the past several decades to supply the various insurgencies and counterinsurgencies in the region. When these military-grade weapons are combined with the rampant corruption in the region, they quickly find their way into the black arms market. The Mexican cartels have supply-chain contacts that help move narcotics to Mexico from South America and they are able to use this same network to obtain guns from the black market in South and Central America and then smuggle them into Mexico. While there are many weapons in this category that were manufactured in the United States, the overwhelming majority of the U.S.-manufactured weapons of this third type encountered in Mexico — like LAW rockets and M60 machine guns — come into Mexico from third countries and not directly from the United States.

There are also some cases of overlap between classes of weapons. For example, the FN Five-Seven pistol is available for commercial purchase in the United States, but the 5.7x28 armor-piercing ammunition for the pistol favored by the cartels is not — it is a restricted item. However, some of the special operations forces units in the Mexican military are issued the Five-Seven as well as the FN P90 personal defense weapon, which also shoots the 5.7x28 round, and the cartels are obtaining some of these weapons and the armor-piercing ammunition from them and not from the United States. Conversely, we see bulk 5.56 mm and 7.62 mm ammunition bought in the United States and smuggled into Mexico, where it is used in fully-automatic AK-47s and M16s purchased elsewhere. As noted above, China has become an increasingly common source for military weapons like grenades and fully automatic assault rifles in recent years.

To really understand Mexico's gun problem, however, it is necessary to recognize that the same economic law of supply and demand that fuels drug smuggling into the United States also fuels gun smuggling into Mexico. Black-market guns in Mexico can fetch up to 300 percent of their normal purchase price — a profit margin rivaling the narcotics the cartels sell. Even if it were somehow possible to hermetically seal the U.S.-Mexico border and shut off all the guns coming from the United States, the cartels would still be able to obtain weapons elsewhere — just as narcotics would continue to flow into the United States from other places. The United States does provide cheap and easy access to certain types of weapons and ammunition, but as demonstrated by groups such as the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia, weapons can be easily obtained from other sources via the black arms market — albeit at a higher price.

There has clearly been a long and well-documented history of arms smuggling across the U.S.-Mexico border, but it is important to recognize that, while the United States is a significant source of certain classes of weapons and ammunition, it is by no means the source of 90 percent of the weapons used by the Mexican cartels, as is commonly asserted.

I strongly disagree with this request for information. It completely violates the 2nd amendment of the constitution. The words "shall not be infringed" cannot be interpreted in any manner other than to not interfere AT ALL!

This will cause much undue paperwork and means of penalizing permitted sellers of arms who make any mistake miss any report. Do not enact this request.

Subject: Excessive, Unnecessary Regulation

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc.

2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Thank you

I am opposed to the notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

I am well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers.

I am writing on behalf of responsible retailers and owners of firearms to offer my comments on the proposed reporting of multiple sale or disposition of certain firearms. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives ("BATFE") is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

BATFE has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations. While I can appreciate that BATFE would like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico, lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for any U.S. law enforcement agency to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers.

Limiting or reporting sales of multiple "certain long guns" in the 4 states bordering Mexico isn't going to curb violence in Mexico. The proposed regulation won't be effective and is an example of government intrusion into our lives that isn't needed or wanted.

As long as the Mexican government, police and military are corrupt the availability of these weapons won't change.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Subject: Please OPPOSE the BATFE's proposal to report multiple sale of certain rifles

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Block ATF Long Gun Sales Reporting

Miss Terrell:

I am writing to give my thoughts on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

The reasons for that lack of authority are fully explained in the attached legal memorandum; but in short, the Congress has comprehensively defined what ATF may and may not require with respect to licensees' records. By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms. ATF seemed to understand that point when it responded in October to a recommendation for multiple long gun sales reporting by the Department of Justice Inspector General. ATF's comment on that recommendation was that it would "explore the full range of options" but that such a requirement "may require a change to the Gun Control Act."

These reports will be requested through "demand letters"—a mechanism that for many years had been used only to conduct firearm traces, to obtain aggregate manufacturing statistics, or to obtain contact information for buyers of certain firearms later declared to be subject to the National Firearms Act. Even when ATF began to use demand letters to seek a broader range of firearm transaction records, one court upholding that program cautioned that the demand letter statute "is not a limitless delegation of authority" and "cannot be construed in an open-ended fashion."

The scope of the proposed collection suggests in itself that the proposal exceeds ATF's statutory authority. The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States. A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide.

Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees. That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales.

The burden estimate in the proposal appears to assume that each licensee subject to a demand letter will respond once during the proposed duration of the program. Given the great variety in size and sales volume among the thousands of licensees in the border states, this seems unlikely.

Even if the burden estimate in the proposal is correct, it is unclear how ATF could make effective use of the large number of reports that would be generated. Recent media reports suggest that ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases." If processing thousands of additional mandatory reports takes even more resources away from investigating these suspicious transactions, the proposed information collection may be more harmful than helpful.

The NRA is well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the

Dear Ms. Terrel,

I am writing in regards to the ATF information collection request to the OMB (the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles"). As a law-abiding gun owner, I believe that this proposal exceeds the ATF's authority, and places an unwelcome burden on firearms dealers. The proposal is also costly and would create needless paperwork for firearms dealers. I ask that the ATF no longer demand long gun sales reporting.

Sincerely,

I protest this invasion of privacy and waste of taxpayer money. On November 2010, the U.S. Dept of Justice OIG reported the total waste of resources by the BATFE in trying to find fraud or a conduit to the drug cartels, and showed that single or small quantity purchases are not even worthwhile to the drug cartels.

The drug cartels are interested in fully automatic assault weapons, Rocket Propelled Grenades, and grenade launchers, not the type of rifles legally sold here in the United States.

Thank you for your comment regarding the 60-day emergency notice of information collection relating to ATF Form 3310.12 (Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles), published in the Federal Register on December 17, 2010. The Federal Register and supplement form may be found at:
<http://www.atf.gov/regulations-rulings/rulemakings/general-notices.html>

The primary purpose of this program is to improve law enforcement's ability to identify firearms traffickers, to disrupt the criminal activity and to stop deadly violence plaguing the southwest border States and Mexico. The multiple sales reports will apply only to rifles that are semi-automatic, greater than .22 caliber, and have the ability to accept a detachable magazine. Federal firearms licensees in the States of California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas will complete the forms for those transactions when an individual purchases two or more of these rifles within five business days. We intend to evaluate the results at the end of a 1 year pilot period.

As mentioned in the notice, if granted by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the emergency approval of the form is valid for 180 days. All comments received in response to the notice will be carefully considered and, if warranted, revisions to the form will be made.

Subject: Response to ATF Requiring Multiple Sales Reports for Long Guns

Dear Ms. Terrell:

I've been told that..... “the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) is moving to require federally licensed firearms retailers to report multiple sales of modern sporting rifles beginning January 5, 2011. Specifically, the ATF requirement calls for firearms retailers to report multiple sales, or other dispositions, of two or more .22 caliber or larger semi-automatic rifles that are capable of accepting a detachable magazine and are purchased by the same individual within five consecutive business days”.

It's hard to see exactly where the “emergency” is, and I oppose this reporting requirement because it further burdens America's law-abiding firearms retailers and owners with yet another onerous regulation that will do nothing to curb crime.

It seems to me that:

1. Long guns are rarely used in crime (Bureau of Justice Statistics).
2. Imposing multiple sales-reporting requirements for long guns would further add to the already extensive paperwork and record-keeping requirements burdening America's retailers – where a single mistake could cost them their license and even land them in jail.
3. Last year, ATF inspected 2,000 retailers in border states and only two licenses were revoked (0.1%). These revocations were for reasons unknown and could have had nothing to do with illicit trafficking of guns; furthermore, no dealers were charged with any criminal wrongdoing.
4. According to ATF, the average age of a firearm recovered in the United States is 11 years old. In Mexico it's more than 14 years old. This demonstrates that criminals are not using new guns bought from retailers in the states.
5. Congress, when it enacted multiple sales reporting for handguns, could have required multiple sales of long guns – it specifically chose not to.
6. Multiple sales reporting of long guns may will make it more difficult for licensed retailers to help law enforcement as traffickers modify their illegal schemes to circumvent the reporting requirement. Traffickers will go further underground, hiring more people to buy their firearms. This will make it much harder for retailers to identify and report suspicious behavior to law enforcement.

I stand in opposition to this expansion of firearm registration.

Sincerely Yours

December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.

I would just like to voice my concern over the ATF wanting long gun registration. I feel that this will not accomplish anything except giving a list to ATF of legal gun buyers and a opening to extend their authority even further.

There is a unjust reasoning behind this request by ATF and will not accomplish nothing except more paper work and more of a strain on already stretched resources.

There has been a report that ATF let weapons into Mexico to track who was using them. That act alone caused needless deaths. ATF is not responsible enough and can not be trusted with the kind of information they would get from having access to this kind of data.

They have shown that they are to irresponsible to have this kind of control over the people of the United States.

So I ask on behalf of the people of this great country that you do not give ATF this kind of authority. Secure our borders and the small amount of weapons they may get into Mexico will stop.

It's time to put a little bit of common sense in to this so called political correctness that has gotten out of hand. The citizens of the United States should come first. Not the people of other countries that have abused our generosity.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

As an Arizona citizen, it is critical to me that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books. An action like this could steal some of the thunder from my state's countersuit of the Justice Department on the basis of the government doing too little to protect the border.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels. It's time Congress also embraces future efforts of this Administration in this respect.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require gun dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books. And they must be ENABLED to do so. I am tired of violent crime being used as an excuse to erode civil rights and civil liberties for law-abiding people, while nothing gets done policy-wise and resource-wise to stop actual violent crime.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention. This is "terrorism", and "homeland security".

I am writing to comment on: The December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g) (3) (A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

Why is this NOT happening already? Doesn't someone buying a dozen or more assault weapons at once raise SOME kind of red flag?

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Many of us have been watching closely the actions and statements by The State Department, The Justice Department and the current administration. The "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles" is, quite simply put, illegal under current law. I am greatly relieved that my Governor, State Legislature, Congressman and Senator are in opposition to this attempt to diminish the rights of law abiding citizens. I strongly urge you to reconsider.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post: White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Subject: rifle information collection comments

Greetings, Ms. Terrell--

I am a voting voter and a firearms owner. I oppose the information collection proposed under:

ACTION: 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review:
Report of Multiple Sale or Other
Disposition of Certain Rifles.

I will tell you why I oppose it.

Since one of the reasons for the Second Amendment exists to oppose a tyrannical government, my Second Amendment rights would be infringed by providing any government with the type and location of any arms any citizen might own.

The proposed legislation would actually undermine citizens' ability to oppose any tyranny because that tyrant would know the type and location of any arms which might oppose such a government.

I oppose the proposed legislation.

Sincerely.

Subject: Response to BATFE proposal

To Whom It May Concern at the BATFE:

I am writing in response to the proposal made by the BATFE that firearms dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas be required to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. (see December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.")

This proposed requirement is injurious to our rights as American citizens, wasteful of our resources, and certain to be ineffective. Let's start with the latter issue.

- a) The idea that powerful Mexican drug gangs are buying semiautomatic rifles at gunshops in Texas, etc and then smuggling them across the border is absurd, and has already been disproved. The percentage of guns seized from Mexican drug gangs that can be traced back to the United States (as point of purchase) is tiny.
- b) This requirement would compel American gun dealers to fill out even more useless paperwork than they do today. This, of course, does not greatly disturb a federal agency, since it feeds off paperwork in the same way it feeds off the tax revenues paid into the federal trough. But enough is enough. It's high time we reduced the regulatory burdens placed on our citizens, including gun dealers, and ditching this proposal is an excellent place to start.
- c) This proposed requirement has little to do with keeping American guns out of Mexico, and much to do with keeping firearms in the US under the control of the organization the federal government loves best -- itself. It is a Fabian approach to achieving gun registration, by introducing it in a limited geographic area, and by appealing to public sentiment by appearing to target drug dealers. But the BATFE is no more interested in targeting Mexican drug gangs than the US federal government is serious about enforcing US immigration laws along our southern border. It is a canard, a smokescreen, nothing more.

The federal government, including even the BATFE, is obliged to follow, support and protect the US Constitution. As such, it should abstain from proposing regulations that are prejudicial to the rights of US citizens. And for that very reason, this proposal should be immediately withdrawn.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Hello,

When will the government learn that registering guns will only affect law abiding citizens. Criminals will still find ways to acquire the weapons they want. Therefore, creating this registry is only being done to make it easy for the government to someday confiscate firearms from American citizens.

You ought to be ashamed of this practice.

I should think that, in our country's present fiscal condition, all citizens, whether government employed or not, would agree that any new regulation must meet very stringent requirements of immediate necessity, not the wishes of a few uninformed politicians or activists.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

I refer you to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

Therefore, I am asking you to seriously consider opposing this outrageous critically important issue of: the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

I am outraged at the attempts by our Federal Government to so limit the freedom of gun ownership in our great nation.

I and many many others (a majority) are 'fed-up' with government impositions that choke down the purchase and use of hunting and self-defense weapons we the citizenry have been afforded by the great formers of this nation.

I am a hunter of small and big game here in the great state of New Mexico. I eat what I shoot and don't harvest game that I don't eat.

I adamantly care about my hunting privileges and right to bear arms for either hunting or self-defense. In addition...I am 'partial-paraplegic' due to a spinal injury and I have no intention of being high-jacked, car-jacked or jacked around by any criminal element (person) without thoughtfully resorting to self-defense using full force bodily harm (if need be) to the perpetrator(s) who attempts to kill, mane, destroy or steel from me.

In saying that, you truly get my point about how important my second amendment rights are to me and to the majority of US Citizens. I fully intend to oppose, by voting out or rightfully protest against any federal government office management or department head officer that attempts to TAKE AWAY OR REWRITE MY SECOND AMENDMENT RIGHTS.

Thank you for your attention in this matter.

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Dear Ms. R Terrell

I am writing in reference to the request by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives to institute a mandatory Long rifle sales reporting in our boarder state with Mexico.

While I understand that the ATF is trying to stem the tide of violence along the border, I believe that this request is not legal under the Gun Control Act which specifically limits gun sale reports to hand guns. Additionally monitoring, processing and fallow up on these purchases that will prove to be made by law abiding citizens will be a waste of scarce resources. So far every gun that has been recovered in Mexico traced back to the US, which is small percentage of all guns recovered, have been purchased legally and then stolen to end up in the hands of the Drug Cartels. The ATF's focus should be on the sales of large numbers of weapons and not that of few two gun purchases to law abiding American Citizens.

I live in Texas and this policy will directly affect me as law abiding American Citizen, Patriot and Armed Forces Veteran. Do you really want to know when I purchase two guns within a week of each other? That is like the local cops doing a back ground check on me because a made a $5000 dollar withdrawal while the Bank launders $1,000,000 dollars in the back room. Let's focus our Countries scares resources where they will do the most good.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

The BATFE has issued a proposal requiring FFLs in states bordering Mexico to report sales of two or more rifles which are semi-automatic, .22 caliber or greater, have a detachable magazine, and are purchased by the same person within five (5) consecutive days. I strongly oppose this proposal because it violates the 2nd amendment rights of residents in those states.

“The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives, on December 17, promulgated a "60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection" -- in which it proposes to repeal, by administrative fiat, those portions of the McClure-Volkmer Act prohibiting the establishment of a national gun registry.

The new proposed rule will, for the first time, establish the precedent that licensed firearms dealers will be required to report to the government the sale of two or more semi-automatic rifles that are .22 caliber or greater, can accept a detachable magazine, and are purchased by the same person within five business days.”

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

get rid of this ridiculous rule.

Subject: Regarding December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

To Whom it may concern,

I am writing in regards to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

I am opposed to the proposed regulation for several reasons:

- 1- This regulation appears to be outside the bounds of current laws
- 2- This regulation appears to place an undo burden on firearms dealers which will harm the gun rights of law abiding citizens
- 3- This regulation will do nothing to stop purchases by people not eligible to purchase a firearm, to criminals, or to people wishing to smuggle firearms to Mexico, its apparent intent (ATF already cannot effectively use the tools already at its disposal to address this issue, besides the fact that criminals can and do purchase any type of firearm or war implement they care to on the international black market. Smuggling is so endemic that litterally thousands of tons of illegal drugs already move through Mexico each year. All a criminal has to do is hide a weapon inside a package of cocaine and the weapon will enter Mexico.)
- 4- This regulation appears to be discriminatory in its nature, against only a portion of the country. Investigate unscroupulous dealers and do not burden law abiding dealers.

ATF already has the tools to stop illegal firearms sales, it should focus on these tools to pursue crime and not burden the citizenry with further laws aimed at diminishing the gun rights for law abiding citizens.

Sincerely,
Michael Palma

stop the federal government's plan to register Americans' gun purchases.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. For example, a dealer would have to tell the government every time a deer hunter in Sacramento or Amarillo finds a good deal on a pair of semi-auto .30-06s like the popular Remington 7400.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

Thankyou,

U.S. Senator to ATF: Are You Negligent in the Death of a US Border Patrol Agent?

Illinois Gun

<http://www.infowars.com/u-s-senator-to-atf-are-you-negligent-in-the-death-of-a-us-border-patrol-agent/>
February 3, 2011

What started out as an internet rumor in a forum for disgruntled ATF employees over problems with the ATF operation "Project Gunrunner" has now been picked up by Republican Senator Charles Grassley of Iowa and maybe on its way to becoming a full blown scandal.

In a January 27, 2011 letter to Kenneth Melson Acting Director of the ATF, Senator Grassley said that members of the Senate Judiciary Committee had received numerous allegations that the ATF sanctioned the sale of hundreds of weapons to suspected straw purchasers who then allegedly transported those weapons throughout the southwest border and into Mexico.

Grassley said in his letter; I am specifically writing you concerning an ATF operation called "Project Gunrunner". There are serious concerns that the ATF may have become careless, if not negligent, in implementing the Gunrunner strategy.

One of those Allegations, is that an individual was allowed to make a cash purchase of three firearms in Glendale, Arizona on January 16, 2010. Two of those firearms were later alleged to have been used in the murder of U.S. Border Patrol Agent Brian Terry on December 14, 2010.

On January 31, 2011 Grassley wrote a second letter to Acting ATF Director Melson this time excoriating him on the conduct of Assistant Special Agent in Charge of the ATF's Phoenix office over the questioning of one of the individuals that had spoken to Senators Grassley's Staff concerning "Project Gunrunner"

Grassley informed the Director that Whistleblowers are some of the most patriotic people I know.

He further reminded the Director that obstructing a Congressional investigation is a crime. Additionally, denying or interfering with employees' right to furnish information to Congress is also against the law. Federal officials who deny or interfere with employees' rights to furnish information to Congress are not entitled to have their salaries paid by taxpayers' dollars. Finally, ATF personnel have Constitutional rights to express their concerns to Congress under the first amendment.

When the story first came to light it was thought to be hoax, but second amendment writer David Codrea decided to investigate the claims; what he found was some startling revelations.

Chatter in the forum at www.CleanUpATF.org claimed the ATF "Walked" over 500 AR type guns into Mexico with the knowledge of the ATF Phoenix office.

The guns in question were said to be from Tucson and Phoenix cases and were “Walked” to Mexico without the knowledge of the Mexican government.

However as the story progressed Sources came forward and were willing to provide testimony and documentation supporting the original accusations provided they received Whistle Blower Protection. That’s what prompted contact with Staffers of Senator Grassley and others in the Senate Judicial Committee.

Jeff Knox another respected second amendment writer has also picked up the story and is asking the questions, did the ATF smuggle guns to Mexico to justify its budget and could this be the end of the ATF if the link to the border agent’s death are true?

The ATF has a history of corruption and abuse. The memory of Ruby Ridge and WACO is still in the hearts and minds of many Americans and if this latest scandal is proven to be true then its time for Congress to make a decision on the future of this rogue agency.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

I am writing to oppose the information collection request to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010–31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This information collection is both illegal and unnecessary. Furthermore, there is no justification for any “emergency” implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

'White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico', Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

- 1) There is no provision to get one’s name off of the list even
- 2) There is no clear cut definition of “certain types of firearms”
- 3) There is no authority for the BATFE to do this
- 4) No other individual constitutional right is so tightly regulated as the right to keep and bear arms the people do not need or want more regulations.
- 5) As this is supposedly an emergency rule to stop gun flow to Mexico’ efforts would be better directed at the BATFE to keep them from requiring border state FFLs to conduct suspicious transactions.

There is a grave potential for this information collection to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of “information collection” is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms gun sales into Mexico must be stopped so the violence does not spill over into the US.

To the Honorable Kentucky Representatives

I urge all of you to stop this planned action.

I like most other Ky. citizens view this as nothing more than backdoor registration of firearms and our current administrations attempt to blame Mexico's Drug problem and Corruption on America and its people rather than laying the blame on the corruption of the Mexican Government by the Drug Cartels.

I have watched our National media eagerly exploiting their biased views on this subject for months now with utter dismay. Their constant twisting of statics to try to prove that all of Mexico's Drug violence is the result of Firearms dealers in 4 southwestern states is ludicrous.

Ms. Terrell;

Here is my copy of my message to my representatives in office. I am encouraging the NRA to pursue all actions to keep this from happening.

Seems that government has decided to overstep its bounds once again. Deciding to report the long arm sales in select states or any state is an issue that I take offense at. As a retired military member it appears that you wish to decrease my liberties and advance in the same way the French and the other European nations did prior to WWII. Due to their "diligence" the Germans knew just who had what weapons and where to go get them. If you are concerned about Homeland security, and truly wish to protect your citizens, listen to them. They want a secure border and the immigration laws enforced. Remove illegal immigrants and pursue the threats to the nation. Not your self conceived ideas of "Utopia". Anyone who allows this "decree" to proceed unchallenged is not listening to their constituents and need to be removed from office and allow true representation.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

In refernce to the 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles. I have reviewed the notice and the National Rifle Associations' (NRA) response, and I support the comments submitted by the NRA. I also feel that those who purchase firearms legally should not be subjected to scrutiny that is a result of illegal activity. I believe that a more agressive approach in enforcing current laws and much stronger measures to secure the border would eliminate a need to implement information collection. Stopping the influx of drug smuggling and illegal imigration is the remedy. The notice to collect information is only dealing with a symptom and provides no solution to the real problem.

Why Would you request such a requirement when you and the rest of the Feds know the arms entering Mexico are Chinese or Russian made. It is obvious that most people in Washington are undermining the Constitution of the United States of America and furthermore wish to destroy the rights of law abiding citizens of the United States of America. Your attempt to regulate firearms will not be useful and not guarantee your security or ours.

As a citizen of these United States of America I ask you to Rescind any an all future regulations restricting long rifle sales to American citizens.

A focus on investigations of threats to bordering states of Mexico or US citizens by islam would prove a more plausible solution.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

This is ridiculous. It is just another anti-gun proposal. Another foot-in-the-door. What else could be accomplished by this proposal.

To Ms.Barbara Terrell, Firearms Industry Programs Branch, it is not legal for the federal government to ask, excuse me, demand that store/shop owners report to them. This is business on a state level. The government is always trying to take more and more control out of the hands of the people. this is just one more way they waste money and precious time fighting and petitioning for rights that are of those, We the People!! The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports. Please fight for the American hunter, marksman, avid shooter and every American who has the right to bear arms. This is ridiculous. Regarding the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles," ATF does not have the authority to ask for this collection of information. This will not deter anyone who is going to obtain guns for illegal purposes. Lawlessness in Mexico by multi-billion dollar drug cartels will not be deterred because they can purchase guns on international black markets. Besides the US government paid drug dealers from Mexico a lot of taxpayer money and put two Border Guards doing their job in jail.

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Fw: Opposed to Emergency Regulation

Dear BATFE:

I am opposed to the so called emergency regulation to registering multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>

).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Hell-o and good day Ms. Terrell. Regarding this "LONG GUN SALES REPORTING" requirement, I understand that you are trying to quell the "Mass" exodus of firearms from the United States to other countries, I.E. Mexico. How about your agency along with all of the other law enforcement agencies doing your job and not putting the excuses of you ineptness on the lack of laws already being (enforced)? In other words GET OFF YOUR BUTTS AND GET TO WORK!!!! Stop messing with the Constitutional Rights of LAW ABIDING CITIZENS of this American Republic!! Just do your job! Re: Federal Register Notice of December 17, 2010 (Volume 75, Number 242, Page 79021), 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing on behalf of the National Rifle Association of America, Inc. (NRA), to offer our comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

The reasons for that lack of authority are fully explained in the attached legal memorandum; but in short, the Congress has comprehensively defined what ATF may and may not require with respect to licensees' records. By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms. ATF seemed to understand that point when it responded in October to a recommendation for multiple long gun sales reporting by the Department of Justice Inspector General. ATF's comment on that recommendation was that it would "explore the full range of options" but that such a requirement "may require a change to the Gun Control Act."

These reports will be requested through "demand letters"—a mechanism that for many years had been used only to conduct firearm traces, to obtain aggregate manufacturing statistics, or to obtain contact information for buyers of certain firearms later declared to be subject to the National Firearms Act. Even when ATF began to use demand letters to seek a broader range of firearm transaction records, one court upholding that program cautioned that the demand letter statute "is not a limitless delegation of authority" and "cannot be construed in an open-ended fashion."²

The scope of the proposed collection suggests in itself that the proposal exceeds ATF's statutory authority. The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States.³ A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide.⁴ Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees. That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales.

The burden estimate in the proposal appears to assume that each licensee subject to a demand letter will respond once during the proposed duration of the program. Given the great variety in size and sales volume among the thousands of licensees in the border states, this seems unlikely.

Even if the burden estimate in the proposal is correct, it is unclear how ATF could make effective use of the large number of reports that would be generated. Recent media reports suggest that ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases."⁵ If processing thousands of additional mandatory reports takes even more resources away from investigating these suspicious transactions, the proposed information collection may be more harmful than helpful.

The NRA is well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers.

Therefore, OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information. If you have any questions about our comments, please do not hesitate to contact my office.

Mrs. Terrell,

As a citizen living in New Mexico and a gun owner who buys about 12 guns a year just like the ones you will be reporting. I am not happy that I will be singled out and have the potential of some Law man wanting to get into my business, Let me say it is wrong. The hell with Mexico. I will not take it kindly when some person comes to my home asking about guns. I have the right to own any legal gun and have as many as I want. This is nothing more than profiling. I work for the DOD, have security clearances. I am not a law breaker. But if the ATF wishes to get into my business without a valid reason with proof of wrong doing I will do what is needed to stop you.. It is not any of your business what I own .

Subject: Comments on ATF authority in regards to:December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

Ms Terrell,

It has come to my attention the ATF desires a broad reporting of multiple sales of guns and according to decisions already affirmed by Congress and the judiciary to not be within the scope of the ATF's authority. Please be advised that this appears to be another quest to register firearms of law abiding citizens and further pursue the quest to bar law abiding citizens from exercising their 2nd amendment rights. It would seem prudent for the ATF to fully understand that those "illegal" dealers/owners will not acknowledge this requirement, will blatantly by their actions refuse to submit such reports just as they do now, so the guise of tracking firearms that would be used for illegal activities is just that a guise for control over legal citizens rights to own and bear arms. Your agency is already unable to meet the demands of the reports dealers currently sent in, therefore, it would be by arbitrary actions that ATF would pinpoint specific dealers who were not conforming to these new rules which ATF does not have the authority to implement. There are quite enough regulations in place to cover this therefore it is safe for me to assume there is an underlying force to further restrict law abiding citizens from selling and owning firearms. Persons who desire to act in an illegal fashion will not/do not follow the rules now in place so the only affect this will have is on law abiding citizens both in sales and ownership. Stop your redundant ambiguous regulatory quest and do the job you are hired to do in an efficient manner and quit attempting to redefine the 2nd amendment or protect the citizens by diminishing those rights already in place and thwarting the ATF's ability to efficiently function within the guidelines already set forth.

Sincerely,

Please read the statement below. This is the thoughts of over 70% of Americans.

If you're one of the nearly 71 million Americans who live in the four southwest border states, some of your gun purchases could soon be reported to the federal government. And whether you live in one of those states or elsewhere, your help is needed now to stop the federal government's plan to register Americans' gun purchases.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. For example, a dealer would have to tell the government every time a deer hunter in Sacramento or Amarillo finds a good deal on a pair of semi-auto .30-06s like the popular Remington 7400.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

Unfortunately, there are only a few days left to comment on this proposal. Comments will be accepted until Monday, February 14.

I WILL NOT GIVE UP MY RIGHTS FOR ANYONE OR ANY REASON just because the government don't want to do there rightful and correct job the way they are suppose to be doing it, check the records were the are law abiding gun owners in neighborhoods there is very little to no crimes but where there is no gun owners there is all kind of crimes happening every minute. Maam I am a Licensd concealed carrier and I don't leave home without my sidearm so that I can and will protect my family in whatever means that I have to and there are many other gun owners that feel and will do the same as I will do to protect my family or myself, tell the ATF and the DOJ to just worry about doing there job and doing it the right and proper way and quit worrying about stripping America of there rights.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

I wish to pen my opposition to your plan to register long gun sales. Again as always, these plans accomplish nothing but add fuel to a growing fire caused in most part to these suppressive gun laws. Even the FBI and probably your own statistic show a decrease in violence when laws are relaxed. You should try to design your efforts around what work.

If you are trying to curb sales abroad i.e. Mexico, I believe your stings have already failed to show anything but your own planted weapons showed up in any "busts". They come from international arms dealers. So again, I fail to see what you are trying to accomplish.

Please cease this idea of what amounts to a national gun registration program.

As a law abiding citizen I believe what you are trying to do in CA, NM, AZ & TX, to make the 8500 lawful gun-dealers report all sales of long guns of larger than 22 caliber, is wrong. I should be allowed to purchase as many rifles as I want. I believe that if we would control the border as we should, we wouldn't be having to discuss this problem. Don't miss understand me, our Border Patrol Officers are doing as good a job as they can. They are being ham-strung by our Congressmen, Senators and our President. Subject: Regulation proposal

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

To Whom It May Concern,

As usual the government is inept in it's sworn duties so they propose new regulations which doesn't deal with the people committing the crimes, just what their political compass can enable them to do. If congress hasn't given the BATF the legal authority to track long guns then they are not entitled to do so..

Here in Virginia there was a murder committed by an illegal immigrant who was suppose to be deported nearly ten years ago. So again your proposals only attack the sitting targets, the very ones complying with the law.

The only purpose for your collecting this info is political and when you find out that it wasn't enough to stop a particular crime then of coarse you will propose something more invasive.

I suggest no to this proposal.

I am greatly concerned about an attempt by your agency to collect information on multiple gun purchases in the southwest corridor. The paperwork and reporting that would have to be compiled by small businesses is just one more attempt to create a central database on legal gun owners. I understand your desire to stop illegal guns from going to Mexico, which I understand about 5 percent of those guns come from the US. Once again I say if you ban guns the only folks who have guns will be the criminal element, criminals don't abide by rules. Your agency's best effort is to prosecute those few criminals that are doing this and to let honest citizens enjoy their second amendment right as set forth by the Heller and McDonald cases and many more. I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

I understand the agency is seeking commentary from, among other, members of the tax-paying public on this proposed emergency data collection measure. Your request asked commentators to address four issues regarding this data collection; thus, I offer the following comments.

A--Comments regarding enhancing the performance of the ATF because of utility of information collected:

-I understand the ATF already receives these data from dealers, even when a suspicious but otherwise legal transaction occurs. What does the ATF do with these data currently, and why does the ATF feel like it needs redundant collection efforts? Answer those questions prior to creating another hoop to jump through.

-This extra collection effort will actually HINDER the ATF from performing more effectively because it will utilize two or more times the same resources to come up with the same/similar conclusions through redundant data analysis.

-BTW... do you have the right, legally, do create all this extra work for everyone? Who made the ATF the judge and jury on this?

B--Comments regarding accuracy of the estimates of the burden placed on respondents who collect this information:

-Get real. The ATF, especially its corporate structure in Washington, DC, is primarily a government bureaucracy. When has a government agency ever correctly estimated the burden of anything--especially when it's somebody else's time/money.

-If you want to think accuracy of time and costs, please refer to the other bureaucracies down the Avenue, such as the Social Security Administration and the Medicare bureaucracy. If you need more references to check from, let me know. To think the ATF is "special" and has an inside line on crystal-ball predictions, go into private industry and become a billionaire. They have cheap property for rent along the boarder with Mexico if you're looking for warehouse space with subterranean storage.

C--Comments regarding ATF's ability to "enhance" the quality of information being collected:

-First of all, you don't "enhance" facts without distorting them. Data are data. What makes your guys who make the pie charts think they can enhance anything. What I usually see occurring is a severe distortion of facts to fit a certain agenda--the "flavor of the month" approach to fact-sharing and, in itself, a criminal act. And, as you well know, anyone can massage facts and "prove" anything.

D--Comments regarding mimizing the burden of submitting information by respondents:

-Do not make any dealer prepare/submit anything other than what they already provide. Instead, look for ways to use the same information already on hand and/or reduce the reporting requirements.

-Start working with dealers, and quit treating them like they're criminals. Some of your field guys shouldn't be allowed to interact with the general public.

-Stop treating the 99.99% of us law-abiding citizens (who already comply with all these frikkin' laws) like we're a criminal in the making. If someone goes to the trouble of buying through a FFL dealer, it probably means they're legit. Go after the non-complying element (the other .01%) of society who wouldn't dare fill out an ATF form. I don't care how you do it so long as a)the action's justified, and b)it doesn't stomp on the rights of others.

And, while you're at it, talk with your superiors about having Congress repeal most of the firearms control laws. Yea, really.

Any idiot (and perhaps, even some politicians) knows that the criminal element in society will ALWAYS work outside the law to achieve its means. So it doesn't matter how many laws you pass. Thus, these useless laws curtailing the rights of ordinary Americans to own/possess firearms for their own personal safety only INCREASES the work of the ATF by creating more "criminals by legislation" to try and monitor. Understand??

I'll bring it home to you this way--thirty years ago, I would have stopped in traffic to help a policeman or another person who was being assaulted and probably about to be murdered. Now I won't. The difference? Thirty years ago, I had no fear of keeping a loaded pistol in my glove box, and I knew that the "little friends" might help me (or some other innocent party) live to see another day... something I was taught from an early age.

Now, I'd be an instant criminal if, while retrieving my registration from the glovebox on a routine traffic stop (for a taillight that's burned out?-yes, could happen) a policeman saw a pistol in that glovebox. Hell, I'd probably be shot on the spot... Oh, what were you saying about MY public safety? Sure.

Tell those misguided individuals in their corner offices to quit trying to count beans, increase their budget for next year, and start utilizing resources that will increase cooperation with your "front lines"--the dealers whose throat you currently cram paperwork down on a regular basis.

You might be surprised at the results.

I understand the reason you all want to have firearms registered in the border states is to keep illegals from purchasing them, well that's not a bad thought , however it infringes on the rights of the citizens when you do that. Here is a better resolve to the problem,arrest all of the illegals and ship them back to wherever they came from and then enforce the border so they don't get back in, which is what we need to do anyway.You would probably make the citizens a lot happier if we just enforced the laws that are already on the books.

1. As a gun owner and having used the ATF forms many times, I see no practical value in adding or attempting to add monitoring of long gun purchases. The proposal invites abuse as a knowledgeable buyer could simply wait the additional day or purchase from multiple dealers (assuming he even used legal means) and not honestly admit to multiple purchase. This would at worst encourage public distrust of lawful purchases and further erode the already tarnished image of the ATF. This exercise therefore has no practical utility when applied to legitimate buyers that are utilizing dealers for purchase.

2. The assumption of any number of hours is grossly underestimated as all gun purchases would need to be examined and cross checked to determine what was really happening. The burden is both excessive and unreasonable as there is no crime to tie this to.

3. The quality of information collected will be of very limited use. The simple majority of arms that end up being used illegally is very small, with the smallest portion being traceable back to the actual primary purchaser. (FBI & ATF stats)

4. I question both the burden as calculated and the lack of a NEPA or other study to reflect the accuracy of the assumption. The burden would no doubt fall on local law enforcement to report on gun purchase records in their area. As most SW police units will no doubt state, they will not make this a priority and you will be lucky to get this information annually. Forcing gun dealers to report will cause lots of unintended problems.

Thank you for this opportunity to comment.

PS: If you really want to make a difference, offer a bounty to the public for information and capture of guns in the hands of felons. Such a move may inspire a bit of support from legal gun owners and curb gun theft.

Your comments should address one or more of the following points:

—Evaluate whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information will have practical utility;

—Evaluate the accuracy of the agencies estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;

—Enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and

—Minimize the burden of the collection of information on those who are to respond, including through the use of appropriate automated, electronic, mechanical, or other technological collection techniques or other forms of information technology,

e.g., permitting electronic submission of responses.

Using the ATF website to review posted gun control legislation, I can find no authority for the ATF to require gun dealers to "...report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine."

As such, I will be requesting that my Congressional representatives in Washington open a full and in-depth investigation into identifying who within the ATF, Department of Justice and/or other Executive Branch agencies is guilty of attempting to circumvent the rule of law by ignoring existing legislation that prohibits this type of reporting for anything other than handguns.

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

We are all well aware that ATF wishes to take strong steps to address the drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets is no excuse for requiring U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend already scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers. Therefore, I strongly urge OMB to deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of new reporting requirements. Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Dear Ms. Terrell

I am a member of NRA and GOA and I happen to agree with the purposed legislation. I would purpose one small change, and that would be to increase the number of rifles purchased to three. My only reason for this is that my girlfriend are firearm aficionados and I from time purchase us new weapons (two at a time) as a surprise for her. Several of my friends have expressed similar concerns. I will be the first to admit that preventing criminal types from buying in bulk would justify a little Inconvenience.

Just a thought, Thank you.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

It is a shame that there is so much violence in Mexico. But the notion that this violence is significantly supported by the legal sale and subsequent transfer of firearms purchases in the states located in the Southwest US is without factual basis. So the proposed solution of registering all sales of 2 or more guns is not actually a solution to the violence in Mexico. Even worse, this proposal is recommending an assault on the constitutional rights of US citizens.

The proposed Long Gun Sales Reporting should NOT move forward.

Hi, I would like express my opposition to this proposal on the following grounds.

You state in the section ,” Overview of This Information Collection” specifically item(4), “Abstract:
The information collection is needed to determine whether firearms, ammunition and implements of war are eligible for importation into the United States.

You further state, “ The purpose of the information is to require Federal Firearms Licensees to report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

The requirements you propose to implement as stated in the third paragraph above does not, in any way shape form or fashion contribute to your stated objective in the second paragraph above.

Consequently, the proposed collection of information is not necessary for the performance of your stated objective in the second paragraph above, hence it is not necessary for the performance of the function of the agency.

I also object on the legality of imposing this information collection on any entity that is a party to a transaction that does not qualify as interstate commerce.

I also object on the grounds that your estimate of the total public burden is not accurate in that you fail to consider the effect on legal purchasers of said firearms which are part of the commerce to which you propose to obtain this information.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing on behalf of the National Rifle Association of America, Inc. (NRA), to offer our comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

The reasons for that lack of authority are fully explained in the attached legal memorandum; but in short, the Congress has comprehensively defined what ATF may and may not require with respect to licensees' records. By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms. ATF seemed to understand that point when it responded in October to a recommendation for multiple long gun sales reporting by the Department of Justice Inspector General. ATF's comment on that recommendation was that it would "explore the full range of options" but that such a requirement "may require a change to the Gun Control Act."

These reports will be requested through "demand letters"—a mechanism that for many years had been used only to conduct firearm traces, to obtain aggregate manufacturing statistics, or to obtain contact information for buyers of certain firearms later declared to be subject to the National Firearms Act. Even when ATF began to use demand letters to seek a broader range of firearm transaction records, one court upholding that program cautioned that the demand letter statute "is not a limitless delegation of authority" and "cannot be construed in an open-ended fashion."²

The scope of the proposed collection suggests in itself that the proposal exceeds ATF's statutory authority. The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States.³ A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide.⁴

Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees. That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales.

The burden estimate in the proposal appears to assume that each licensee subject to a demand letter will respond once during the proposed duration of the program. Given the great variety in size and sales volume among the thousands of licensees in the border states, this seems unlikely.

Even if the burden estimate in the proposal is correct, it is unclear how ATF could make effective use of the large number of reports that would be generated. Recent media reports suggest that ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases."⁵ If processing thousands of additional mandatory reports takes even more resources away from investigating these suspicious transactions, the proposed information collection may be more harmful than helpful.

The NRA is well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers. Therefore, OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information

ATF HAS NO AUTHORITY TO IMPOSE MULTIPLE SALES REPORTING FOR RIFLES

The December 17, 2010 "Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles" does not indicate the statutory authority upon which ATF relies for its proposed multiple sales reporting requirement. However, a statement by ATF Deputy Director Kenneth Melson posted online at www.atf.gov indicates that licensees will be sent "demand letters" seeking the information. This memorandum explains why ATF's "demand letter" authority does not authorize the proposed collection.

The statutory authority for "demand letters" is 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(5)(A), which provides:

Each licensee shall, when required by letter issued by the Attorney General, and until notified to the contrary in writing by the Attorney General, submit on a form specified by the Attorney General, for periods and at the times specified in such letter, all record information required to be kept by this chapter or such lesser record information as the Attorney General in such letter may specify.

In determining whether § 923(g)(5)(A) authorizes ATF to require the reporting of multiple sales of certain rifles, its words "must be read in their context and with a view to their place in the overall statutory scheme." Davis v. Michigan Dept. of Treasury, 489 U.S. 803, 809 (1989). More recently, the Supreme Court has explained:

In determining whether Congress has specifically addressed the question at issue, a reviewing court should not confine itself to examining a particular statutory provision in isolation. The meaning—or ambiguity—of certain words or phrases may only become evident when placed in context.... A court must therefore interpret the statute "as a symmetrical and coherent regulatory scheme," . . . and "fit, i f possible, all parts into an harmonious whole"

FDA v. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., 529 U.S. 120, 133 (2000)(citations omitted).

InMastro Plastics Corp. v. Labor Board, 350 U.S. 270, 285 (1956), the Court rejected an interpretation of a statute which read words in isolation:

I f the above words are read in complete isolation from their context in the Act, such an interpretation is possible. However, "In expounding a statute, we must not be guided by a single sentence or member of a sentence, but look to the provisions of the whole law, and to its object and policy." (citations omitted).

350 U.S. at 285.

Thus, in determining the scope of ATF's authority under § 923(g)(5)(A), not only must § 923(g)(5)(A) itself be considered, but other statutory provisions must be considered to ascertain Congress' intent and give effect to the legislative will. Philbrook v. Glodgett, All U.S. 707, 713 (1975).

With respect to multiple sales reporting, Congress has already expressly addressed this question. 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) provides:

(A) Each licensee shall prepare a report of multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of, at one time or during any five consecutive business days, two or more pistols, or revolvers, or any combination of pistols and revolvers totalling two or more, to an unlicensed person. The report shall be prepared on a form specified by the Attorney General and forwarded to the office specified thereon and to the department of State police or State law enforcement agency of the State or local law enforcement agency of the local jurisdiction in which the sale or other disposition took place, not later than the close of business on the day that the multiple sale or other disposition occurs.

It is well-established that "a statute ought, upon the whole, to be so construed that, i f it can be prevented, no clause, sentence, or word shall be superfluous, void, or insignificant." Duncan v. Walker, 533 U.S. 167, 174 (2001) (internal quotation marks omitted).

I f § 923(g)(5)(A) authorizes ATF to require the reporting of multiple sales of certain rifles, § 923(g)(3)(A) is rendered superfluous and insignificant because ATF could use the authority of § 923(g)(5)(A) to require the submission of reports of multiple handgun sales. That Congress deemed necessary the enactment of § 923(g)(3)(A) reveals that Congress did not intend that § 923(g)(5)(A) have the broad reach ascribed to it by ATF.

Further, "[w]hen a statute limits a thing to be done in a particular mode, it includes a negative of any other mode." Christensen v. Harris County, 529 U.S. 576, 583 (2000). Here, Congress expressly limited multiple sales reporting to pistols and revolvers, thereby negating multiple sales reporting of certain rifles.

The legislative history of § 923(g)(5)(A) confirms that Congress did not intend that § 923(g)(5)(A) would be used to require reporting of multiple sales reporting of certain rifles.

See also Bulova Watch Co. v. United States, 365 U.S. 753, 758 (1961) ("It is familiar law that a specific statute controls over a general one").

The original demand letter regulation (27 C.F.R. § 178.126) was promulgated under, and became effective on the same date as, the Gun Control Act of 1968, December 16, 1968. § 105(a), P.L. 90-618, 82 Stat. 1213 (1968); 33 F.R. 18555, 18556 (Dec. 14, 1968). Harold Serr, Director of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, wrote to Senator Frank Church on December 17, 1968:

[U]nder no circumstances does the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division intend to require licensed firearms dealers to submit all records of firearms transactions to a central location. This would be in effect gun registration and the Congress clearly showed its desires in this area when gun legislation was voted on.

131 Cong. Rec. S9129 (July 9, 1985).

Serr wrote that the demand letter regulation would be used "when we become aware of violations of the law by an unscrupulous dealer." Id. An example would be a dealer illegally selling handguns to out-of-state residents who stated that "they could give him any name they chose." In such a situation, "we would require the dealer to submit records of his sales, not for the purpose of registration, but for the purpose of proceeding against the dealer for a criminal violation of the law." Id. Serr emphasized, however, that ATF had "no intention of requiring law-abiding gun dealers to report their firearms transactions to us." Id.

Section 103 of FOP A, 100 Stat. 454, amended § 923(g)(1)(A) to provide that licensees "shall not be required to submit to the Secretary reports . . . except as expressly required by this section." Such records "include, for instance, multiple sales reports and certain informational reports used in connection with tracing." S.Rep. 98-583, at 15.

"See, e.g., proposed 18 U.S.C. 923(g)(4) and (5), discussed in more detail infra." Id. n.32.

Subparagraph (4) would be enacted as the demand letter provision. § 103 of FOP A, 100 Stat. 455. That provision "is based on existing Treasury regulations describing activities which facilitate the Secretary's ability to trace the disposition of firearms in connection with criminal investigations." S.Rep. 98-583, at 17. The report continues:

Subparagraph (5) would be enacted as § 923(g)(3), which provides that a licensee shall report to the Secretary the sale of two or more handguns in a five-day period.

In 1994, Congress enacted § 923(g)(7), which created an explicit duty of a licensee to respond to a trace request, "orally or in writing, as the Attorney General may require" within 24 hours and authorized the Attorney General to make such requests by telephone. A trace request pursuant to § 923(g)(7) was, however, only for the purpose of "determining the disposition of 1 or more firearms in the course of a bona fide criminal investigation."

The purpose of Paragraph (4) is to clarify and ensure the Secretary's authority to conduct legitimate tracing activities in connection with bona fide criminal investigations. The authority granted to the Secretary under this Paragraph is intended to provide access to all information legitimately needed in sensitive criminal investigations, such as the investigation of President Reagan's attempted assassination. However, because of the breadth of the authority granted, limitations on the use of such information, which do not exist under current regulations, were included to restrict any potential for the abuse of the rights of law-abiding licensees.

Id. at 18.

The use of § 923(g)(5)(A) in relation to traces would be limited not only to "bona fide criminal investigations," but would be further confined by what would be enacted as § 926(a).

As the Senate report, which referred to the demand-letter provision as the "tracing provision[]" further explained:

The multiple sales, out-of-business records, and tracing provisions, which, in certain respects, codify existing regulations, were included in the Committee amendment to achieve an appropriate balance between legitimate law enforcement needs and the Committee's determination to substantially restrict the circumstances under which inspections are authorized. This, in turn, reduces the potential for unwarranted intrusions into the business affairs of law-abiding licensees. However,... the authority granted under 18 U.S.C. 923(g) (3), (4) and (5), as well as that contained in paragraph (1), as amended, are not to be construed to authorize the United States . . . to use the information obtained from any records or form which are required to be maintained for inspection or submission by licensees under Chapter 44 to establish any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or dispositions.

Id. at 18.

§ 926(a) provides in part that the Attorney General may not promulgate a "rule or regulation" which would:

require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States

Specifically, § 106 of FOP A, 100 Stat. 459-60, amended § 926(a) to prohibit BATF from requiring that licensee records "be recorded at or transferred to" a government facility or establishing any registration system, but allowing the authority to conduct traces "in the course of a criminal investigation." The report states that "this 'tracing' authority is codified in the Committee's amendment," obviously referring to what would be enacted as § 923(g)(5)(A). Senate Report 98-583 at 27.

Senator Orrin Hatch, floor manager of FOP A, explained of the demand letter regulation: "The Senate bill explicitly codifies regulations permitting tracing of firearms used in crimes." 132 Cong. Rec. S5351 (May 6, 1986).

In later Senate debate, Senator Hatch explained of § 926(a) that "the authority to request tracing information for dealers can never be used to establish any centralized or regional registration system for firearms or firearm owners." 131 Cong. Rec. S8691 (June 24, 1985). Senator Hatch also clarified the understanding of the 1968 demand letter regulation which FOP A would codify as follows:

In order to facilitate tracing of firearms used in violent crimes, licensed dealers currently are required to provide the Secretary of Treasury with information about specific weapons upon request. Further a dealer must report multiple handgun sales to the same person which occur within 5 consecutive business days, and if the dealer is going out of business, he must send his records to the BATF rather than destroy or otherwise dispose of them. These tracing authorities are included currently in Federal regulations.

131 Cong. Rec. S8691 (June 24, 1985) (emphasis added).

Senator Hatch added that "the authority to request tracing information for dealers can never be used to establish any centralized or regional registration system for firearms or firearm owners." Id. Hatch stated about § 923(g)(5)(A) that "Congress had no intent to require all law-abiding gun dealers to report all their firearms transactions" to BATF. Id. at S9129 (July 9, 1985). For the purpose of "clarifying the record information submission requirement for firearms licensees," Senator Hatch inserted into the record ATF Director Serr's explanation of the purpose of the demand letter regulation quoted above.

Not a single senator voiced a contrary view of the purpose of § 923(g)(5)(A).

Thus, the canon of statutory construction that it "is the sponsors that we look to when the Senator James McClure, the chief FOPA sponsor, provided the following concise explanation: "The central compromise of the Gun Control Act of 1968 - the sine qua non for the entry of the Federal Government into any form of firearms regulation was this: Records concerning gun ownership would be maintained by dealers, not by the Federal Government and not by State and local governments." 131 Cong. Rec. S9163-64 (July 9, 1985).

meaning of the statutory words is in doubt," Schwegmann Bros. v. Calvert Corp., 341 U.S. 384, 394-395 (1951), applies with particular emphasis with respect to § 923(g)(5)(A).

When the bill was being considered by the House after Senate passage, Edward T. Stevenson, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Enforcement and Operations, Department of the Treasury, explained the understanding of the United States of the language which became § 923(g)(5)(A):

Initially, the bill could be interpreted to remove the statutory authority by which the Government may require licensees to report information from required records. Based on this authority, licensees are currently required by regulations to provide information about particular firearms transactions on request, to report multiple sales of handguns to the same person, and to turn in to the Government out-of-business records upon ceasing business. Under S. 49, as passed by the Senate, these existing reporting requirements would be preserved and now specifically required by statute.

Legislation to Modify the 1968 Gun Control Act: Hearings Before the Committee on the Judiciary, House of Representatives, 99th Cong., 1st & 2d Sess., 1139 (1986) (emphasis added).

As discussed, supra, the "existing reporting requirements" referred to by Deputy Assistant Secretary Stevenson were "existing Treasury regulations describing activities which facilitate the Secretary's ability to trace the disposition of firearms in connection with criminal investigations." S.Rep. 98-583, at 17.

Thus, it was the clear understanding of both Congress and the executive branch prior to the enactment of § 923(g)(5)(A) that both the original regulation and the statute as enacted by FOP A were limited in scope to (1) information from dealers who were in violation of the law, and (2) information from any dealers about specific firearms dispositions necessary for bona fide criminal investigations.

Since the proposed multiple sales demand letters will apparently be sent to all dealers in a four-state area, including those who have never been found in violation of any law, and will request information about firearms that are not the subject of any criminal investigation, ATF has no authority for the proposed information collection.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Ms Barbara Terrell,

In reference to the to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles", the ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations. The problem with firearms is not the firearms, but is criminals. Regardless of any firearms registration requirements, criminals will obtain and use firearms. Law enforcement resources need to be used for criminal work, not firearms registration. I ask you to not demand these reports for the aforementioned reasons.

Please do not pass into law the reg. on long rifles, there are too many gun laws hurting the honest people of this country. This will not help solve any crime or even cut down the number of firearm crimes in the nation. It only effects the honest buyers such as myself and many others. There are far too many long guns in this nation to ever be able to get a start on what is being proposed. Not to mention that if a criminal wants a gun, they will get one by ether stealing from a honest person or buying it in a private deal. This law will just add to the growing debt we are in now.

To whom it may concern,

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post: White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:
(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Thank you,

Dear Sirs:

I am writing to comment on the above notice.

I believe this is an unauthorized expansion of ATF authority and does not resolve any perceived threat of guns being bought for illegal purposes.

Also, the burden placed on the businesses to comply with this order and the lack of effectiveness of similar reporting has already been documented as being onerous.

Nothing will be gained by this reporting.

Subject: ATF Comment Request

To whom it may concern:

This is in reference to the ATF's request to require FFL holders to report multiple firearms sales.

Gathering information of this type is unnecessary for the ATF to function properly. The ATF is a regulatory agency whose purpose is ensure firearms are being bought/sold legally. If a buyer passes the NICS check, than the sale is legal. It does not matter how many guns are sold because the sale is legal, which is the extent of the ATF's regulatory powers. Furthermore the request does not disclose the reasons behind the data collection, which is important to ascertain the necessity of such a request.

Therefore I ask that this request be dropped from consideration. To reiterate, the ATF is able to gather all pertinent information it needs to fulfill its duties, and does not provide sufficient reason as to why the information needs 5o be collected.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Ms. Terrell,

Please stop harassing law abiding gun owners & dealers with your proposed two-gun plan. It is a waste of my money, your time, & the dealers time & resources . Why not instead give the dealers an incentive to report purchase patterns that are questionable under certain guidelines??

Withdraw this wasteful proposal & put our tax dollars to better use elsewhere.

To Barbara A. Terrell; The ATF&E should not ask for the authority to require the subject States Gun Dealers to register all multiple "two are more" long gun sales in five consecutive business days. I understand that the .22 caliber is exempt, but all higher calibers with detachable magazines are the target of your registration requirement. The ATF&E has no legal authority to demand these reports from these Dealers. I believe your valuable resources would be better spent on the enforcement of the thousands of current legislative mandates that you have authority over. Dear Ms. Terrell,

The NRA notified me about the new reporting requirements for the southwest sector. I agree with the NRA that the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles" is a waste of resources and another step in the effort to erode the Second Amendment right held by Americans. The public comment period ends Monday February 14, 2011, please count me on the side against this effort.

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Dear Mrs Terrell,

I am sending this message in response to the December 17, 2010 Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.

I feel this is a waste of both law enforcement time and tax dollars. For example, a dealer would have to tell the government every time a deer hunter in Sacramento or Amarillo finds a good deal on a pair of semi-auto .30-06s like the popular Remington 7400.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

I and many other American citizens like myself feel this is an unnecessary invasion of privacy. Please do not make this law.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Long Guns

Just heard about the new bill they are trying to pass in the Arizona region. I wanted to place my comment to you just saying my view point on the subject. Long gun registry and/or reporting any gun over .22 would be pointless. If it is to curb the cartel from buying from American dealers they need not worry. Since the usual gun dealer doesn't carry or sell the type of automatic weapons or explosives that the Mexican drug dealers are carrying. I'm sure you've heard it all before from the NRA and other members, but it just makes sense. All it would do is add extra work on both the ATF and the small arms dealers, waist more tax payers money, and produce the same unproductive results that these kind of schemes have produced before.

Thank you for your time reading this,

Subject: Proposed atf regulation

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

I can understand if someone is purchasing five or more long guns they may be buying them for some cartel, but two or more! If someone buys 2 guns per week constantly, that may raise suspicion, but if someone does it once what is the problem with it. Well maybe that person is supplying a large group of gangs with those 2 long guns. First off where is the warrant to request such information and could you even get a warrant for someone purchasing 2 long guns. Do you think they are doing anything wrong? Reporting the sale of 2 long guns is ridiculous. If you want to make this fair at all make it long gun sales in a month.

Re: Federal Register Notice of December 17, 2010 (Volume 75, Number 242, Page 79021), 60-Day
Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to offer my comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

It is understandable that ATF would like to take strong steps to end drug related violence in Mexico but lawlessness in Mexico driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers. Therefore, OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information. Sincerely, James Hardy

Subject: Please Deny ATF Request

It is my understanding that the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) is requesting authority to require firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. This exercise places unnecessary hardship on lawful American firearm dealers and will have no effect on the problems in Mexico. It is my opinion that ATF has no legal authority to impose this hardship on these firearm dealers. I humbly request that OMB deny ATF's request.

enforce immigration laws not gun laws. Enough is enough. It's about time that the government bureaucrats supported the People of the United States and not some illegal, drug trafficking foreigners. Instead of wasting time and money on this garbage and go support the law enforcement and people that live in this country on the boarder.

If you're one of the nearly 71 million Americans who live in the four southwest border states , some of your gun purchases could soon be reported to the federal government. And whether you live in one of those states or elsewhere, your help is needed now to stop the federal government's plan to register Americans' gun purchases.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. For example, a dealer would have to tell the government every time a deer hunter in Sacramento or Amarillo finds a good deal on a pair of semi-auto .30-06s like the popular Remington 7400.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigation.

Subject: Long guns registration list

Dear Ms. Terrell,

I wish to voice my opposition to proposed 4-state proposal to add additional burdens upon gun dealers when selling long guns. The onus falls on the individual dealer to keep an ongoing list of purchasers of firearms. Should he fail in his obligation, or should more than one employee sell to the same person on different days, should any of a myriad of circumstances arise that could cause the dealer to make an error, the hammer will fall on the dealer and not on the buyer. BATF was not given this power by Congress and you should not try to assume it. There is no legal basis for limiting the number of long firearms a person may buy.

The ostensible reason for this regulation is to prevent guns from going to Mexican gangs. This rule will not prevent a determined buyer from obtaining guns from different dealers on the same day. It will only burden the legitimate gun dealer.

So often I get the feeling that BATF looks at the gun dealer and the gun-owning public as the enemy to be controlled instead of the criminal element that uses guns improperly. Please do not burden the law abiding with more regulations.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

Ms. Terrell, I have experience in this area. As I am a retired Law Enforcement Officer with over 25 years. Also served in the U.S. Air Force. So I take our freedoms and liberty very serious.

I understand what the A.T.F., is trying to accomplish. But, I disagree with this method. By chipping away at law abiding citizens rights. The true spirit of our constitutional rights suffer.

I am aware that the A.T.F., has in its arsenal various investigative tools to investigate these issues without infringing on law abiding citizens constitutional rights. The A.T.F., should aggressively investigate the illegal trade of arms to the Mexican Cartels. Using any and all federal, international, state and local law enforcement agencies.

I strongly disagree with this current path.

Thank you for your time.

Barbara,

I am a retired law enforcement officer, I do not believe this registration of long guns will work. It will waste the assets of the Dept. The crooks will still get guns and they always do. They will continue to smuggle guns and drugs. There is a problem in Mexico but the Mexican Gov has to take control and not let the cartels run the country.

CBP runs operations and gets a lot at the border. I is just like the alcohol during prohibition a lot of resources were wasted and it did nothing. The registration program will not stop the crooks from getting guns, It will only hurt the legal gun buyers.

I retired as a NYS Correctional Lieutenant after 26 Yrs and then went to work for CBP.

Dear Mrs. Terrell,

AS you know, The second Amendment sanctions a citizen's right to bare arms. This is supported in the constitutions of many of the states and now incorporated by the Supreme Court as applying to all the states as well as the Federal government. The Firearms Owner's Act of 1986 expressly forbids compiling lists or registers of firearms owners. The NICS law has guaranteed the same admonition.

It is Unconstitutional allow the BAFTE to assume the authority to do so in those states bordering Mexico.

Such a compilation is lawfully unsustainable.

Thank You for your serious consideration of this matter on my behalf, Mrs. Terrell

Respectfully Submitted,

Hello,

I would like to add my voice in opposing this requirement to report the sale of multiple rifles.

Having just read the ATF proposal requesting the authority to require all firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines, and the NRA's comments in response.

It does appear that "ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations¹."

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.
