ATF&E should not be allowed to infringe on our rights by require reporting of all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: "Notice of Information Collection Under Review"

Dear Ms/Mrs Terrell,

I am copying you on the letter I've sent to the Office of Information and Regulatory affairs Desk officer.

I sincerely hope you and your department will influence this matter in a manner, which will benefit every law abiding citizen.

The letter reads as follows:

To whom it may concern at OMB,

I write to you with the highest of expectations that you and your department will pause and consider for a moment your actions with regard to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles".

An attempt to implement such a mandate, diminishes the very freedoms guaranteed to every "law abiding" citizen in this country. Freedoms, such as the right to purchase and bare arms without fear of repercussions, are what set our country apart from all others.

Having come from a country which shamelessly disregards such freedoms and so much more, I find it inconceivable that the greatest nation on earth seems to be teetering on the precipice of the same conditions of subjugation that drove our founding fathers to conceive this great "American Experiment" that defines each of us today.

It may be far easier for a government to control those who stand for freedom, justice and this "uniquely American" spirit, but it is far nobler to hold accountable and punish those who have little regard for our society's rule of law.

There are many who eagerly await any opportunity to transform America into something unrecognizable. Now, more than ever, we who hold dear the freedoms guaranteed by our constitution, deserve your admiration and alliance.

I thank you in advance for reconsidering any action that would be at variance with the dismissal of such "Information Collection Notice", now or in the future.

Yours truly,

Rafael Jerman

Hello, I am writing in regards to the Notice of informelia Collection law or laws that the ATF are trying to impose. Multi sale of rifles more than two guns purchased in a week. First off it is unconstitutional to do so. I think it is a huge waste of time and none of the ATF or Gov. business what the american people do with their own money or what they purchase with it. Guns do not kill people, people kill people. Nobody ever talks about the lives that guns save when they are used properly, for protection, carry conceal. If they were to take all guns out people will still find other ways of doing what ever it is they need to do. Then what? Another law?

Please OPPOSE the “Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.”

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

To whom it may concern.

If enacted like most laws the only people it will stop from having guns are law abiding US citizens. Under all the gun laws you have now how many criminals have been denied guns? My guess not many.

Criminals are going to get their guns as they always have by stealing them or by some other illegal means. ENFORCE THE LAWS YOU HAVE

A better idea, get down on the border and stop the illegal's from crossing the border send the ones that are here ILLEGAL (as the word implies)back home. YOU HAVE LAWS TO SEND THEM HOME

Dear Ms. Terrell,

I just received an email from the NRA regarding the above proposal. With all due respects, I believe that the purpose of this legislation is for the purpose or intention of reducing crime. However, what this legislation means to me as a legal gun owner, is that it only masks and creates an illusion of safety without any real effectiveness of its original intent. Ask yourself the question, if this legislation would have been in place one year ago, would our crime rate in America for that year have been reduced? Where is the proof of this study?

My proposal would be to go after the criminals directly, and leave our law abiding hard working citizens alone, by eliminating useless legislation.

Mrs (Ms) Terrell

Recently,I have discovered that the Bureau of Alcohol,Tobacco,Firearms and Explosives is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California,Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days,if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

Example.....A dealer would have to tell the government every time a deer hunter in Sacramento or Amarillo finds a good deal on a pair of semi-auto .30-06s like the popular Remington 7400.

How can such an act take place when the ATF has NO legal authority TO demand these reports ????

I am DEEPLY concerned with the way the Constution of the Unites States of America is being over ridden.

Being an American and a taxpayer I feel that now MORE THAN EVER we need MORE COMMON SENSE & LESS WASTE OF TAXPAYERS MONEY !!!!

In the words of one of our founding fathers;

The policy of the United States of American government is to leave their citizens free, neither restraining nor aiding them in their pursuits.

The two enemies of the people are criminals and government, so let us tie the second down with the chains of the Constitution so the second will not become the legalized version of the first.

Please respond

Sincerely

We have done these things ad infinitum and nothing, I repeat Nothing has worked. Crime, by any ones measurement has not been noticeably reduced. If there has been any improvement at all, it's come as the result of the concealed carry laws. All it has done is increase the burden on us everyday folks who enjoy their hobby, a hobby by the way, given to us in the constitution. Unless this is your subtle way of improving our economy by giving someone else a government job to collate all this mass of paperwork. I have lived 66 years and remain astounded each time you folks come up with a new wrinkle. Just when I think nothing could be added.....

I know you think it's the bad guys who will be hurt by your latest idea, but didn't anyone mention to you the fact that the bad guys can't read. They have long since given up that form of communication and have resorted to more direct action. They don't bother with licences and taxpaying and the like. We (the good guys) on the other hand are the only ones to get caught up in your web of intrigue. Not sure why I've spent this time speaking to this, cause I'm also aware that doing things like this doesn't work either. The bureaucracy prevents clear thought and fresh ideas, stifles it in fact. Thank you for your comment regarding the 60-day emergency notice of information collection relating to ATF Form 3310.12 (Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles), published in the Federal Register on December 17, 2010. The Federal Register and supplement form may be found at: <http://www.atf.gov/regulations-rulings/rulemakings/general-notice.html>

The primary purpose of this program is to improve law enforcement's ability to identify firearms traffickers, to disrupt the criminal activity and to stop deadly violence plaguing the Southwest Border States and Mexico. The multiple sales reports will apply only to rifles that are semi-automatic, greater than .22 caliber, and have the ability to accept a detachable magazine. ATF intends to implement this program to require that Federal firearms licensees in the States of California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas complete the form for those transactions in which an individual purchases two or more of these rifles within five business days. We intend to evaluate the results at the end of a 1 year pilot period, at which time ATF may expand, narrow or discontinue the program.

As mentioned in the notice, if granted by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the emergency approval of the form is valid for 180 days. All comments received in response to the notice will be carefully considered and, if warranted, revisions to the form will be made.

Dear Ms Terrell,

Instead of finding new ways to register gun sales and eventually ban gun sales, and to waste the tax payer's money, just get busy interdicting the smuggling of guns as the ATF is expected to do, or the American Voters will one day soon prevail upon Congress to reduce the ATF to the A and T, en route to ridding the country of the ATF altogether.

Merry Christmas!

Mexico's Gun Supply and the 90 Percent Myth

By Scott Stewart | February 10, 2011

For several years now, STRATFOR has been closely watching developments in Mexico that relate to what we consider the three wars being waged there. Those three wars are the war between the various drug cartels, the war between the government and the cartels and the war being waged against citizens and businesses by criminals.

In addition to watching tactical developments of the cartel wars on the ground and studying the dynamics of the conflict among the various warring factions, we have also been paying close attention to the ways that both the Mexican and U.S. governments have reacted to these developments. Perhaps one of the most interesting aspects to watch has been the way in which the Mexican government has tried to deflect responsibility for the cartel wars away from itself and onto the United States. According to the Mexican government, the cartel wars are not a result of corruption in Mexico or of economic and societal dynamics that leave many Mexicans marginalized and desperate to find a way to make a living. Instead, the cartel wars are due to the insatiable American appetite for narcotics and the endless stream of guns that flows from the United States into Mexico and that results in Mexican violence. Ms. Terrell,

Besides the more detailed comments related to this you received from Chris Cox* of the NRA, my comment is, "What's the point?"

Those buying guns through legal channels in the US to illegally export to Mexico will just move their purchases to another state. So the only people affected by this would be those making legitimate purchases, FFL holders, and law enforcement. It will have little to no effect on 'bad guys' exporting weapons from border states.

Please scrap the idea. Spend our limited resources more wisely.

Thanks for your time,
Ralph.

Oira/Barbara,

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g) (3) (A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

This as so many laws and regulations only restricts those who are abiding by the many laws all ready on the books, making it harder for normal commerce. Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Why is it every time there is trouble in the world or some radical using violence, the default response is to impose more restrictions on law abiding citizens. Mexico's drug problem is not an excuse to infringe on American Citizens rights and gun reporting should not be the wolf in sheepskin clothing for gun registration, restriction, or banning. Enforce the laws that we have on the books and stop the revolving door of justice, prosecute the violators not law abiding citizens who just want to express their freedom. Instead of wasting money and enforcement resources on legal purchases go after the illegal actions with laws we have, do not make legal citizens feel like they are violators for what is a constitutional right.

Dear BATFE personnel,

I understand the BATFE is wanting to record sales of two or more long guns that meet certain specifications in states bordering the country of Mexico. I also understand there are political forces that would use the drug-fueled violence in Mexico to justify making honest US gun buyers have their purchases recorded.

The honest purchasers and owners are not the problem and should not bear the burden of having their purchases recorded because of Mexican crime. As you know, a small percentage of guns purchased in the US are used by drug cartels because they can buy weapons with features unavailable in US gun stores. The recording of these sales has definite potential for “infringing” on the right to keep and bear arms. The proposed rule should not be enacted.

The purchase of 2 rifles in a 5 day period does not warrant a review for trafficking firearms (no matter what caliber we're talking about)....5 or more would. It is apparent to me as well as the firearms dealers that this observation was going on beforehand. I was warned by a dealer not to purchase 2 pistols within 5 days or we'd have a bureaucratic mess on our hands. There is no need for this stringent of a review process. The criminals are going to get them through the street like they've always done and the shady dealers aren't going to be honest, as usual. If you really wanted to get rid of these so called 'traffickers', try looking at the regulators. They have the control and the means to bypass these laws. Not only that, people like myself don't have the finances to purchase 5 rifles at once. I may decide to purchase 2 or even 3 at one time if they are on sale and my finances allow it. I think this is not only creating a lot of unnecessary paperwork, but using too many resources that could be better used elsewhere. Besides, there has to be some law already on the books that would allow a suspicious dealer to be placed under review. Not only that, they probably have a group of buyers which would purchase in turn. Repeat, short term, buyers is what you should be looking for....not this.

Thanks for listening.

Thank you for your comment regarding the 60-day emergency notice of information collection relating to ATF Form 3310.12 (Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles), published in the Federal Register on December 17, 2010. The Federal Register and supplement form may be found at: <http://www.atf.gov/regulations-rulings/rulemakings/general-notices.html>

The primary purpose of this program is to improve law enforcement's ability to identify firearms traffickers, to disrupt the criminal activity and to stop deadly violence plaguing the Southwest Border States and Mexico. The multiple sales reports will apply only to rifles that are semi-automatic, greater than .22 caliber, and have the ability to accept a detachable magazine. ATF intends to implement this program to require that Federal firearms licensees in the States of California, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas complete the form for those transactions in which an individual purchases two or more of these rifles within five business days. We intend to evaluate the results at the end of a 1 year pilot period, at which time ATF may expand, narrow or discontinue the program.

As mentioned in the notice, if granted by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), the emergency approval of the form is valid for 180 days. All comments received in response to the notice will be carefully considered and, if warranted, revisions to the form will be made.

It is claimed that is for importation eligibility in the overview but requires dealers to provide disposition information? Sounds fishy to me. I will contact my Senator regarding this issue.

Re: Federal Register Notice of December 17, 2010 (Volume 75, Number 242, Page 79021), 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing on behalf of the National Rifle Association of America, Inc. (NRA), to offer our comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

The reasons for that lack of authority are fully explained in the attached legal memorandum; but in short, the Congress has comprehensively defined what ATF may and may not require with respect to licensees' records. By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms. ATF seemed to understand that point when it responded in October to a recommendation for multiple long gun sales reporting by the Department of Justice Inspector General. ATF's comment on that recommendation was that it would "explore the full range of options" but that such a requirement "may require a change to the Gun Control Act."¹

Tel: (703) 267-1140 • www.nraila.org < • Fax: (703) 267-3973

These reports will be requested through "demand letters"—a mechanism that for many years had been used only to conduct firearm traces, to obtain aggregate manufacturing statistics, or to obtain contact information for buyers of certain firearms later declared to be subject to the National Firearms Act. Even when ATF began to use demand letters to seek a broader range of firearm transaction records, one court upholding that program cautioned that the demand letter statute "is not a limitless delegation of authority" and "cannot be construed in an open-ended fashion."²

The scope of the proposed collection suggests in itself that the proposal exceeds ATF's statutory authority. The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States.³ A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide.⁴

Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees.

That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales.

The burden estimate in the proposal appears to assume that each licensee subject to a demand letter will respond once during the proposed duration of the program. Given the great variety in size and sales volume among the thousands of licensees in the border states, this seems unlikely.

Even if the burden estimate in the proposal is correct, it is unclear how ATF could make effective use of the large number of reports that would be generated. Recent media reports suggest that ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases."⁵ If processing thousands of additional mandatory reports takes even more resources away from investigating these suspicious transactions, the proposed information collection may be more harmful than helpful.

The NRA is well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by

Subject: Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Hell Barbara,

I writing to you about my severe displeasure that the ATF which is a government entity now feels they must and that they are obligated to spy on Americans who purchase firearms. Particularly without evidence of wrongdoing. We all know the government will build upon this information with a database and use it against fine Americans in the future. I am appalled at the overstepping authority assumed by this agency.

I'll register my guns when the people on welfare take their drug tests. You can tell that to anyone in the chain of command. I worked for my country as an Army Sergeant for years. Now I have to be spied upon by the government I served selflessly in combat and with poor pay in foreign countries. It just stinks.

Why doesn't the ATF spend their time and efforts on real investigations instead of harassing and invading on a 2nd Amendment right. I don't need a paper to tell you that every man has this right. It seems that the ATF and federal government is most interested in chiseling away people's rights and forgets all about our fine constitution written by men who were wiser than our current political leaders.

What the proposal is, is illegal. I have a good tip for Washington D.C. Build a real border barrier and guard the border. At that time you will cease the lawlessness. Let's not harass law abiding citizens.

I remind you The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States..A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide.

Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees. That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales.

The ATF should abide to rule of law. All of which are defined in the two paragraphs above and with references below. The ATF is not the Gestapo.

Thank you and have a nice day.

Dear Mrs. Terrell,

I would like to express my concern over the ATF's recent proposal to cause 8,500 Firearms dealers in the Southwestern States to report to ATF, multiple automatic and semiautomatic rifle purchases by lawful citizens within 5 days.

I don't know if you are an American, but I am, and I know that the Second Amendment of the United States Constitution guarantees that the citizens of this nation are un-restricted from purchasing firearms. The problem in this nation is that people drink too much alcohol, but I don't ever hear of you government types attempting to track alcohol sales. Perhaps you ought to follow alcohol sales since alcohol consumption is not a guaranteed right in America, and you are a muckity-muck in the ATF. In fact I understand from reliable sources that rampant alcoholism is out of control among bureaucrats in Washington D.C., where you happen to work.

Respectfully I ask you, why are all you liberals so concerned about honest, law abiding citizens owning guns? Are you so crooked that you fear the honest people of America are finally fed up with government malfesants and illegal activity? You ought to be. But one thing you can bank on is that We The People of the United States of America are law abiding people. Your cohorts in government leadership are the problem in this nation, and soon you will all be replaced peacefully, and lawfully, thank God. Yes that is a giant thumbing of the nose you just received.

If you want reports of multiple firearm purchasers because of that idiot Jared Loughner in Tucson, I have got to tell you something. That fool was a drug abuser, and a queer, and he was not a gun owner but for 2 and a half months before he used his pistol to illegally shoot and kill law abiding citizens in Pima County last month.

Now you, as a federal agent, ought to look at the facts in the case before you start attacking the rights of law abiding citizens. First, all the other people at that meeting that Loughner shot up were obeying the stupid gun laws that you government officials mandate we average citizens abide by, against our Constitutional rights. Thus, we civilians obey the laws, and get all shot up because we are un-armed and un-protected from lawless fools like Loughner. Then it seems you people make stricter laws which we, the obedient abide in.

Second, your stupid gun laws only work after everyone is all shot up, and only if fools like Loughner are caught. You know the typical mode of operation those psychotic murderers undertake: They shoot up a crowd of un-armed, law abiding citizens, and then they take their own life. The only reason Jared Loughner shot up 20 people at that meeting is because no one could return fire against his cowardly assault. Think about it. How many gun owners got shot up that day? All because your laws mandate that they can't carry guns to protect themselves.

My suggestion to you is that you stop invading the privacy of law abiding citizens, and start prosecuting criminals and killers. What happend to the laws against homosexuality in this country? What happened to the laws against illicit drug abusers? Why aren't you bureaucrats invading the privacy of drug users in this country instead of lawful gun owners? Loughner was never a member of the NRA, or the CRPA like I am. I have owned guns all my life, and I've never shot anyone.

You people in government office think you have all the answers, but you don't. Stop picking on law abiding gun owners, and start doing your job. Go after criminals and put them away. I am shocked that United States bureaucrats conjure up ridiculous ideas that infringe upon the common man's privacy these days, but the President of the United States of America can have all of his personal records protected from public view.

I'm shocked that someone like me needs to inform a bureaucrat about such things considering the fact that you have some authority over my right to privacy.

Sincerely,

Raymond Saenz

I believe the proposed new semi automatic gun law aimed at our southwestern borders is unnecessary. Mexico's illegal gun problems stems from their southern borders and all ports. Why turn there problems into ours. I believe this is just another attempt of our government at gun control. Why punish law abiding Americans for another country's problem. This law would of course allow the criminals to purchase more guns and rest of us to remain unarmed.

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

What part of the 2nd amendment is unclear. ATF is attempting an illegal and unconstitutional move to register firearms on the pretext of stopping the drug cartels in Mexico from purchasing guns in the US. If that is an issue, then secure the border. It would no longer be possible to purchase and transport those guns. This is just a bureaucracy power grab. Keep your hands off our 2nd Amendment!

Greetings,

Your proposal for the reporting of long gun sales is another infringement of the 2nd amendment, at the very least. While ignoring the real problem, border enforcement. I am sure the drug cartels buy many more rifles (100x ?) from OEMs in other countries that come in on airplanes through Mexican airstrips and by ship then leak back across the USA border.

Here is a novel idea, kill the drug dealers on both sides of the border and make the border as tight as Korea.

Yours,
John Brown

I agree that It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels. It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time for the Obama administration to take unprecedented action to put a halt to the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels. Gun dealers in the United States are providing assault rifles to Mexico's drug cartels. Because the U.S. has weak laws and regulations to prevent this transfer of weapons, we as a nation can be seen as supporting those drug cartels. This must stop! Mexico's drug cartels are not a "well-regulated militia" and these sales of assault rifles are not "necessary to the security of a free State."

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require gun dealers along the U.S. borders to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

I am writing to protest the BATF's attempt to over-reach the authority given it by the Congress of these United States of America by beginning to require firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report multiple sales to an individual of long guns across five consecutive business days. The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

The law enforcement agencies in these border states have enough work to do, since the federal government is impotent in policing our southern boarder. The last thing they need is the arrogant BATF adding superfluous regulations in an attempt to validate their existence and supply an artificial "victory" for this current administration's attempt to dis-arm law abiding citizen.

Please stop it.

Dear Mrs. Terrell

I am contacting you in reference to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles." I can't speak for Arizona, New Mexico or Texas but in California there is a financial incentive to purchase as many guns as you can at one time due to the fees involved with background checks. I myself recently purchase three rifles at one time simply because there is a discount on background check when you purchase more than one gun. My background check fee went from $75 to $45 ($25 for the first and $10 for each additional gun up to five guns). In some cases I understand that you can purchase up to five guns with the fee for one background check. If someone were to feel intimidate by this new law you would be putting and unnecessary financial burden on them in addition to creating more paper work for the ATF which would also increase the paper work associated with background check at the state level.

Sincerely,
Reza Soltani

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Additionally, such regulations only affect law abiding citizens and cost additional federal dollars. Criminals will continue to thumb their noses at such laws rendering them ineffective.

Dear Barbara Terrell, I is with great disappointment that I even have to write such a letter.

I am an American citizen born and raised here in America. I uphold our Constitution including the Second Amendment. I am totally against the ATF taking control over licensed gun dealers demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. This is unconstitutional! This is in the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles." I am opposed to such given authority to the ATF or any other government agency! Thank you for the opportunity to voice my personal opinion.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Dear ATF,

As a recently retired US Air Force officer, I would request that you oppose the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles" as this is an unnecessary regulation and to be blunt, not allowed under federal law. Title 18. U.S.C. 923(g) (3) (A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except handguns.

The regulation contains no provisions for such and is therefore not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. 923(g) (3) (A).

Furthermore, the regulation contains no provisions what-so-ever for the destruction of collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 19 U.S.C. 926 (A).

If your organization would contact DIA HQ or the CIA or FBI (if you do not have the numbers please let me know and will send to you), you will find out what we in the military intelligence have known for years; the vast majority of the weapons coming into Mexico are from two major sources: 1) US military sales to Mexico military in which the Mexican Army deserters have taken their weapons and sold them to the various drug factions operating in Mexico or the Mexican police selling them to the drug factions/groups, and 2) arms from Russia, China and North Korea make up about 91% of the illegal arms coming into Mexico through Venezuela by ship to various ports in Central America and/or by planes into various landing strips in southern Mexico.

I find it somewhat disconcerting that such an organization like yours would even contemplate such illegal actions; this is still America and not some third world republic otherwise everything I have gone through for 25 years means nothing. I am officially requesting an reply to your actions in this matter.

The Southwestern states in question are overrun with drug gangs who are purchasing their firearms from the arms merchants around the world. The real problem here is the desire, nay demand, of millions of Americans to live their lives stoned. If I were a Mexican citizen, that would make me mad as Hell as to its effect on my country. Please tell me which gun stores in the US are providing crew-served weapons, RPGs, and AK-47s in huge quantities? This is yet another attempt to harrass and intimidate law abiding Americans and try to eliminate their 2nd Amendment rights with another record-keeping scheme. Get out of our lives. In fact, if left to me, your worthless agency would be eliminated. Now that would be a constructive act.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

I am aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers.

Therefore, OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information.

Subject: Blanket records requests

Dear Ms. Terrell:

I do not wish to belabor the issue, as I am sure that you have heard from many authoritative sources on this subject, nevertheless, the law in this area is both clear and concise.

While the violence in Mexico, and particularly along the border, is unacceptable, the case to be made, is one for proper control of our borders..... Not to require onerous and illegal concessions from legitimate sellers of firearms on a blanket basis. The BATF's "Emergency Demand" for the records of ALL multiple purchases of certain "Categories" of firearms is (A) clearly prohibited, (B) absurdly vague, (C) over-reaching, (D) a waste of already stretched federal staff and dollars, and (E) is highly unlikely to uncover any new or substantive information, or worse, to prevent or weaken the supply of firearms to drug cartels within the Mexican interior.

While much has been made in the press about the USA being the supplier of firearms to the various criminal elements in Mexico, the facts do not bear out this mis-representation. Statistics can be made to lie, and in this case that is exactly what is happening. A vast percentage of the firearms being used (and abused) in Mexico are of types NOT available for sale in the United States. They are purchased on the international market, and would be illegal here, as well as in Mexico!

Frankly (and as a resident of California) we would be better off dredging a moat from Tijuana to Brownsville Texas, filling it with Piranha, and telling Mexico to solve "their own problems" instead of blaming us!

Do we have a part in all of this? You bet. It is our demand for illegal drugs that fuels much of the cartel's activity, and we should take responsibility for that. Much of the flow of drugs is across that same "Porous border", and were it to be closed, much of that traffic would stop. It would force the cartels to find alternative (and I might add, more easily monitored and enforced) means (aircraft, trains, sea) of transporting their drugs.

I am sorry for rambling, but the December 17th "Notice of Information Collection under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles" is a farce.

I realize that the present administration wants to appear to be "doing something" that will make them look good in the press, but this is an un-productive waste of both time and money, an imposition on the legitimate dealers. Moreover, it will not accomplish anything substantive, and that must be the final deciding factor.

Requirements to register long guns, or any gun for that matter, has a chilling effect on a right not circumscribed by the U. S. Constitution. Indeed in many instances registration has been a precursor to gun collection.

Historically, an armed citizenry has been a deterrent to invasion by our nation's enemies. Please reconsider the ATF's stance in this regard.

I don't know who thought this up but evidently they did not really study it. As you look at the world, there is constant fighting using a great many weapons. The Drug Cartels in Mexico can go to any of these many areas of fighting to buy all the weapons they want. The idea that the US supplies them in great numbers is foolish. Mexico has severe penalties for anybody owning guns. So for your Agency to require tons of paperwork and time to track down every sale of long rifles as indicated in this bill waste your time, manpower, money etc. to say nothing of the hardship of useless work put onto the public. This may be a good sounding thing to appease the President of Mexico but it will not stop the violence. He has to stop the violence in his own country and not continue to blame the USA.

I request that you do not pursue this useless issue.

Thank you for your time.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Sincerely

This is not a second amendment issue. It is an issue of national security!

I believe dealers anywhere in the U.S. should report multiple sales of guns, not just dealers along the border. What good would that do if the purchasers just travel further north to buy their guns. Even with a restriction it will largely inconvenience the cartels, but not have a big effect. They can get around the intent by bringing more people and going to multiple dealers.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Sincerely,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

Dear Barbara Terrell,

As a concerned firearms owner and as a US citizen I would like to ask the BATFE to please drop the proposal of reporting the sale of certain rifles to the BATFE agency. Over the course of human events such laws that have been implemented have led to stricter, unconstitutional gun laws and, ultimately, the complete elimination of firearms for law abiding citizens. Which in turn, has led to much higher crimes rates, a bigger police state, and complete government control over the people.

I'm not saying that this will happen, I'm just listing extremes. A more realistic reason to drop this proposal is this: tax payer money can be better spent elsewhere in an agency who, for 15 months, didn't have a director. Also, with a $14,000,000,000,000 national debt, the government cannot afford this proposal, let alone many of its own agencies.

Now the reason for this proposal according The crime due to the drug cartels in Mexico is not due to the United States firearms laws. Grenades, Bazookas, fully automatic AK-47s, and other like weapons that are being seized by the US Boarder, are not weapons one can buy at the local gun store. According to members of the Drug Cartels themselves, they received at least 75% of their weapons from the Mexican Military. Any law made to report firearms to a government, not only is unconstitutional under the 4th and 10th Amendments, but also is useless and a fraudulent use of tax payer money.

The alternative I propose is this:

- 1) Secure the Border and bring to justice those illegal aliens who violate the Individual rights of the American Citizens.
- 2) End the War on Drugs. In turn, taking away the business of the drug cartels.

According to Article IV, Section IV of the United States Constitution, which states, "The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on the Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence."

It is the governments obligation to secure the border and prevent any person from coming into this country illegally.

This should be the main concern of government and the BATFE.

The War on Drugs can be related to the prohibition area. It failed, and miserably at that. Crime went up, non-violent criminals were being sent to prison, and for no real purpose what-so-ever. To end and drop all federal regulations on current illegal drugs and leave the decision left up to the states as required by the 10th Amendment, would lessen the crime and help towards the abolishment of these drug cartels.

In closing, I beg the BATFE to drop the proposal and to focus their resources on the Mexican drug cartels entering the US and to rethink the War on Drugs.

Sincerely,

N

I speak in particular to the proposed registration of sales of multiple long guns. We need to focus on our children, our future, and their education, rather than frivolously spend more money on excess regulations. This smells like the stories we were told in school of over the powering Government that we broke away from during the American Revolution.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.
<http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/2010/pdf/2010-31761.pdf>

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post: White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:
<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register. <http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/2010/pdf/2010-31761.pdf>

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/cont...0121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation ... may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Subject: Federal Register Notice of December 17, 2010

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing as a concerned citizen, to offer my comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, firearms, and Explosives (ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics:

- (a) Semi automatic;
- (b) a caliber greater than .22; and
- (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have and should not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees. The Congress has comprehensively defined what ATF may and may not require with respect to licensees' records. By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms. ATF seemed to understand that point when it responded in October to a recommendation for multiple long gun sales reporting by the Department of Justice Inspector General.

ATF's comment on that recommendation was that it would "explore the full range of options" but that such a requirement "may require a change to the Gun Control Act." These reports will be requested through "demand letters"—a mechanism that for many years had been used only to conduct firearm traces, to obtain aggregate manufacturing statistics, or to obtain contact information for buyers of certain firearms later declared to be subject to the National Firearms Act. Even when ATF began to use demand letters to seek a broader range of firearm transaction records, one court upholding that program cautioned that the demand letter statute "is not a limitless delegation of authority" and "cannot be construed in an open-ended fashion." The scope of the proposed collection suggests in itself that the proposal exceeds ATF's statutory authority. The Fourth Circuit stressed that the letter at issue in the RSM case was sent to only 41 licensees out of the 80,000 licensees in the United States.

A second type of demand letter was sent to only 450 dealers nationwide. Now, ATF proposes to issue demand letters to approximately 8,500 licensees. That estimate appears to be based on the total number of licensed dealers and pawnbrokers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. If so, nearly one out of seven firearm retailers in the United States would receive demand letters for multiple rifle sales. The burden estimate in the proposal appears to assume that each licensee subject to a demand letter will respond once during the proposed duration of the program. Given the great variety in size and sales volume among the thousands of licensees in the border states, this seems unlikely. Even if the burden estimate in the proposal is correct, it is unclear how ATF could make effective use of the large number of reports that would be generated. Recent media reports suggest that ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases." If processing thousands of additional mandatory reports takes even more resources away from investigating these suspicious transactions, the proposed information collection may be more harmful than helpful.

It is noted that ATF, emboldened by the whitehouse and foreign leaders, would like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers. Therefore, OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information. If you have any questions about our comments, please do not hesitate to contact me.

ATF does not have the legal authority to impose multiple sales reporting of rifles through this type of "demand" requirement on Federal Firearms License holders. In fact, the US Congress specifically constrains such actions by the ATF unless such activity is conducted in the process of a "criminal" investigation.

In keeping with the wishes of the American people (as spoken through the US Congress), the ATF should restrict its activities to those which are clearly outlined in its mission, as defined by the Congress of the United States of America.

Ms Terrell,

I am very much opposed to the proposed 'Notice of Information Collection under review: report of multiple sale or other disposition of certain rifles' of December 10,2010.

Putting further restrictions on law abiding citizens of the United States because of a Mexican crime problem is unacceptable.

We all know what happened a few years ago when the Mexican government supplied 'proof' that most of the weapons being used in that country were manufactured in the US. Out of the tens of thousands of weapons confiscated only those manufactured in the US were submitted as evidence. If I am allowed to submit only those auto accidents involving Ford vehicles, may we now surmise that Ford vehicles are the number 1 most accident prone vehicles?

The existence of a country on our southern border which is totally out of control and has no effective government whether due to gross ineptitude or mass corruption is not a valid reason to inflict repressive laws on the citizen of the United States of America.

I will be in contact with my congressional and senatorial representatives to make my stance clear on this matter .

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Oppose regulation expanding multiple sale reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register. <http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/2010/pdf/2010-31761.pdf>

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Sincerely,

R. Duprey

Hi Ms. Terrell,

I am a single Father, and small business owner in California. I am writing to urge you to please not allow more regulation on firearm sales in our wonderful country. I speak in particular to the proposed registration of sales of multiple long guns. We need to focus on our children, our future, and their education, rather than frivolously spend more money on excess regulations. This smells like the stories we were told in school of over the powering Government that we broke away from during the American Revolution.

I ask you to consider our freedoms, and our Constitution when reviewing proposed regulation of firearms.

Thank You for your time!

Dear Ms. Terrell,

Please do not waste any money on registering legal firearm sales. To have a person required to register any gun, or guns is both a waste of time and money. I'm sure there aren't many multiple gun sales anyway, but even if I were to buy multiple firearms, what of it? I am a law abiding citizen and an honest one to. Everyone is presumed innocent until proven guilty and they must commit a crime to even have an investigation started or evidence collected that may be used against them.

I am tired of our government intruding into our private lives and spending money we don't have. Please, we all have to cut back and spend our resources wisely, not on something that might never happen.

I want to make my opinion heard regarding the reporting of long guns in our southern states. First of all singling out only those border states I believe would be unconstitutional and if done, everyone knows BATFE would continue to overstep and try it in all states. You say it is because of the Mexican drug cartels. Very few of these guns if any end up in the hands of the cartels and BATFE already knows this. BATFE is fooling no one anymore. We have more than enough laws currently in force to control any small amount arm leaving our country. These cartels don't have to go to this kind of trouble and expense to get guns that they would find inadequate for their use anyway. Why doesn't the federal government try a different and novel approach, lets start securing our borders. If we can stop the Mexicans from coming in we can easily stop a few guns from going out.

We here in New York are solidly against the reporting of rifle purchases and/or possible registration to BATFE or any other organization . The purchase of same should be confidential so that the knowledge of ownership never falls into the wrong hands and criminals use that knowledge to invade homes from which they can steal same.

Their is no reason to regulate firearms sale any further. First the crimanals will always get guns, Why, Because you the Government let them and will not do whats necessary to stop them or let us the people help. I work in Law enforcement atm for the LA County Sheriff's Dept. Been there for 30 years now. The Criminal's get Guns illegagly, they even steal the from you . How many times lately have we seen or heard that they steal them from the military. As far as Mexico is concerened, Well thats a real joke. The guns that are shown to us by the Media are illegal here in the US. So their is no justification that any more Gun control laws are needed. First off it's about time you the Government start attacking the Criminals, Use the Death Penalty. I mean use it. No more talk about it. If you want to slow down Crimes of any type then its time to go back to All Citizens except Criminals have the right to carry a Gun. In every state where that is done the crimes are much lower, Look at DC all Guns are banned. Yet they have one of the highest Crime rates with guns in the Country. When the Government has guns and as we know so will the Criminals then we the People are the Ulitimate of Victims. First by a Corrupt government then by the Criminals.

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

We are opposed to the above multiple sale reports proposed for certain boarder states to Mexico, or anywhere for that matter. It is a waste of taxpayer money and we also believe the ATF has no legal reason to impose such a burden on gun dealers.

Subject: ATF Long Gun Registration

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

For example, a dealer would have to tell the government every time a deer hunter in Sacramento or Amarillo finds a good deal on a pair of semi-auto .30-06s like the popular Remington 7400.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations. I feel that they are usurping their authority. This is something that should be LAW and passed by Congress if it is really necessary.

The very idea that they they can legislate from within is very unnerving to this voting US citizen. I feel that it slaps the face of Americans who still believe in the US Constitution and the Bill of Rights. I am TOTALLY AGAINST ANY REGISTRATION that is a RULE and NOT A LAW.

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

I am sending this message to my Representatives in both the House and the Senate as just another attempt of the AFT to once more exceed their authority and place an even greater restraint on our law enforcement agencies while Washington and this administration does nothing to protect our borders or our citizens.

Subject: Re: ATF Long Gun Sales Reporting

Dear Ms. Terrell,

I am a resident of Arizona, and therefore directly impacted by border security enforcement issues with our neighbor to the south. As I review this proposal, I am reminded that placing more restrictions on law-abiding citizens of this state and other border states will do nothing to quell the tide of the illegal gun trade, or the flood of illegal aliens into this country. This country has no shortage of laws and regulations already in place to keep the peace and insure an orderly society. However, these laws are continually broken, and violators are not deterred by the passage of more of the same.

I don't think the security of this nation is threatened by a private citizen getting a good deal on a couple of firearms, nor do I think any such regulation will impact the flow of weapons across the border. No such regulation as the one proposed would prevent a madman to acquire a gun and commit atrocities. A better solution would be to:

- enforce the current laws on the books
- seal the southern border of illegal crossings (which is by the way a huge matter of national security)
- stop suing states for trying to defend themselves (a man was beheaded a few months ago by the drug cartel not far from where I live)
- stop punishing law-abiding citizens for trying to defend themselves and their property (I point to the rancher who was sued by illegals for detaining them until they could be arrested by authorities, That rancher has 12,000 illegals cross his property a year. He was ordered to pay THEM $87,000.)

These are a few suggestions for real reform. The illegal problem costs this state billions of dollars a year in lost revenue, lost jobs (Americans will do any number of jobs if given the chance), and law enforcement. Americans are being killed and threatened in these border states every day by an out-of-control drug business south of the border that deals with not only drugs, but human trafficking as well. And as this is going on, the solutions our federal government come up with are to file suit on a state trying to enforce federal law already on the books, and come up with senseless regulations such as this one which will only punish the citizen. Lawbreakers do not worry about following regulations.

My suggestions:

- enforce the laws currently in place
- punish those who are involved in this instead of giving them a free pass
- leave the law-abiding citizens alone

Sincerely,

Robert Krise

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations and enforcement. Enforce the current laws and stop making things more difficult for law abiding citizens. Utilize your employees that sit around dreaming solutions to these problems and send them to marksmanship classes so they have the ability to deal with arms smugglers with deadly accuracy. I believe deadly force can be administered to a fleeing felon? Smuggling arms across an International border is a felony. A simple solution to an age old problem. Hanging a criminal in open public will have a greater impact than any solution all the great scholars combined can come up with. I would gladly volunteer to build the gallows, provide the rope, and be the executioner. I'm also proficient with a long gun and hand gun incase you are hiring! Thanks for your time.

Subject: Re: December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.

Dear Ms. Terrell

I am writing you regarding the recent proposed December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles. As I understand this rule seeks to limit the use of illegally purchased firearms specifically semi-automatic rifles by outlaw gangs and individuals residing in Mexico as part of the United States' efforts in the ongoing war on drugs and to assist the Mexican government in their current efforts to gain control over their own sovereign territories as well. While the overall goals are laudable as a citizen of the United States and also member of its defending military forces I must express my concerns over the proposed methods by which the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives seek to do so. By demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines only excessive workload will be placed on a system which already needs further buffering in other areas as the horrible and reprehensible recent Arizona shooting of Rep. Gifford aptly demonstrated. The problem has time and time again been shown not to be legitimate purchasers of firearms who agreeably submit to and pass FBI and state background checks but the illegitimate criminal who often purchase these weapons by alternative means of by falsehood for illegitimate or illegal use. To use scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations to reduce current backload and also add to the FBI firearm purchase database those who are currently ineligible to purchase a firearm would be a far better use of limited and scarce law enforcement resources. This would also in my opinion be more in line constitutionally with the Constitutional right of all Americans to bear arms legally and free of government seizure or search using lists of firearms owned, purchased, or possessed. As a military member I am well trained with the use and safety of firearms as I am in their effects being a member of the medical profession as well. However as sad as it is to say I must in closing remind you that the most crucial element in any weapons system design is not the weapon itself but the person who ultimately is responsible for pulling the trigger. This is where we should focus our efforts in gun control I advocate and not on the weapons themselves who know not what they do.

Sincerely

Ms. Terrell:

I oppose this registration scheme. Both a recent Washington Post article and the Stratfor analysis of the problem indicate that there will be no effect on the Mexican Cartels.

In addition there is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of “information collection” is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

A restriction on American freedoms cannot stop criminals in other countries.

Good Day Ms. Terrell,

Please reconsider the proposal of The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives that is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

This proposal is unlawful and quite frankly very misguided. How would this proposal stop sinister drug cartels south of the border from obtaining illegal black market weapons? It can not. All this proposal does is infringe on law abiding citizens second amendment rights. It's foolish and it would be in everyone interest that this proposal be forgotten and never brought to light again.

Re: Federal Register Notice of December 17, 2010 (Volume 75, Number 242,

Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to offer my comments on this Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives(ATF) information collection request to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

The notice proposed an "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

Now, the OMB has denied the "emergency" request. But regardless of the timeframe in which approval is sought, ATF does not have the statutory authority to impose this requirement on licensees.

The I am well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers. Therefore, OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed collection of information.

Phoenix, Arizona

Madam,

The proposed collection of information would require a report of an sale or transfer, even to another licensed dealer. Clearly this would add to the paperwork burden on the Department, without any tangible benefit.

There would be no benefit obtained from reports generated by larger dealers who sells dozens of guns per week; noting that the requirement is not for multiple sales to the same individual in a five day period.

Any individual who is willing to commit a felony to purchase a rifle for export to Mexico is surely smart enough to make purchases from multiple stores, or use straw buyers, or space his purchases a week apart. This program appears intended to produce the appearance of attacking a source of guns for Mexican drug cartels, who can purchase fully automatic weapons and heavy weapons like grenade launchers and machine guns on the international market so it seems unlikely that they would desire expensive guns that were purchased retail in the USA.

It would seem the Department knows of multiple illegal purchases by agents for Mayor Bloomberg of New York City yet has not been able to stop those actions even though they are common information. It seems unlikely that the collection of information on sales of semi-auto rifles would be of any use to the Department, especially if illegal purchasers use false identity or do not remain at the address given at the time of the sale.

It would seem that your agents time would be much more productive if they assisted in patrolling the border and arresting persons transporting guns or money from the USA to Mexico, and importing drugs, criminals, and illegal immigrants into the USA.

Respectively,

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Please OPPOSE the BATFE's proposal to report multiple sale of certain rifles

Please OPPOSE the "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

I think we really need to think about our gun laws. We need to make sure that law abiding citizens that enjoy the sport, and collecting firearms, do not have to pay for what criminals do. Do we really think that criminals will not attain a firearm because the "law" says they can't. They still will find them, they still will use them, and law abiding people like me are left to pay the price. Doesn't sound to fair does it. Now I am not saying we need to have a free for all with guns, I just want my elected officials to really think about the population that does not use their weapons to break the law. thank you hope this will be a consideration....rob Chernak

Dear Ms. Terrell,

I am well aware that ATF would, understandably, like to take strong steps to address drug-related violence in Mexico. But lawlessness in Mexico—driven by multi-billion dollar drug cartels with access to any and all types of arms on the international black markets—is no excuse for U.S. law enforcement agencies to spend scarce resources on programs that exceed their legal powers.

The Federal Government needs to make boarder control its main priority.

Mexico's problems are not caused by US gun laws but rather are caused by the demand in the US for drugs and ordinary human greed. Law abiding gun owners and dealers in the US should not be punished or have their privacy invaded by this proposed rule. One cannot legislate morality and the proposed rule will only drain police and other resources which could be put to much better use.

In reference to the December 17th "Notice" on "collection of Information", I'd like to inform you that your attempts to institute this "Notice" as law are un-Constitutional and illegal. I fully realize that BATFE is not interested in legalities and Constitutionality, as they have been demonstrating this philosophy for years. For some reason, BATFE is unable to decipher the simple phrase "Shall Not Be Infringed," as is the majority of the current administration, from whom you take your orders. No doubt that BATFE has plenty of support from its' socialistic brethren in The People's Republic of California, and New York, New Jersey, and Massachusetts (even though they are not involved!), but I don't recall ANY of the 4States of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and California ever requesting BATFE to comeup with something like this, although I highly suspect California.

Evidently, someone has been reading "Mein Kampf" again, or the writings of Trotsky and Lenin. Maybe they SHOULD try reading the writings of men like Gen. George Washington, or Thomas Jefferson, Ben Franklin, Patrick Henry, and Thomas Payne, not to mention Pres. Ronald Reagan. Being retired military, I find it downright insulting that BATFE is sitting around dreaming up dung like this! I DID NOT spend a 20 year military career to give BATFE or any other government agency the permission nor power to even attempt to instill drivel like this as law. And, to limit it to only 4 States? Just what is it that you don't seem to understand about the word "discriminatory"? And, if you expect myself, or any other sane and law-abiding American to believe the rantings and ravings of our socialistic Secretary of State, accusing the U.S. to be at fault for the Mexican drug wars, then you are indeed, delusional. Again, you have NO legal nor Constitutional path to follow in this effort at "gun control." Like other government agencies, and the entire Democratic Party, you don't seem to understand the basic definition of the words "outlaw" or "criminal." You have yet to figure out that criminals, outlaws, and drug cartels, DO NOT CARE ABOUT LAWS!! They mean NOTHING to them, and never have, and never will! Wake up! Try thinking like an American just once, and see if it makes any sense to you. Again, I, for one, am absolutely insulted and inflamed by this obvious attempt at "gun control." When, if ever, will common sense CRIMINAL CONTROL ever begin to take place? I fully support the NRA's comments on this situation.

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Please OPPOSE the BATFE's proposal to report multiple sale of certain rifles

Please OPPOSE the “Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.”

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

Enough, an armed society is a polite society. We already have to go through a back ground check to buy the things now. Why make it worse? More expensive and easier for people to smuggle, yes easier. Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register. <http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/2010/pdf/2010-31761.pdf>

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post: White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

- The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.
- FFL holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).
- The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

I find that this Review to be a waste of time and money that could be used to enforce existing laws. The Fed requires people to register AUTOMATIC weapons. Enforce it and jail some of the bums just might make a difference. Stop wasting money that is tight and could be better used for lae enforcement.

Subject: Oppose Regulation expanding Multiple sale of long gun reporting

Ms. Terrell,

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Barbara,

Registering semi-automatic rifles on the US Mexico border is a terrible idea. Most of us consider any form of registration of firearms to be a prelude to confiscation.

On the other hand, doing so will be yet another nail in BAFTE's bureaucratic coffin, so maybe you should just go right ahead.

Hi Barbara I (and most everyone in Virginia/etc.) strongly oppose the potential plan to require all Long Gun sales to be registered in the SouthWest states or in any/all ststes. Long Guns are clearly a primary hunting and sport/.competition shooting weapon and the right to bear this specific type of weapon is clearly identified in the Constitution.

I would support registration and some restrictions on hand guns, as they are easy to conceal and carry and therefore offer a criminal a deadly weapon that can easily be hidden. I especially oppose the sale of handguns with ability to use more than 5-7 rounds—the 10-20-30 bullet clips have no place in our society except the US Military, Police /Law activities, and Homeland Security and such. Please cease and desist all actions present and future to push for the authority to require reporting to the Federal government of all multiple purchases of semiautomatic rifles, larger than .22 caliber and having detachable magazines. The BATFE has no authority to demand these reports and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Ms. Terrell,

I am writing to you concerning the December 17, 2011 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles"

I cannot believe the constant attack that is on the Gun owners of the United States of America, from Government groups such as the ATF. I would think that the Second Amendment of Our Constitution is fairly well known by now, and that you folks would quit trying to take this God-given right away from us who enjoy owning and shooting guns. This is another avenue for the ATF to try and remove guns from individuals.

What is the purpose of your objective, if not to know everything anyone is doing, well I call this Communism. I was in Law Enforcement for 20 years and I realized early on that if someone is wanting to do harm to another person they do not need a gun. So if the guns are all taken away from the citizens what will you do about with the knives, sticks, rocks, etc. that is left behind. I would think that in the times that we live in that the ATF would be looking to get involved in reaching the really bad people, the Terrorists that are living within our unsecured borders. Not the everyday Man or Woman who owns a Gun.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations. As a law abiding citizen I strongly oppose this blatant abuse of authority and recommend enforcement of laws already established!

Re: Federal Register Notice of December 17, 2010 (Volume 75, Number 242, Page 79021), 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

Madame;

I spent four years in Mexico. I was then associated at times with the Mexican DEA and other police agencies. Help me to understand something: Why do we supply Mexico's DEA with weapons we know will be handed to drug cartels? Will there be an accounting of these weapons? Or will we continue to harass American gun dealers, blaming them for the violence in Mexico? Stop this madness, madame. I've been there and done that and some of us are sick and tired of the ATF propounding one lie after another as regards American guns being shipped over the border.

May I be so bold as to ask what the ATF is doing as regards the transportation of weapons from Mexico into the United States? I am, of course, speaking to AK47s being manufactured in Venezuela and other adverse nations.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Dear Barbara,

I would like to respectfully express my concern over taxing the BATF with undue reporting and paperwork. The long guns purchased in this country are predominantly possessed and used for hunting or competition sports. The undue additional work involved for four southwest states to start reporting long gun sales of two or more in five days would not deliver any benefit for the funds spent. Please continue to use the resources of the BATF for more successful pursuits of justice.

Respectfully,
Robert S. Witwer

As a United States citizen I am requesting that OMB should deny ATF's request to approve its proposed "emergency" requirement that certain federal firearms licensees report multiple sales or other dispositions whenever the licensee sells or otherwise disposes of two or more rifles within any five consecutive business days with the following characteristics: (a) Semi automatic; (b) a caliber greater than .22; and (c) the ability to accept a detachable magazine.

I believe that most gun laws limit law abiding citizens from being able to some what protect themselves as the 2nd amendment guarantees. It is not the guns that causes crimes. It is the drug cartels and all that entails that causes most of the crime. Either through the production of or the power struggle for distribution or through acts of violence to support the drug habits created by the drug sellers. Limiting law abiding citizens through such laws will not stop acts of violence. Your concentration should center on the criminals not the guns.

Stop the drugs and you will put an end to much of the crime. I assume that there is so much money in drugs on both side of the border and so many people involved at high levels that it can never be stopped. I believe that without a gun law abiding citizens are sitting ducks for any of the law breakers that have obtained a gun, a knife, etc. Please put your efforts into the criminals and stop trying to disarm the law abiding citizens of this country. You know and I know that the criminals will get their guns and where will the public be with no guns?

December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines. For example, a dealer would have to tell the government every time a deer hunter in Sacramento or Amarillo finds a good deal on a pair of semi-auto .30-06s like the popular Remington 7400.

The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

It looks like to me you are trying to blame a tool for something some sick person did. It is time you learn we do not need our rights as Citizens of the United States taken away because of one sick person. We need to be able to defend ourself from them. We do not need Control Freaks in our Government. You folks have more laws now on the books then you are willing to enforce, and the sick folks, criminals, and illegals always show they do not care about any law. Leave us law abiding Citizens Alone Please.

Thank you

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Ms. Terrell

I am writing you as a concerned citizen about the proposed Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.

Personally I am very worried about more rules and regulations that are being suggested to legal owners of firearms. I will keep it short... please do not allow us, the law abiding owners of firearms to be saddled with more restrictive laws for purchasing and transferring of legally obtained firearms. There are plenty of laws concerning this subject and this new one is not going to do anything about keeping guns from the crooks that want to do their dirty deeds with. This is just another loss of freedom that loyal and law abiding Americans do not need or deserve. It is not going to address the real problem of prosecuting those that are illegally in possession of firearms and what they are doing with them.

Please... let's go after the bad guys and leave the freedoms of the good guys as they should be.

Thank you for your time and consideration in this matter.

Comment on the 60-Day Emergency Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

To whom it may concern,

I wish to voice my concern over the proposed Information Collection. First, the very idea of an “emergency order” implies an immediate threat. Emergency orders have, over the course of history, been issued as a political means of temporarily limiting rights, creating policies, and expansion of government oversight. I am concerned this action, which on the surface seems apolitical, may open the door to further limits or the expansion of ATF oversight for the long term.

Secondly, I truly question the significance of the information gathered, as it will reflect the actions of law abiding citizens and dealers. It is well documented that the northern border of the US is not the source of the vast majority of Mexico’s illegal firearms. The Mexican government appears to be pushing the United States to respond to their political problems in ways that, at best, appear to infringe upon the 2nd Amendment, and at worst, suggest blame and political pressure.

Please decline to approve the ATF request.

Respectfully,

Rodney Harrison

I am opposed to the ATF pursuing Project Gunwalker, and flooding Mexico intentionally with firearms, which are used to inflate perceived illegal sales numbers, and now has been involved in the Murder of a U.S. Citizen and Border Patrol Agent Terry, with two known firearms that the ATF was responsible getting into Mexico.

Please tell those at ATF to obey the Constitution they swore to obey, and demand prosecution for all responsible.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc.

2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition: (<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

* Finally, I think the ATF should spend resources investigating why it's own leadership allowed straw sales of guns to Mexican gangs under "Project Gunrunner", one of which was allegedly used to murder Border Patrol Agent Brian Terry, instead of creating new obstacles for law abiding gun owners in the United States.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Sincerely,

Cooksey, Roberta B.

The proposal exceeds ATF statutory authority. Letters to the 8,500 licensees in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas would merely be adding to paperwork time and cost to ATF and 8,500 licensees in these four states with nothing to show for the cost. Further, ATF is already unable to handle dealers' voluntary, real-time reports of possible "straw purchases." In this situation, it appears the proposed information collection would be more harmful than helpful, considering the reality of time management and costs of the ATF as well as 8,500 dealers.

In light of arms availability internationally, it is highly unlikely that a few straw purchases in these four states would be more than a "drop in the ocean" effect. Arms flow into Mexico's ports on both the Atlantic and Pacific coast are limitless when the financial ability of the drug cartels is considered. ATF would be wise to consider working in areas where their efforts could accomplish the most for their effort expended.

Thank you for your wise consideration of these comments.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Barbara Terrell: In light of the beheadings and murders in the border states, I would advise you and the Obama administration to support innocent people and their rights to defend themselves. This policy to make law abiding citizens register their purchases is another attempt to infringe on our 2nd amendment rights and to know what citizens own guns so you can eventually confiscate our weapons. The people crossing the borders are not just ordinary Mexican people, they are drug dealers, terrorists, and Felons.

The Obama administration needs to shut down the borders, and ranchers and other citizens have been attacked and killed inspite of Janet Napolitano's words that things have improved. They Have Not! Excuse me its not the guns, its the criminals who sell drugs, and murder and rob innocent people we have to fear. What would you do to defend your wife and children from being killed or raped. This is the worst border situation any of us has ever experienced in our life times. My husband has been on Mexico on Business and he has seen the guns that get into the hands of terrorists and they are not all coming from the US, but Columbia, and Venezuela, and middle eastern countries. It would behoove you to correctly find the sources from these other countries instead of trying to penalize American citizens, who for the most part have their guns locked up and out of sight unless they hunt, or take out pesky varmints.

Gun Theft by criminals is a huge source of the random attacks, not usually purchases by registered gun owners. Why in the heck don't you improve your computer data base that is easily accessed by gun shops and dealers?

99 New York Avenue, N.E.

To Whom It May Concern:

It is my understanding that the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

I ask that you stop that plan to register Americans' gun purchases. The ATF has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

Thank you.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

This is unconstitutional and an outrage. If you really want to track illegal firearms how about after they are found in Mexico or used for illegal activities trace the serial number and find where it went, and to whom it was sold. That is why all guns have serial numbers.

It has been brought to my attention that the ATF plans to require gun dealers in the Southwestern States to report sales of Semi-auto rifles to the ATF. This obviously to perpetuate the myth that the full automatic weapons seized from Mexican Drug Cartels come from guns dealers in this county. I have seen pictures of some of those seized weapons, and most of them can not be purchased at any dealer in the US without a special permit from the ATF. This is also intended to know what kind of firearms law abiding Americans own. The ATF does NOT have legal authority to do this. It is none of your business what kind of firearms I own unless I commit a crime with them. I have no intention of purchasing any additional firearms at this time. However, if you implement this ruling and I do decide to purchase any additional firearms I will do so on the Black Market.

Subject: Oppose Regulation Expanding Multiple Sale Reporting

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.
<http://edocket.access.gpo.gov/2010/pdf/2010-31761.pdf>

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

Subject: Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

To whom it may concern

I am writing in response to the proposal from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) re. an "emergency" requirement that federal firearms licensees in the 4 southwest states be required to report multiple sales of two or more rifles of caliber greater than .22 over a period of five consecutive business days (December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles.")

First and foremost, ATF has no statutory authority to impose the proposed requirement because Congress has clearly defined what the ATF may and may not require with respect to records of firearm purchases, and the proposed requirement goes well beyond those clearly defined bounds.

Secondly, the proposed requirement would, if implemented, impose an exceptional burden on licensed FFLs requiring that they keep records, with time lines, of all purchases that might fall under the proposed guidelines, and further implement procedures to ensure that all employees who might be involved in legal transfers of said rifles be continuously and completely aware of all previous sales made through the FFL within the ever changing 5 day period, even though any particular employee may not have been involved in, aware of, or even present when the prior transactions occurred.

Finally, the information provided to ATF, should the proposed requirement be implemented, would likely be of little or no value to the ATF because of the likely overwhelming number of covered registrations, the vast majority of which are likely to represent completely legal transactions. However, being unable to determine this a priori, the ATF would find itself spending precious time and resources analyzing the many legal transactions at the expense of more productive investigations of truly illegal firearms transactions.

This "emergency" request should be denied.

Subject: DEC 17, 2010 NOTICE OF INFORMATION COLLECTION UNDER REVIEW

To Whom it may concern,

I am writing to express my views against the proposed collection of information for purchasers of two or more semiautomatic rifles. This rule would not help the BATFE or any other government body in their fight to keep these weapons out of the hands of criminals. The Mexican drug cartels have many different ways to obtain these type of firearms. This rule would only increase the paper work loads of FFL dealers and BATFE officers who must administer and monitor the program. BATFE already can obtain information about purchasers of firearms. This rule would not produce the results desired and would increase the cost and manpower that the BATFE can use in a more efficient manor using existing laws.

Thank you.

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

At a time when Americans are DEMANDING LESS GOVERNMENT, the last things needed in America are: 1) More Federal Regulations, and 2) MORE BUREAUCRACY.

I do not believe the answer lies in "More Regulations", because presently, your organization CANNOT OR WILL NOT ENFORCE existing laws ! Remedies lie in STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF EXISTING REGULATIONS !

Additional LAWS AND/OR REGULATIONS always results in the creation of more and more BUREAUCRACY to INSTITUTE AND ENFORCE THOSE REGULATIONS. This simply creates more and more GOVERNMENT JOBS, FUNDED BY A GOVERNMENT WHICH HAS NO MONEY !!! THEREFORE, DO NOT INSTITUTE ANY POLICY OR PROGRAM THAT IS FUNDED BY TAX-PAYER DOLLARS !

Dear Ms. Terrell:

As an NRA member, former FBI Agent, former Assistant United States Attorney and Lt. Commander, U.S. Navy JAGC-R (ret.) I am writing in opposition to the proposed ATF collection of data pursuant to the above-referenced "Notice...".

ATF has NO legal authority to demand the reports as aforementioned as the "Subject" of this email.

Moreover, the flood of useless information regarding multiple sales of "certain rifles" will waste thousands of hours of ATF agents time which SHOULD otherwise be spent on investigations with substance and possible prosecutorial merit.

Mexican drug cartel members with unlimited financial resources have world-wide access to firearms. It is ludicrous to suggest that these drug cartel members are obtaining weapons from licensed U.S. firearms dealers. The ATF "suggestion" that the drug cartel members in Mexico are walking into lawfully operated firearms dealerships in the U.S. to make large weapons purchases IS ABSURD!!!!!!!!!!

The so-called ATF information collection regarding firearms sales in this newly proposed "regulation" is simply a thinly veiled attempt by the BHO administration to infringe upon the rights of ALL U.S. citizens pursuant to the 2d Amendment.

Not that I would plan to buy more than one long gun at a time (usually ten or twelve years apart), I must say that this is an effort that is a waste of time and effort. How requiring reporting the sale of more than one long gun in a five day period is going to slow the illegal transfer of guns is beyond me. Anyone determined to traffic in illegal gun transfers is not going to be deterred. This would only place a burden and further restriction of rights on the legal gun owners/dealers.

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Subject: Stop The Reporting of Long Guns To Government

The proposal to report long guns (Rifles larger than 22 with detachable magazine) to government is stupid. Most hunting rifles bought are larger than 22 caliber. That would just be playing right into the governments hand to stop hunting. All of these anti-hunters and anti-gun groups are after the innocent people in this country. Money would be spent more wisely keeping tabs on the criminals. Make stiffer punishment for the criminals. Use death penalty more on criminals. This proposal will only hurt the innocent person and waste tax payers money. Vote against this stupid proposal. Our government is just trying to keep up with innocent gun owners who legally buy their guns in order to take our guns away from us. Stand up for the innocent people and vote no.

Thank You,

Subject: Support for the Reporting of Multiple Sales of Long Guns

Dear Barbara Terrell,

It's time that the Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use its authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

To whom it may concern,

Please do not use new firearm registration in the name of fighting the many problems on Americas southwest border. The real problems do not seem to get much attention and one more gun law on the books does not seem to be the answer to the problem.

We have enough regulation , across the board the problem seems to be enforcement of laws already on the books.

Dear Ms. Terrell,

Please re-read the letter (Feb. 10, 2011) from NRA Executive Director Chris Cox, to the Dept. of Justice Desk Officer at OMB. Also please re-read the legal analysis titled "ATF has no authority to impose multiple sales reporting for rifles".

Both these documents clearly state that "Demand Letters" can only be used when a licensee is being investigated for an illegal firearms sale; and then only for handguns (pistols or revolvers) The wording cannot be extended and interpreted to mean sales of rifles; nor multiple legal sales of any firearm to an individual.

Thank you, Roy Marci

Why does government think that the answer to our problems is limiting or eliminating legal fire arms to the law abiding US public? I understand that about 2500 people in the US are killed by fire arms each year. Most of these weapons used in these crimes are illegal, and no law will restrict the use of illegal weapons regardless the extent of enforcement. I also understand that approximately 20,000 people die each year in the US from medical errors by physicians, yet little or no effort is made to eliminate these deaths. What about alcohol related auto accidents? The number of deaths from alcohol related auto accidents is staggering, yet the effort to control the alcohol responsible for such accidents/deaths again is severely lacking.

Certainly extremist such as Al Qaeda would shout in triumph if all legal fire arms were removed from the US public. Is there a link here?

This is in reference to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles." I would like to voice my opposition to this law. It is like most gun control laws these days, written as a knee jerk reaction to some high profile incident and does nothing to change the hypothetical outcome of any future such occurrence. All it does is confuse the issue, make more burden on law abiding citizens and merchants, cost the taxpayers more money, and not address any real cause of these tragedies. No one is still reading about the Arizona man who ran down his daughter and family members with his car killing them because he thought her way of life was an insult to old family traditions, no one is calling for restrictions on car sales.

Additionally the BATF has no authority to introduce such restrictions. It is for the Congress to enact law, not a federal agency. I for one have no more patience for those who would take my civil liberties in the name of National Security. My only real security is my civil liberty. I am unwilling to give up any more of them simply to make headlines and some politicians or bureaucrat look good in the press while accomplishing absolutely nothing.

ATF is over stepping it's legal authority in this matter. This is in reference to the December 17, 2010 "Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles."

This proposal is another outrageous erosion of our freedoms by a Federal Government that is running out of control!!

The ATF has no legal right to require this reporting. You people and the rest of this damned Federal Bureaucracy refuse to secure our borders with force as required by the Constitution, but instead waste tax resources harassing law abiding gunowners with petty idiotic regulations. I have no doubt this scheme was hatched by the Obamanation and his bloody regime. This needs to stop!

A link to where you need this sent would be nice. How hard could it be. Countless organizations I don't pay any money to do it every day. I wonder what I send my dues for. With limited time, this is the best I can do.

To whom it may concern:

Any regulation on weapons is unconstitutional. The need to talk about why regulations are being proposed is to say lets discuss my runaway horse after your unilateral decision to turn it loose. It is wrong.

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Dear Ms. Terrell;

I am writing in opposition to the proposal for the ATF to require gun dealers in border states to report sales of multiple firearms.

I do not believe that the legal authority exists for the ATF to make such a requirement, and I believe that this would take resources away from legitimate criminal investigations to pursue investigations into law abiding citizens.

Sincerely:

Hello Mrs. Terrell

Please stop burdening the American businesses and people with useless laws and requirements on guns. These laws only hurt those who abide by the ever growing number of laws instated by our leadership. This law will only provide additional cost to the already hurting economy and American tax payers. Adding another factious job position will only bloat the already oversized government. Stop attacking the law abiding citizen and go after those that purchase and use guns illegally. This law will not correct that problem, criminals do not by guns legally.

Respectfully,

To Whom it may Concern:

After reading the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives [OMB Number 1140-NEW] proposal, I have the following comments;

It is Un-Necessary for this information to be collected for the following reasons, but not limited to:

1. Cost of collection and processing of information
2. Manpower demands for the above action.
3. Final disposition of information collected on individuals.
4. Agency's discretionary use of information collected on Law Abiding Residents of Selected States.

I also feel that in these troubling times, the law abiding citizens are being discriminated against and the laws on the books at this time are more than adequate if they would be enforced as proposed.

I also realize that laws need to be revised from time to time as circumstances change. This proposal is unnecessary and over bearing on the legal, law abiding citizens of the United States and the Border States residents.

Thank you

It's time that Obama administration does more to crack down on the gun smuggling carried out by the Mexican drug cartels.

I strongly support the ATF's proposal to require dealers along the border to report bulk sales of assault rifles, just like they already do with handgun sales. The ATF must use it's authority to collect this information and better enforce the laws already on the books.

With more than 30,000 people already murdered in cartel wars, this is an emergency that demands our government's immediate attention.

Dear Mz Terrell:

referring to the above subject, I would respectfully like to comment that the ATF has no legal authority to demand firearms dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

This is gun registration and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations. Look what happened in Canada.

Thank you for your time.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to oppose the so called emergency regulation to register multiple sales of certain rifles with BATFE as described in FR Doc. 2010-31761 from the 12/17/2010 Federal Register.

This regulation is both illegal and unnecessary. Further there is no justification for any "emergency" implementation as reported by the Washington Post:

White House delayed rule meant to stop gun flow to Mexico, Washington Post, Dec. 17, 2010, On-line edition:

(<http://www.washingtonpost.com/wp-dyn/content/article/2010/12/17/AR2010121706598.html>).

* The regulation proposed is outside the statutory grant of authority to record information about multiple sales of firearms. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) specifically grants the authority to collect multiple sale information on handguns and revolvers. Other firearms are excluded and there is no implied authority to extend this reporting requirement to rifles or any other type of firearm.

* "FFL" holders are already required by law to respond to BATFE requests for information on firearms distribution pursuant to criminal investigations: Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(7).

* The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of information collected, which establishes a nationwide registry of "certain types of firearms" as proposed. Because of this the regulation as proposed is illegal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a). "No such rule or regulation . may require that records required to be maintained under this chapter or any portion of the contents of such records, be recorded at or transferred to a facility owned, managed, or controlled by the United States or any State or any political subdivision thereof, nor that any system of registration of firearms, firearms owners, or firearms transactions or disposition be established."

There is a grave potential for this regulation to unduly burden citizens who are collectors or must obtain purchase permits at the local or state level to possess firearms. The proposed regulation does not say what the agency intends to do with the information but ostensibly it would be for criminal investigations. Subjecting law abiding gun owners to this type of investigation under the guise of "information collection" is an overt attempt to prevent them from exercising their 2nd Amendment rights to purchase and own firearms.

* This regulatory action has not allowed the public sufficient time to comment.

This regulatory action should not be approved.

Notice of Information Collection Under Review: Report of Multiple Sale or Other Disposition of Certain Rifles

I am totally opposed to the added burden and continued intrusion of government in my freedom to own and bear arms. No mater how it is candy coated, there is the real fear that this will lead to total confiscation of firearms. I would rather enforce the current laws on misuse of firearms rather than focusing on registration by law abiding citizens.

This is an unnecessary regulation and is not allowed under Federal law. Title 18 U.S.C. § 923(g)(3)(A) does not grant any such registration of multiple purchases of firearms, except for handguns.

The regulation contains no provision for the destruction of the collected information, and therefore is not legal under Title 18 U.S.C. § 926(a).

Laws do matter and this unnecessary and extra-legal proposal must NOT be approved.

The White House

Washington, DC 20503

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (BATFE) is demanding the authority to require all of the 8,500 firearm dealers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas to report all sales of two or more semiautomatic rifles within five consecutive business days, if the rifles are larger than .22 caliber and use detachable magazines.

The BATFE has no legal authority to demand these reports, and the flood of new paperwork will waste scarce law enforcement resources that should be spent on legitimate investigations.

The Congress has comprehensively defined what BATFE may and may not require with respect to licensees' records.

By specifically requiring reports only of multiple handgun sales, Congress implicitly rejected the idea of requiring reports on multiple sales of other firearms.

I demand that the BATFE be denied authority beyond that which the Congress has already granted to it, particularly, that the BATFE SHALL NOT require firearm dealers to report sales of rifles, or any other firearm, beyond information about the handgun sales which it is already allowed to receive.

The long gun registration will not help you catch illegals or stop guns from making their way to Mexico (Guns are already illegal in Mex, hows that working out?), sealing the border is the only way to stop that. As usual instead of stopping the illegal immigrants in the first place the Gov. decides to infringe on our rights even more.
